"LA BOHEME"

Col. D. L. Baker pinned the Army Commendation Ribbon on Sergeant First Class Deveal W. Butler during retirement ceremonies for the veteran non-commissioned officer Thursday.

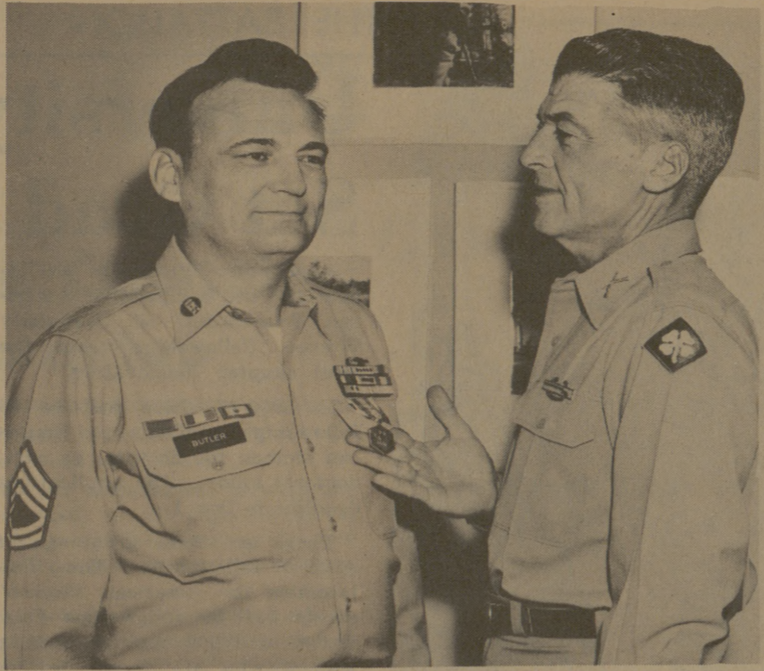

Butler retires after 21 years as a specialist in Army logistics, the last three at A&M.

Baker, commandant and professor of military science, said Sergeant Butler's service in logistics administration and supply at A&M, noted in the Commendation, were outstanding.

A Korean combat veteran, Butler came to A&M from a Nike-Hercules missile battalion in Germany after an assignment with the ROTC department at St. Mary's University in San Antonio.

The Waco native fought in six major offensives in Korea, being on the Yalu River when the Chinese Army entered the conflict. He served with the 11th Combat Engineer Battalion.

He wears the Meritorious Unit Citation, Presidential Unit Citation and service ribbons from the Pacific Theater, with five battle stars; Korea, with six stars; the Philippines Liberation Ribbon and Japan and Germany Occupation Ribbon.

A&M To Host Conference On Research In Humanities

Texas A&M will sponsor a conference Dec. 3 to encourage interest in computer research in the humanities, according to Dr. Lee J. Martin, associate dean of the College of Liberal Arts.

The establishment on the A&M campus of a Center for Computer Research in the Humanities will be discussed. Authorities from both industry and universities will be present.

Due to the increase in computer-assisted research in the humanities several such conferences are being held throughout the nation this month. Dr. John Q. Anderson and M. A. Huggett of the English Department will attend the conference at Purdue Oct. 29.

Other conferences are being held in Boston and Washington.

Aggie Band Reunion Set For Saturday

Time and distance will not prevent two former students from attending the first reunion of the Aggie Band Saturday.

Pre-registration luncheon tickets sales included requests from Jonathan C. Burns of Fort Worth, '04, and Henry Hulan of Thousand Oaks, Calif.

More than 400 tickets for the Saturday morning luncheon-business meeting at Duncan Dining Hall have been ordered. Registration beginning at 10 a.m. is expected to push total attendance near 1,000, including the 250-Texas A&M Band.

Abbott, Stewart Get Aggie Exes' Awards

Frank E. Stewart of Dallas and Craig S. Abbott of San Antonio received cash awards Saturday night from the Association of Former Students of Texas A&M.

Stewart was awarded $200 as an outstanding doctoral candidate in physics. An instructor in physics at A&M, he earned an M.S. in physics at A&M and a B.S. in physics at Arlington State College.

Abbott, working toward a masters degree in English, received $100. He is a graduate assistant in the College of Liberal Arts, a member of Sigma Tau Delta, English professional fraternity, the contemporary arts committee, and a 2nd lieutenant in the Army Reserve.

Philosophy Classes Show Large Growth

The newly formed Department of Philosophy and Humanities has had a 30 percent increase in enrollment, Dr. John Orr, Department head, said.

This department, although not offering a degree plan, does offer various introductory courses in philosophy and related areas.

Orr reported that he was very happy and surprised that the enrollment increased so substantially.

A graduate of the University of New Mexico, Orr did his graduate work at the San Francisco Theological Seminary and at Yale where he received his doctorate degree.

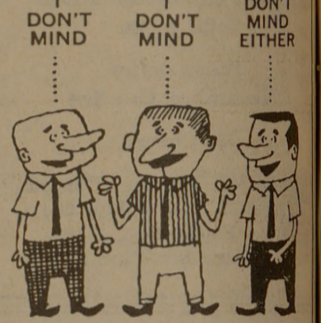

He stated that the department is looking for a professor to teach a course in philosophy in science and logic.

University Hosts International Aggies

More than 200 persons attended the President's Reception for International Students Thursday night. The University Hospitality Committee sponsored the event in the Memorial Student Center Ballroom.
