I WAS TOO BUSY TO NEED A SAVIOR

FROM the very earliest days I can remember I was always caught in a whirl of activities. In school there were always things to do, then on into college the whirl of social and extra-curricular programs. Then after college into business. The struggle to get ahead combined with making all the contacts that are essential to climbing.

All of my life was one whirl after another, always going, never stopping long enough to think, until one day I had to stop and think about God. I was living in God's world and I hadn't even taken time to know Him. I was breathing God's air, and I hadn't taken time to thank Him. I was enjoying God's sunshine, and I hadn't even taken time to express my appreciation. But worse than all of these, I was breaking God's law and I had been too busy to recognize my sin until that day when God arrested me and I learned from His Word that He had sent His Son to die for ungrateful, sinful, busy people like me.

I took time that day out of a busy life to take Jesus Christ as my Savior and My Lord, and now I'm busy telling others about Him.

A&M's water polo team defeated TU 10-4 in College Station Thursday night and extended its winning streak to 13 games. The Aggie second team didn't fare as well and dropped its decision to the Sips 7-2.

Jim Hooten led the Cadets in scoring with four goals while Bill Harriman and Tom Holder had two each. Jerry Keating and Charlie Colhoun were other Aggies in the scoring column. Worrel, Langendoen and Hannay did the point making for Texas.

The Aggies will have a return match with the Longhorns Dec. 2 in Austin. A&M and Texas are the only schools in the Southwest Conference that have water polo clubs. There is no league play and the only qualification for national matches is to do good in local competition.

There aren't many water polo teams in the South, and according to Swimming Coach Art Adamson, New York, Chicago and Southern California are the main areas in which the sport is played.

"One of our biggest problems is finding competition," said Adamson.

Texas A&M started water polo competition in 1934, and since that beginning has compiled a record of 77 wins, 12 losses and 1 tie.

Hall Of Fame Dinner Ducats Now Available

Tickets for the second annual Texas A&M Athletic Hall of Fame Dinner have been placed on sale at various Bryan-College Station locations and are available by mail.

The tickets, priced at $5 each, can be purchased at the Athletic Business Office and at the Former Students Association office on campus, at Norton's Pancake House in College Station, at Conway's in Bryan and at all the banks in both College Station and Bryan.

Out-of-town people can order tickets by writing the Former Students Association, Texas A&M, College Station, Tex.

The second annual affair is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 24, in the east wing of Duncan Hall. The location is adjacent to the site of the annual bonfire on the eve of the Thanksgiving Day football game with Texas.

The five former Aggie athletic greats who will be inducted this year are the late Homer Norton who coached the 1939 national championship football team; the late Jack Mahan, captain and fullback of the 1920 team and an Olympian in track; Tyree Bell, football stalwart who captained the Aggies in 1912 and again in 1914; Walt (Buddy) Davis and Darrow Hooper, both Olympians in 1952. Davis won the high jump and Hooper was second in the shot put.

Alec Chesser, who works with Kern Tips as the color announcer on Humble football broadcasts in the SWC, will be Master of Ceremonies.

FROM THE

Sidelines

By Larry R. Jerden

Everyone is familiar with the old game of saying "Since Podunk U. beat Tadpole Creek 10-0 and Tadpole downed Gopher Canyon 3-0, Podunk should clobber Gopher 13-0."

Some folks may doubt the validity of such mathematical handiwork, but some enterprising individual has taken the trouble to work this out to the point that A&M is a 141-point favorite over TU for the Turkey Day game! Our only complaint with this is he didn't take the trouble or make the effort to work out his prediction to the fullest.

The "Batt" editor, with help from yours truly, sat down Monday and worked out the REAL formula for Aggie success come Turkey-eatin' time. The way we have got it figured, the Aggies should be no less than 385 point favorites!

Here's how it works: The Aggies beat Cougar High by 3 points, who defeated Kentucky by 17, who downed Vanderbilt by 34, who beat Tulane by 13, who beat Miami by 8, who beat Syracuse by 24, who beat West Virginia by 22, who beat Pitt by 15, who slipped by Oklahoma by 4, who overcame Iowa State by 4, who beat Oklahoma State by 3, who beat Tulsa by 3, who beat Memphis State by 4, who beat Mississippi State by 20, who beat Florida by 5, who beat Georgia by 4, who beat Alabama by 1, who beat LSU by 24, who beat Wake Forest by 31, who beat North Carolina by 2, who beat Ohio State by 11, who beat Iowa by 38, who beat Oregon State by 20, who beat Illinois by 2, who beat SMU by 42, who, as we are well aware, beat the Sips by 17 . . . giving the Aggies their 385 point margin going into the game.

It seems like, with these odds against them, the safest thing the Sips could do would be not show up and take a one point forfeit . . . but we hope they won't! This is one game we'd all do well with our dates . . . just think . . . over one TD per minute!

And we note that there are five Aggie athletes among 36 seniors chosen for A&M's nominees to "Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities."

Among those chosen is griddier Tom Murrah, basketballers John Beasley and Billy Atkinson, baseballer Lance Cobb and former student assistant basketball coach David Stiles.

Murrah, a standout on defense this season, has a grade point ratio of 2.7 and is also a nominee for Academic All-American honors.

Beasley, the All-American basketball star, has a 1.8 GPR and is joined by teammate Atkinson. Cobb is an All-American baseball player who contributed to the SWC-winning 1964 team.

The Aggies regained their poise quickly Saturday to return to the winning column for the third time this year and gave Gene Stallings his first SWC win as a coach.

So now the nine practice games are over and the real season is at hand. The Ags did well in these preliminary contests, and that 3-6 is just a helluva lot better than the one win of last year.

But each of those games counts one point in the Aggies' hearts, and the next one counts 10. To win it and lose the rest would still read 10-9, and this year it can be 13-6 . . . not a bad year for a first year coach and his team that he has described as his "narrow shouldered, skinny legged little fellers."

Phil Scoggin should be given a lot of credit for his part in the Rice victory. Not only did he contribute his usual fine punting, but he gave yeoman service on defense, nailing the opposing quarterback for a loss and covering a fumble.

If you're looking for a nice comfy place to work
after graduation, forget about General Electric.

We don't have any place where you can curl up and snooze away the next forty years of your career. There are no quiet little nooks in any of General Electric's 130 operating businesses in 19 countries round the world.

But if you're the wide-awake type, G.E. can provide the excitement to keep you that way. Your first assignment may be helping us find applications for a whole new family of plastics recently developed by G.E. Or you may be working at Cape Kennedy on the Apollo moon program. Or you may be working on the marketing team for a new home appliance.

One thing is certain: You'll be working. You'll have plenty of responsibility. What you won't have is a chance to doze off in the prime years of your career.

Talk to the man from G.E. when he visits campus. Come to General Electric, where the young men are important men.
