Billingsley Speaks To Ag Eco Club

Dr. Ray Billingsley, former member of the Food and Agriculture Organization, spoke to members of the Agricultural Economics Club of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology Tuesday.

Billingsley has just returned from a five-year stay in Rome and throughout Europe.

"The Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) is particularly interested in giving the underdeveloped countries a higher standard-of-living by showing those countries how they can accomplish this movement themselves," Billingsley said.

"The quarrels within the United Nations that the people of the United States read about are due largely to the political differences of the nations represented," he added.
