

YMCA Will Wrap Yuletide Packages

In preparation for the Christmas season J. Gordon Gay, YMCA general secretary, has brought five rolls — 2500 feet — of wrapping paper, which "volunteer helpers" will use to wrap A&M students' Christmas packages.

The YMCA has continued this service each year since beginning it in 1943. Gay says that last year they wrapped 543 packages.

He adds that students may bring their gifts to the "Y" now from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. "Students should bring them as early as possible because of the rush," states Gay, "and not wait until the last minute."

Carrying out a 50-year-old tradition, groups of Corps freshmen will sing carols throughout the campus Dec. 13-18. Gay says that students used to come to the "Y" looking for carol books, so, five years ago, he printed some.

He states that they have a certain number of books for each outfit and prefers that a freshman from each group pick them up. SCONA delegates and church groups will also receive books. In addition, the YMCA has prepared "Christmas Meditations" booklets and is distributing them in all dorm lounges, the Memorial Student Center, the YMCA and the Exchange Store. Gay asks that only those interested take one of the booklets, which contain meditations for each day Dec. 13-31.

Freshmen YMCA members Paul Gundersen from Illinois and Leon Willhite from Palestine will exhibit a display with a "different" theme — "Christmas in Viet Nam" — in a showcase at the MSC. Other members are working on programs for needy families.

Mrs. T. J. Kozik, acting chairman of the International Hospitality Committee, says that A&M foreign students will attend a New Year's Eve dinner at the YMCA, based "strictly on contributions" by faculty and staff members and local citizens.

RAIN GAUGE

Mrs. Lydia Blaha receives some pertinent information from Dr. R. A. Clark of Texas A&M's Department of Meteorology about the rain gauge that was recently placed in the Blahas' yard in northwest corner of Burleson County. The gauges were located all over Yegua River drainage basin to check the feasibility of forecasting flooding by electronic surveillance.

Tire Thefts Haunting Fish Car Lot

According to Ed Powell, chief of Campus Security, there were two thefts of tires last week.

The first theft occurred on Dec. 2 and the articles stolen were two tires, two wheels, two hubcaps and 9 lugnuts, valued at $110. The theft took place while the car was parked in the freshman parking lot near Duncan Hall.

The car belonged to Len R. Heimer of Dorm 6.

The second theft took place on Dec. 3, and two tires, two wheels and four hubcaps were taken. This theft occurred while the car was parked in the freshman parking lot, North side row. Owner of this car is Robert W. Frost of Dorm 14.

The police are investigating.

Aggies Urged To Remember Needy Groups

Aggie student organizations are reminded by Bennie A. Zinn, director of student affairs, to remember the needy at Christmas.

In the past many Cadet units and Civilian Dormitory units and some wives clubs have provided clothing, food, and toys at Christmastime from a list provided by the YMCA office.

"Units who wish to participate in this worthwhile project are urged to call at once to select a family at the YMCA office," said Zinn.
