

2 Theater Arts Courses Slated For Spring

Oklahoma Industrial School Gets Texans' Assistance

A Texas organization is helping promote the Industrial Development Institute at the University of Oklahoma.

A $150 scholarship is being offered by the Texas Industrial Development Council for the Aug. 14-19 course at Norman. The recipient is also eligible for support for two additional institutes.

Bill Shelton, chairman for the TIDC Scholarship Committee, said the winner also qualifies for an interest-free $100 loan for expenses.

Shelton, a TIDC employe at Wichita Falls, said the ID Institute is the only school of its kind in the nation. It is sponsored by the American Industrial Development Council.

Available to Texans with keen interest in industrial development, TIDC scholarship applications are available from Shelton. Filing deadline is March 1.

Kenneth M. Pace, who will become manager of the Mesquite Chamber of Commerce Feb. 15, won TIDC's first scholarship last year as manager of the Taylor Chamber of Commerce.

The TIDC holds its annual conference at Texas A&M.

Speed Reading Course On Tap

Dr. Paul Hensarling, head of the Department of Education and course will be offered this spring to help improve reading speed and comprehension of the department's graduate students.

The special course is called 'Improvement of Reading Speed and Comprehension' and was formed at the request of about 50 graduate students. In order to meet initial demands the course will be offered in two sections. One section will meet at 10-11 a.m. and the other will be offered from 5-6 p.m. on Tuesdays. Laboratory times will be arranged.

These first courses are to serve as an experiment and if they are successful other courses may be opened. At the present time the course is restricted to graduate students in the Department of Education and Psychology. The course is numbered Education 681, Sections 600 and 601.

$61,032 Provided For Water Study

The Office of Water Resources Research in Washington, D. C., has approved a $61,032 matching fund project at Texas A&M to study the economic impact of water impoundments.

Dr. Ernest T. Smerdon, director of A&M's Water Resources Institute, said the project involves federal support from the OWRR that is matched by non-federal funds.

Project leader is Dr. John E. Pearson, director of the A&M Institute of Human Resources which is cooperating with the Water Resources Institute on the study.

"The research will involve development of an economic model to project the regional economic impact of water reservoir development in that area." Data from completed reservoirs will be used to develop the economic projections of new reservoirs," Smerdon said.

Magazine Seminar Course Scheduled

A one-hour magazine seminar, featuring visits to publication sites and interviews with editors and publishers, is scheduled for the spring semester.

Journalism department head Delbert McGuire said the course is open to graduate students, seniors and juniors. Students will make a minimum of three of five planned trips to industrial and agricultural publications, a general magazine and outdoor publications.

Specific interests, including magazine writing, layout production and pictorial journalism, will be studied. Trip expenses are provided by a Reader's Digest Foundation grant.

Two Theater Arts courses, Techniques of Directing and Technical Theater, will be offered this semester through the Department of English.

Theater Arts 383, Techniques of Directing, is an elementary course which teaches a student how to direct a one-act play. The student will choose a play, cast it and present it before the general public in the Fallout Theater-Workshop. The course is recommended for students in secondary education who might be called upon to direct a play in high school. No prior experience in theater is necessary.

Theater Arts 382, Technical Theater, is mainly a course in backstage operations.

Both courses will be taught by C. K. Esten and students desiring to take either course should see him before enrolling.

The Aggie Players will cast

Tuesday and Wednesday for their major spring production, "The Time of Your Life," by William Saroyan, which will be presented March 21-26.

There are parts for nine women and 18 men, with most of the characters being on stage through most of the play. A Negro who is a good piano player is needed for the part of Wesley—a solid straightforward part.

Auditions will be held at 7:30 p.m. both nights. The cast will be announced at the end of the readings on Feb. 9. Rehearsals will start at 7:30 p.m. on Feb. 10.
