Statistics Institute Receives $61,000

The Institute of Statistics is the recipient of a two-year $61,000 research grant from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

President Earl Rudder announced the award Tuesday. Dr. H. O. Hartley, director of the Institute of Statistics, is principal investigator for development of new statistical techniques for data from operational research studies and from large scale non-experimental surveys.

The A&M Research Foundation will administer the research.

JUST PASSING TIME

Civilian students found a way to while away the hours Monday night in the basement of the YMCA while waiting for the Housing Office to open its doors Tuesday morning. Students lined the halls with blankets, cots and various accessories in order to get the first shot at room reservations for the fall semester. While these students watched television, most just studied or slept.

Grant To Aid Educational TV

Texas A&M received a federal grant Tuesday to finance 20 individual television study booths.

The $29,070 from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare will be matched by funds from state and local sources. Equipment purchases include eight-inch video-tape monitors for each booth and switching equipment. The new television study carrels will permit students to "make up" lectures or review material available on video tape.

Part of A&M's new "learning center", the TV booths will be housed in the Cushing Library.

Chemistry Lecture Slated Thursday

Dr. R. E. Kargarise of Washington, D. C., will conduct a Chemistry Colloquium lecture here Thursday.

The National Science Foundation physical chemistry director will speak on "Solvent and Association Effects in Infrared Spectra" at 11 a.m. in Room 231 of the Chemistry Building.
