Aggies Face Challenge In SWC Track Meet

Coach Charles Thomas and his Texas Aggie track congregation will participate in their biggest meet of the year Friday and Saturday—the Southwest Conference meet in Austin.

SWC athletes—both freshman and varsity—will be participating at the same time the University Interscholastic League schoolboy track meet is being held.

A&M, led by world champion shot putter Randy Matson, is one of the four teams which could sweep the title in the varsity division. Texas, Rice and Southern Methodist are the other likely candidates, with Texas the odds-on favorite because of their performances in the last two meets. Texas is heavily favored in the freshman division.

Emil Mamaligia, A&M's weight training coach, said Tuesday Matson is getting his weight back and should weigh around 250 for the meet, some 10 pounds lighter than when he pushed the shot 70-7¼ last year.

"The only thing that could keep him back from a good toss is his legs are still a little small because of the lack of weight he can do squat with," Mamaligia said.

Thomas has been pleased with the Aggie performances lately and figures that with a few breaks, the Aggies could surprise.

"Even though we did not fare so good at the Drake Relays last week, I think that we have a potential to score more than 50 points," Thomas said.

Last year Rice took the title with 60 points and the Aggies closed second with 52.

Beside Matson, top performances are also expected from Richard Roma, Texas miler, who should break the oldest record in the books; Wayne Brandt of Baylor in the 100; Gilbert Smith of A&M in the 220; and the Rice mile relay team.
