

Henderson Hall's Mother Keeps Up With 88 Sons

Pressing ties, running errands and sewing on buttons are familiar chores for the mother of college boys.

Mrs. Elizabeth Murphey keeps up with 88 young men — none of them her sons.

She's dorm mother of Henderson Hall, the Aggie athlete's home away from home.

Mrs. Murphey calls her job "wonderful".

"I'm very much at home here," she smiled. "It's great to work with young people. They keep me busy and interested in life."

At present, the hazel-eyed brunette is preparing to take in new roomers. The football players will be heading home next week. Most of the 92 beds will be filled by summer school students, including high school teachers on campus for National Science Foundation Institutes.

Tree-top tall teachers hunting oversized beds would be wise to check with Mrs. Murphey. Henderson Hall has five 90 inch-long beds. A seven-footer would be able to stretch out comfortably on these.

The remaining beds are 80 inches long, eight inches longer than normal.

"FOOTBALL players are getting bigger," Mrs. Murphey noted. "But you can't always go on size. Take little Charlie Riggs (A&M's pint-sized sophomore quarterback). He's a dandy. And remember George Hargett? He didn't weigh 150 pounds soaking wet. But there's not a better football player or one who had more heart than he did."

Mrs. Murphey doesn't get much opportunity to practice her nursing profession. She trained at Baylor Hospital in Dallas after attending Rusk Junior College.

"Oh, I take their temperatures sometimes before sending them to the trainer, Billy Pickard," she remarked. "And I fill their icebags when they have a lump on the head. Mostly, I just give them tender, loving care like I would my own sons."

John Pat Murphey, her son, attended A&M and now works in Humble's production department in Houston.

A NATIVE OF Troup, Mrs. Murphey played basketball in high school and has always been a football fan. She watched all the Aggie scrimmages this spring and thinks A&M is "really going places this fall."

"Coach Stallings has a way about him that instills pride in the boys," she said thoughtfully. "They take pride in what they are doing."

Like other mothers, Mrs. Murphey listens to the boys' problems when they want to talk.

"I'M A GOOD listener" she commented. "I try to give them an attentive ear. My job has its rewards, but it has disappointments, too. It hurts me to see a boy quit the team. It takes a lot of hard work and heart to stay with it."

"These boys are the cream of the crop," she beamed. "They inspire me. A number of them go to church regularly. They help to renew my faith in young people."

The U. S. Geological Survey is preparing geologic maps of the moon's surface covering 9 million square miles — an area approximately equivalent in size to the North American continent. The scale of the maps is 1 inch equals 16 miles.

Texas Plumbing Contests Scheduled For June 22-25

Fifty contestants will compete June 22-25 in Texas Plumbing and Pipefitting Apprentices Contests here.

Contest Coordinator Richard E. Pulaski said contestants will represent 22 apprentice programs in the state. He said 1,003 students are participating in apprentice programs this year, an increase of 33 per cent over 1965.

More than $2,000 in prizes and awards await 18 winners.

Principal purpose of the contest is to evaluate plumbing and pipefitting instruction in the classroom and on-the-job training, Pulaski explained.

Dr. Walter Kerr, executive director of the National Youth Foundation in Tyler, will speak at the June 25 awards banquet. Dr. Kerr's career has been varied. He worked in radio and theater after studying law at the University of Texas. Later he practiced law in Lufkin and for the governor's office.

A&M's Mechanical Engineering and Industrial Education departments and Texas Engineering Extension Service will host the contest.

Winners will advance to the national finals Aug. 14-19 at Purdue University.

Senior Selected President Of Texas Sociology Group

Sociology students from six Texas colleges and universities have banded into a Texas Student Sociological Association.

Membership in TSSA is aimed at all undergraduate sociology majors in the state. Representatives of Texas A&M, Texas, Baylor, Sam Houston State, East Texas State and Texas Woman's University met recently to establish guidelines and elect officers.

Rumaldo Z. Juarez, A&M senior from Robstown, was elected president. Other officers include vice president James Hance, East Texas; extension chairman Bob Welsh of A&M, sophomore of College Station and secretary Eva Ashworth, Sam Houston.

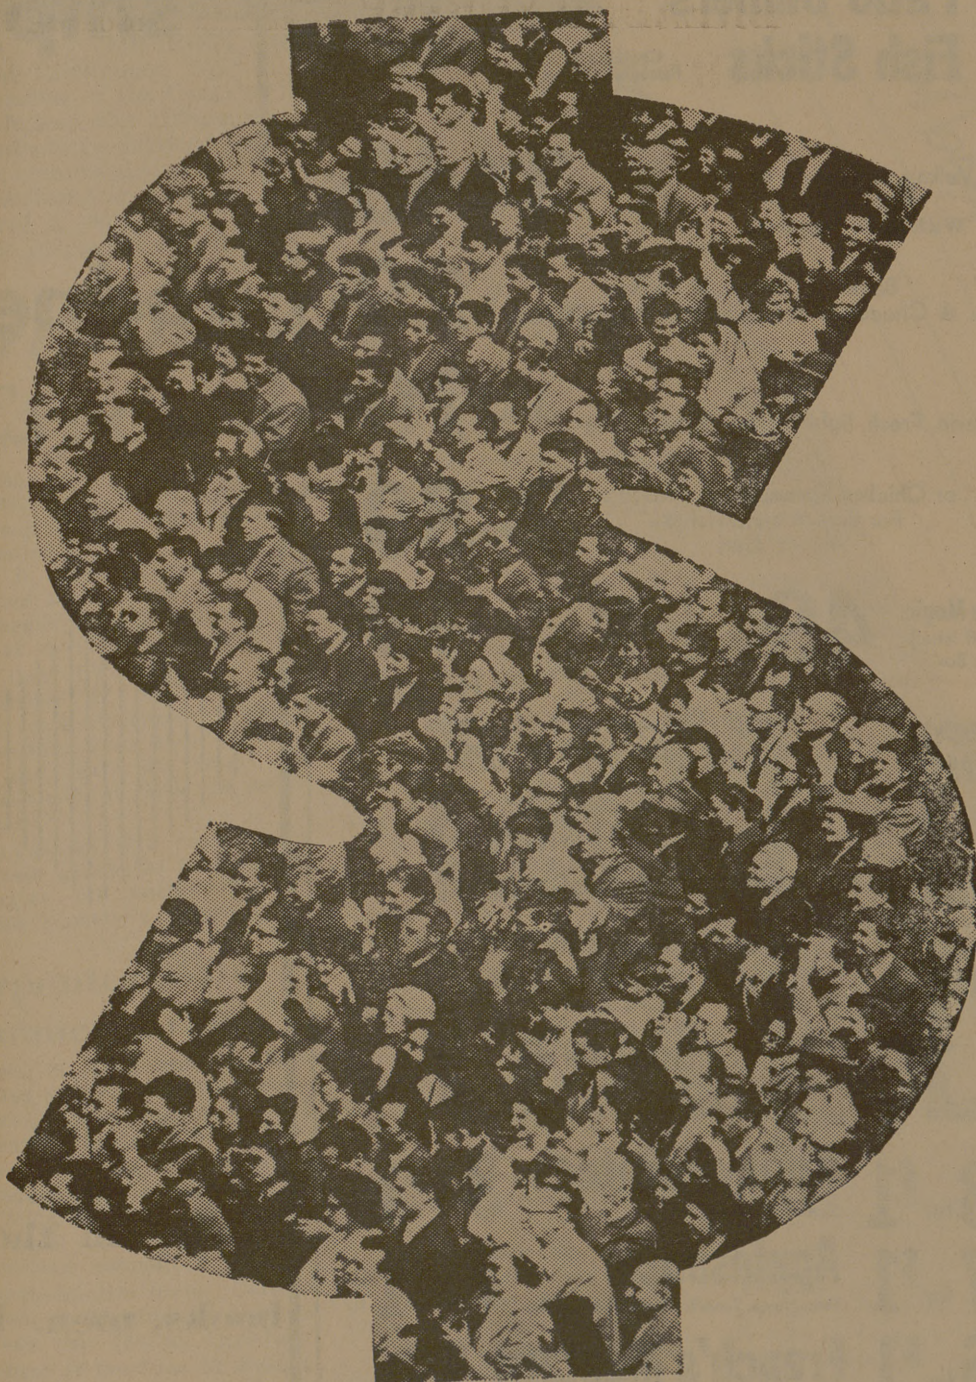

Faculty advisor is Dr. William P. Kuvlesky, sociology professor of the Agricultural Department of Economics and Sociology.

Chemistry Lecture Scheduled Friday

A Chemistry Colloquium here Friday features a Chevron Research Laboratory scientist.

Dr. Roger S. Porter of Orinda, Calif., will lecture on "Physical Chemistry of Liquid Crystals" at 4 p.m. in Room 231 of the Chemistry Building.

Chemistry Prof Picked To Study Under Authority

Dr. Jerry L. Jones will study electronics in a three-week University of Illinois course June 25-July 15.

The assistant professor of chemistry was selected from a large field of applicants for the course under Prof. H. V. Malmstadt, an internationally known expert in chemical instrumentation. Jones' attendance is supported by the National Science Foundation.

Oklahoma State and Arkansas-educated, Jones will attend lectures, labs, discussions, films and seminars on electronic principles, servo systems, operational amplifiers, digital circuits and other devices used in lab research and engineering control problems.
