Premiere Players Set Musical Show

The Premiere Players, a group of high schools students in Texas A&M's Summer Theater Program, will present a musical variety show at 8 p.m. Friday in the Fallout Theater.

The theme for the show is a steampost minstrel, and will feature several singing groups, a trumpet solo and a tumbling act.

The Premiere Players are also rehearsing for "Curse You, Jack Dalton," an old-style melodrama which will be directed by Debbie Klein and supervised by Tim E. Lane.

Under the direction of C. K. Esten, director of the Aggie Players, the Premiere Players were formed this summer to give local high school students an opportunity to participate in theatre work.

Col. Lee Cited For Leadership

Col. Raymond C. Lee was cited for "two years of splendid leadership" during a farewell luncheon Monday for the professor of aerospace studies.

A&M President Earl Rudder praised the Air Force officer for "upgrading the AFROTC program at Texas A&M."

"Colonel Lee has established rapport, mutual respect and cooperation between the AFROTC Staff and the A&M faculty," Rudder noted. "His interest in the academic progress of a student in his major field of study as well as AFROTC has greatly enhanced the university."

Lee has been reassigned as vice commander of the 31st Tactical Fighter Wing at Homestead AFB, Fla. The combat-ready unit is equipped with F-100 aircraft.

The colonel flew fighter missions in World War I and in Korea and hopes to see action in Viet Nam.

He came to A&M from the Air War College's instructional staff. A native of Philadelphia, he holds two degrees from Pennsylvania State and served as a training instructor at the Air Force Academy.

IE Chapter Gets Award

The Texas A&M Industrial Engineers Chapter recently selected the nation's outstanding student group at the annual American Institute of Industrial Engineers in San Francisco.

Harry S. Lewis, A&M chapter president, accepted the award for A&M. The award consists of a certificate of recognition and an engraved wall plaque to be permanently displayed in the Department of Industrial Engineering.

Lewis also represented Dan Miller and Frank Berngen, who placed second and third in the outstanding student award.

Work Began On Information Center

Work has started on the new million-dollar information center at Texas A&M.

Known as the Services Building, the three-story structure is connected with the A&M Press and Photo and Visual Aids Laboratory.

Campus information agencies and publication offices including the student newspaper, yearbook and magazines will be relocated in the new building. The University post office and laboratories of the state chemist also have space in the center.

A&M Information Chief Jim Lindsey described the facility as "equal to the best in the nation." "The centralization of our staffs and tools will enhance our service to the University System and all news media," the information director said.

Cushing Schedules Orientation Tours

Orientation tours of Cushing Library begin at Texas A&M June 30, announced assistant library director John Smith.

Designed to show scope and arrangement of library collections, tours are planned for students and others who wish to become more familiar with techniques of library use. The one-hour tours will be conducted by heads of circulation, Richard Puckett; reference, Mrs. Lavelle Castle, and documents, Joe Walls.

The first tour June 30 is at 3 p.m. A sign-up sheet for the monthly feature will be maintained at the circulation desk.

"Although these tours will be general in nature, the library will arrange programs on special fields for anyone desiring," Smith said.

4 Teaching Fields Added To Curriculum

Texas A&M's Department of Education and Psychology has added four teaching fields at the secondary school level.

Drama, French, German and Russian teaching instruction for secondary teachers may begin the second summer session, announced Dr. William W. Stokes, chairman of secondary education.

Approved by the Texas Education Agency and State Board of Education, the 24-hour programs include 12 in advance work. A&M may now prepare teachers in 21 fields.

"Addition of the programs reflects the growth of the university," noted Dr. Paul Hensarling, Department of Education and Psychology head.

A&M Contributes To Colorado Confab

Two lectures and a chemical thermodynamic microcards display is being contributed by Texas A&M to the 21st Calorimetry Conference at the University of Colorado this week.

Department of Chemistry professor Dr. Buno J. Zwolinski and Dr. R. M. Joshi, Welch Foundation postdoctoral fellow, are discussing "Combustion Studies on

A&M PSA Wins Award

The Pakistan Students Association of America chapter at Texas A&M was selected the U. S.'s most outstanding at a recent 13th convention in Madison, Wis.

The award, consisting of a permanent chapter plaque and a president's trophy, was presented four chapter delegates and Mrs. Robert B. Alexander, wife of the sponsor, by G. Ahmad, Pakistan ambassador to the U. S.

Mrs. Alexander was presented a "Friend of the Year" award for her efforts in assuring delegates presence at the conference. She also serves on the district board of international affairs of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. The incoming Campus Study Club president and her husband, a chemistry professor, lived in Pakistan two years.

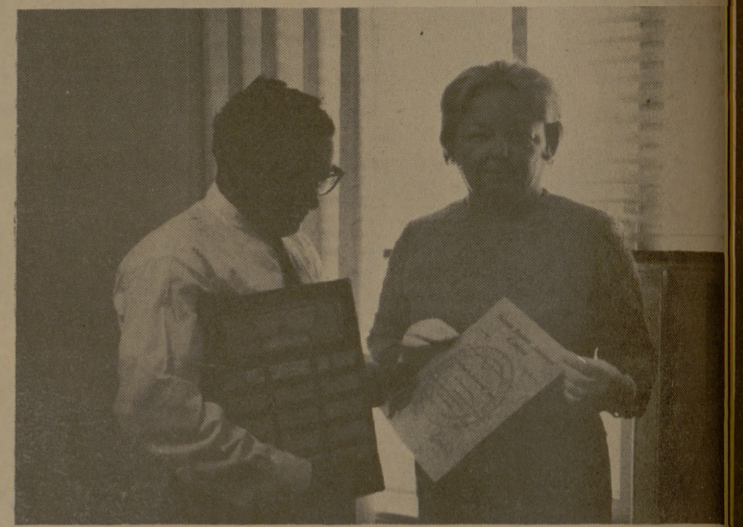

The A&M chapter shared the award with two other universities in 1961 when it was accepted. President Muhammad Hussain said the chapter was quite proud of its accomplishments.

Club activities reflected by the award include two donations totaling $500 to the Pakistan government's cyclone relief fund, a $380 donation to the Pakistan defense fund, its campus cultural function attended by 500 U. S. guests and a dinner celebration of Eidre Union.

"It was only by the help of Mrs. Alexander and Mr. (Bob) Melcher we were able to attend the convention," Hussain went on.

Delegates Monawar Ahmed and Mrs. Bilquis Alam participated in a convention cultural show. The fourth delegate was Ashraf Alam.

Permanent Pakistan representative to the United Nations Amjad Ali Khan attended the national event.

NATIONAL CHAPTER AWARDS

Mrs. Alexander, wife of the A&M chapter sponsor, received a "Friend of the Year" award for her work.

4-H Barbecue and Trail Ride Set For Sunday

The eighth annual 4-H barbecue will be held Sunday at the Fellowship Hall on Tabor Road.

Serving will begin at 11:30 and continue through 1:30 p.m.

Tickets are $1.25 each and may be purchased from any 4-H member or adult leader. Tickets will be sold at the barbecue.

The barbecue is held each year on the last Sunday in June to raise money to help support 4-H activities in Brazos County.

Last year awards included the dress review, day camp, awards trip to the Astrodome in Houston, expenses for 4-H horse club members that participated in the state horse show and expenses for six youngsters that attended the leadership clinic held in Angleton last year.

A trail ride will be held in conjunction with the barbecue from Kurten to Fellowship Hall.

An outdoor worship service conducted by Rev. Jimmy Hayes, will be held at 7:30 a.m. at the United Church of Christ in Kurten and the ride will start immediately after the service. All horsemen are invited to participate.

Soft drinks at rest stops will be included in the $1.25 charge for the dinner.
