

PRESENTATION OF ARMS AT REVIEW BY TEXAS A&M CORPS OF CADETS

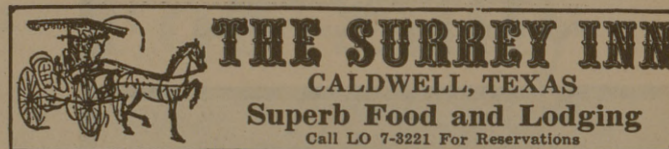

Officers and colors present arms at one of the reviews held during the year. The entire Corps of Cadets passes in review at these events, which are among A&M's most colorful ceremonies. Final review is held the weekend before final examinations are given and it is here that the seniors march across the drill field for the last time to review their successors. Besides reviews, the Corps participates in parades in several Texas cities each year on Corps Trips.

REVEILLE II, III

Reveille II, left, will be replaced this fall by the Alaskan-born collie, below, as the beloved Aggie mascot. The collie will be named Reveille III and will assume all the duties of Reveille II. The mascots are the only females in the Corps of Cadets. Reveille II had to be retired because of illness.
