

Reservists Attend Research Seminar

Reservists from 18 states and the District of Columbia are participating in a research reserve seminar on electronic computers through Sept. 9.

The roster includes 44 Navy, 5 Army, 3 Coast Guard and 5 staff men.

Sponsored by the Office of Naval Research in conjunction with A&M and Naval Research Company 8-3, the annual school is being held for the fourth time at A&M.

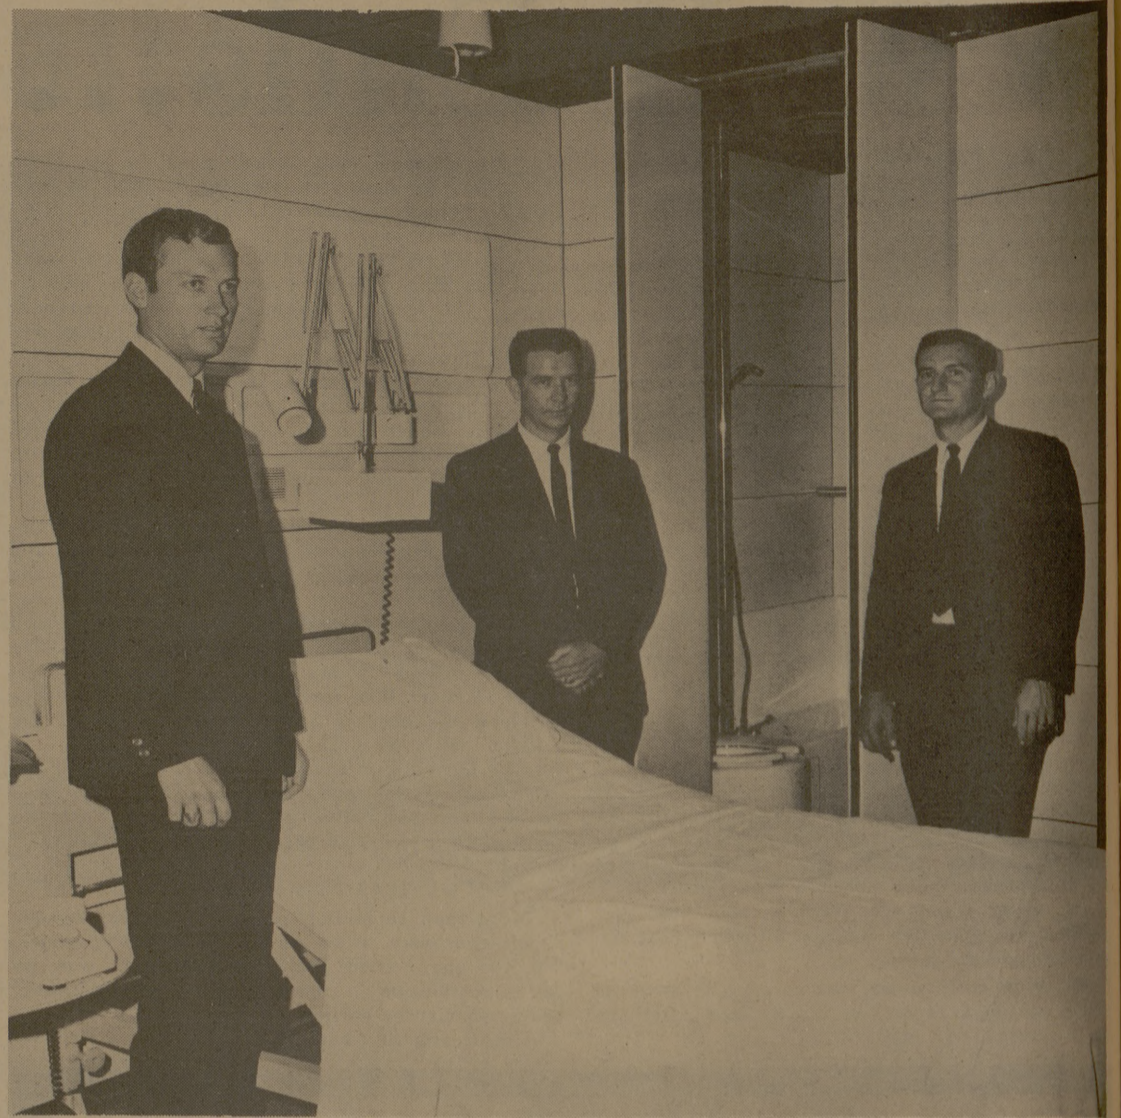

Seminar Chairman is Cmdr. Bill C. Moore, USNR. Capt. Richard H. Ballinger, USNR, is seminar administrators. Instructors include 1st Lt. Robert Bower Jr., USAR, and Maj. Robert L. Smith Jr., USAR. All are from Bryan-College Station.

Participants were welcomed by President Earl Rudder during a luncheon at the Memorial Student Center. Dr. Robert J. Lundegand, head of Logistics and Mathematical Statistics Division, Office of Naval Research, Washington, D. C., will also address the group.

Other seminar speakers include Dr. H. O. Hartley, director of A&M's Graduate Institute of Statistics; Will Jones, Service Bureau Corporation, Houston; Thomas F. Woods of NASA's Computation and Analysis Division, Houston; Dr. James M. Nash, assistant professor of industrial engineering, and Dr. Richard E. Wainerdi, head of A&M's Activation Analysis Laboratory.

Lt. Col. A. R. Burgess, USAR, professor of industrial engineering; Dr. John D. Randall, director of the Nuclear Science Center; Dr. Worth Nowlin, assistant professor of oceanography; Dr. Richard S. Ballance, manager of advance computer systems, IBM Corp.; Dr. Donald R. Drew, associate professor of civil engineering, and H. D. Attra, Humble Oil and Refining Co., Houston, also will speak.

SEMINAR PRINCIPALS
Lt. Robert Bower Jr., USAR, seated, gives a briefing on the IBM 7094 to Dr. Robert J. Lundegand, Cdr. Bill C. Moore, USNR, and Capt. Richard H. Ballinger, USNR. Fifty-two reservists are participating in a research reserve seminar on electronic computers through Sept. 9 here. Lundegand is head of logistics and mathematical statistics for the U. S. Office of Naval Research. The others are seminar staffers.

Stat Institute Announces 5 New Staffers

Five faculty additions to the Institute of Statistics have been announced by Dr. H. O. Hartley, institute director.

Dr. C. E. Gates, formerly professor and experiment station statistician at the University of Minnesota, will be professor of statistics. He joined Minnesota in 1956.

Gates earned the Ph.D. in experimental statistics from North Carolina State University. He has an M.S. from North Carolina State and a B.S. in horticulture from Iowa State University.

Named assistant professors are Dr. Lyle D. Broemeling and Dr. Larry J. Ringer. Broemeling earned three degrees, including the doctorate in mathematical statistics at Texas A&M. Ringer's doctorate in statistics is also from A&M, with two degrees from Iowa State University.

William Boyce Smith and P. Larry Claypool are new instructors. Smith has an M.S. degree in statistics from A&M and the B.S. degree from Lamar State College of Technology. Claypool earned the M.A. in statistics at the University of Missouri and the B.S. from Southwest Missouri State College.

The appointees are members of professional societies and have published articles in learned journals.

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. — The St. Petersburg Cardinals of the Florida State League had a 2-6 record last April 26, but made it 24-6 before they lost. Then they lost five straight before hitting another winning stride. The 22 victories constitute a league record.
