

Martell Named New Chairman In Chemistry

Dr. Arthur E. Martell of the Illinois Institute of Technology has been appointed head of the Department of Chemistry at Texas A&M President Earl Rudder announced recently.

He replaces acting head Dr. A. F. (Tex) Isbell, who is on a year's leave of absence for work with a national committee studying more effective ways of teaching chemistry. Martell, on a lecture tour in Switzerland and Russia, will not be on the campus until October.

Martell, 49, who has also chaired the Department of Chemistry at Clark University, is a veteran professor of 28 years experience.

The Natick, Mass., native received the bachelor degree at Worcester Polytechnic in 1938 and the Ph.D. at New York University in 1941. Martell became an assistant at NYU after getting his doctorate, went to Clark as an assistant professor in 1942 and moved up through the ranks to chairman in 1959.

He was professor and chairman at Illinois five years, taking the post in 1961.

Recognized for his work on metal chelate compounds, Martell also specializes in amino acid synthesis, ionic conductance in nonaqueous solvents and potentiometry of aqueous solutions.

Dickey To Join A&M Staffers In Dominican

James R. Dickey will join the Texas A&M staff in the Dominican Republic, Dr. M. T. Harrington, co-ordinator in International programs, has announced.

He resigned as livestock inspector with the Texas Power & Light Company in Dallas to accept the overseas position. Dickey has been assigned as regional agricultural development at Santiago in the central section of the Caribbean Island Republic. He will advise the Ministry of Agriculture's regional director.

Accompanied by his wife and three children, Dickey left last weekend for his new duties. The parents have just completed a six-week orientation program and refresher training in the Spanish language.

This will be the second overseas tour for the Dickeyes. They resided 18 months at Sao Paulo, Brazil, where he was an advisor to cattle breeders. Previously, Dickey was with the International Santa Getrudis Breeders Association, traveling over the United States and Latin America classifying cattle.

Dickey holds Texas A&M bachelor's and masters degrees in animal science. Graduate of Bay City High School, he is the son of Mrs. Doyle A. Bridges of Bay City.

Dr. Jarvis E. Miller heads Texas A&M's 34-member staff in the Dominican Republic. The group operates under a contract between the University and State Department's Agency for International Development, advising the Dominican government in agricultural development.
