

Rev I Tombstone Needs Replacement

Nearly every student knows that Reveille I is buried near the north end of Kyle Field where she can always see the scoreboard. Most Aggies, however, don't realize she was buried in the open space north of the pink granite T Memorial at the entrance to the stadium.

So last spring freshmen from Company E-2, the unit charged with keeping the Aggie mascot, decided a tombstone would be appropriate at the precise spot where Rev I was buried in 1944.

SENATE SHORTS

By BARNEY FUDGE
Student Senate President

While the Aggies are returning for another school year full of activity, there are several things that should be brought to the forefront of your attention. First, though, let me welcome each student to our university, especially those who are coming for the first time. You newcomers, you "fish," are facing the most rewarding years of your life — your years here at Aggieland.

As everyone knows by now Reveille II has been put to rest. Those closest to her at the end realized it would be inhumane to let her go on living in dire pain as she had been for several years. We all loved her and will miss her.

The Student Senate would like to take this opportunity to voice its support of the Student Health Service and Insurance Program. In order to enroll contact Mutual of Omaha, Box 3849, Bryan. The R. M. Jackson Agency is the acting benefit office for those who are interested in this fine, personal injury policy.

In the coming year the Student Senate president's office will be open each Tuesday and Thursday morning from 8-10 or any other time by appointment. Drop in with your problems, your suggestions or just to say hello.

McFarland Named To Dual Position

Frank McFarland has been jointly appointed to the Department of Economics and Texas Transportation Institute.

As assistant professor of economics, he will teach principles and mathematical economics. McFarland was appointed a research economist in TTI, to research engineering economy.

and placed it at the gravesite last May.

A noble gesture, except for one thing. They misspelled Rev's name.

Now it's not very likely an Aggie fish, held responsible for reams of campusology information, would not know how to spell the name of the official mascot.

Perhaps the dealer who engraved the stone wasn't an Aggie fan and decided to play a little joke on the fish.

But regardless of the reason for the mishap, Reveille I deserves an accurate replacement.

More Than Just An Education

Every one of us here at Texas A&M is here for more than just an education. We're here to gain freedom as well.

Not freedom from outside oppression but from the oppression that each of us brings upon ourselves. Before coming here most of us lived a very narrow, static, sheltered life. Our experiences were limited. We lived a life of acceptance without questioning, doing without asking and receiving without paying. In living this singular life we have missed the opportunity to free ourselves from our surroundings, but now a new beginning can be made.

In order to take advantage of our best chance at freedom one must enter college foremost with an open and objective mind. We must sweep away the prejudices, half truths and misconceptions that we have previously acquired.

Become excited about this chance and take advantage of it from the beginning, for time is precious.

As this time goes by learn the professors that are interested in teaching rather than merely instructing and then weigh their ideas against your own to reach the truth. These men can't give you the freedom you seek but they hold the key that unlocks the door. Work hard learning the facts that are put before you and keep in mind that "ignorance is the curse of God."

Most of all, don't let yourself become a blind follower who does not know and doesn't care where he is going. Work to learn so that you will not have to depend upon others' knowledge, and strive to become creative so that you will not have to depend on the ideas of others. Remember that the chains of bondage can be made of more than steel.

WALLACE MIDDENDORP SAT HERE

What did you do when Joe (Boxcar) Brkczpmuluj was kicked off the football team just because he flunked six out of four of his majors? What did you do, Wallace Middendorp?

And when the school newspaper's editors resigned in protest because The Chancellor wouldn't allow the publication of certain salacious portions of

"Night In a Girl's Dormitory" you just sat, didn't you?

You've made a mockery of your life, Wallace Middendorp!

You're a vegetable.

Protest, Wallace Middendorp.

Take a stand. Make a noise!

Or drink Sprite, the noisy soft drink.

Open a bottle of Sprite at the next campus speak-out. Let it fizz and bubble to the masses.

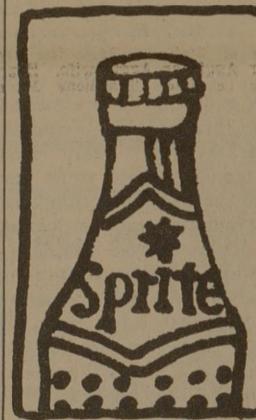

Let its lusty carbonation echo through the halls of ivy.

Let its tart, tingling exuberance infect the crowd with excitement.

Do these things, Wallace Middendorp. Do these things, and what big corporation is going to hire you?
