and Aggie coach Gene Stallings indicates Tulane will use an offense based on the Longhorns' flip flop with a wing-T and the standard split 6-1 on defense.

Pittman, serving his first year at Tulane, had 28 returning lettermen, 15 of whom started either offensively or defensively last season. Six of Tulane's players own two varsity letters. This compares to A&M's 22 returning lettermen, 13 of whom own two letters.

BOBBY DUHON will again start at quarterback for the Green Wave. Last week against Virginia Tech he directed all three Tulane scoring drives.

"Tulane will have a real fine ball club," Stallings said. "They should be well conditioned and prepared for the game because I know Jim (Pittman) always handles players well."

Stallings gave no indication how the Aggies will fare against the Green Wave, except for:

"Last week against Georgia Tech we were not prepared for the game because of poor coaching in my part. This week we have had good workouts and the boys have been learning, especially the kids at the new positions. I say one thing, tomorrow we will know what to do in situations that hurt us at Georgia Tech.

"We are playing too many young kids and you can expect them to make mistakes. Last week we made them and they hurt us. If we are going to make errors tomorrow, we are going to do them full speed."

Westerfield Wants Aggies To Start Winning Ways

Dan Westerfield, Aggie defensive halfback, goes into Saturday's game with Tulane mad from A&M's 38-3 opening loss to Georgia Tech, but with strong hopes of doing more when the Aggies take the field at Tulane in search of their first 1966 victory.

Georgia Tech completed 15 passes in 27 attempts against the Aggies last Saturday for 182 yards. Twice Westerfield helped stop the Tech drives. Once he intercepted a Georgia Tech pass and added a 17-yard return and later in the first half he tipped another Tech aerial into the arms of teammate Bill Hobbs.

This week the senior starter thinks the Aggie defense will be stronger and more wary of passes. "We're hoping we can hold everybody down enough so we can win," Westerfield said.

"They have some fast people," Westerfield said of Tulane which causes problems at his position. His biggest responsibility at defensive halfback is to kill the long touchdown play. "The main thing I have to do is be sure and get them down," he added.

The 170-pound halfback has been a big asset for the Aggies. Originally Westerfield ran as an offensive halfback. Last season he switched to the Aggie defense.

"I had a lot to learn in a short time but I got a lot of help. Since then I've been learning all the time, but I still have a lot to learn," he said.

Westerfield was sidelined the last three games of the 1965 season after suffering a broken bone in his leg during the Arkansas game. He feels he's in better shape now than in previous seasons and as for his leg — "It hasn't given me any trouble at all."

The 5-11 defender is a real competitor and dedicated to the game. He feels the pressure of hopeful sophomores — and likes it. "A few sophomores have good speed and quite a bit of ability. They are going to get to play," Westerfield said. But Westerfield is a "hard-nosed" type football player and likes his defensive position. "That's where I'd like to play," he said as though he planned to keep it that way.

He was co-captain and quarterback at Crawford High and then played in the North-South all-star game the summer after graduation. Since that time has earned two varsity letters with the Aggies and now is working on his third.

Saturday he will be competing against Tulane hoping to help start a winning season at Aggie-land to close his college football career.

Aggie's meet Tulane at 7:30 Saturday, Sept. 24.

Are you discontented enough to work for G.E.?

Does water pollution bug you? Or smog? Does it concern you that some places in the country never have enough teachers? Or nurses? And when you read about the growing pains of a developing nation, do you wish you could do something?

You can. Thousands of General Electric people are helping to solve the problems of a growing, changing world.

Generating more (and cheaper) electricity with nuclear reactors. Controlling smog in our cities and pollution in our streams. Using electronics to bring the teaching skills of an expert into many classrooms at once, the trained eyes of a nurse into many hospital rooms at once.

If you're not content with the world as it is . . . and if you have the brains, imagination and drive to help build a better one, we'd like to talk to you.

See the man from G.E. during his next campus visit. Come to General Electric, where the young men are important men.

Progress Is Our Most Important Product
