when asked about TCU's defense — Abe Martin, TCU's own head coach.

"Abe Martin says they (TCU) played the best defensive game last week they've played all year," replied Stallings. The Aggie head mentor expects the Frog crew to be even better this week.

TCU's Frank Horak has five interceptions to his credit in just four games—to lead the nation in the swiping department.

The Aggies have a few leaders, too. Defensive halfback Curley Hallman is second in the conference with three pass interceptions.

Sophomore quarterback Edd Hargett owns the best pass completion record with 53 completions in 100 attempts for a neat 53 per cent. Hargett has only had five passes intercepted all season.

Five of Hargett's tosses were good for touchdowns. Hargett aerials have accounted for 604 yards of A&M's total offense. Baylor's Terry Southall is the only passer to gain more. He has 740 yards from passes.

Steve O'Neal ranks second with his punting. O'Neal has booted the pigskin 24 times this season for a 43.2 yard average. His longest punt, 64 yards, came in the season opener with Georgia Tech.

Stallings will stick with the same defensive starting unit he employed last week at LSU. Tuffy Fletcher, 210, and Grady Allen, 200, will be at the ends. Rolf Krueger, 225, and Harvey Aschenbeck, 210, will play the tackles. Ken Lamkin, 192, will complete the line at middle guard.

Dan Westerfield, 170, and Lawson Howard, 185, will be A&M's defensive halfbacks. Bill Hobbs, 190, and Robert Cortez, 200, will play linebackers and Joe Wood, 195, will be the rover. Curley Hallman, 180, will be the Aggie safety man.

Offensively, positions are not quite as definite. Either Tommy Maxwell or Larry Lee will be starting at split end. Strong back could be Wendell Housley or Bill Sallee. Ronnie Lindsey, Dan Schneider or Sallee could possibly start at fullback.

Coach Stallings will be without the services of senior center Jim Singleton this week. Singleton injured his left knee last week against LSU and will be sidelined for at least three weeks.

Gary Kovar moved over to center leaving a hole at strong guard. It's still a toss-up between Jack Pyburn and Mark Weaver for the vacant guard spot. Other offensive starters are pretty certain. Ed Breding will be at weak tackle, Don Koehn the weak guard, Mo Moorman at strong tackle, Tom Buckman at strong end, Bob Long, the weak back, and Edd Hargett will quarterback the team.

Halfbacks Lloyd Curington and George Walker will not see action again this week due to injuries.

Sherer Gives Inside Information For Games

It has been said that the only qualified football prognosticators should be fortune tellers or ESP experts. But, since most fortune tellers do not pick football games, it is left to the sports writers who should know but in reality are only guessing.

Here are Gary Sherer's guesses for the weekend:

Texas A&M-TCU: The Aggies are injury-ridden but it is a "home game" and the Frogs are not exactly full strength either. Look for the Aggies by four points.

SMU-Rice: The Owls have been surprising everybody this year but we think SMU has had a chance to recover from the shock and can handle them. From here it looks like the Mustangs by three.

Florida State-Texas Tech: Tech gets out of the conference this week after losing four in a row. Florida State by six.

Arkansas-Texas: This will be the first time in many years that these two teams will be going into this big game with losses the week before, but it's still a big one. The Hogs by seven.
