It's Jaw-To-Jaw Showdown Saturday

(Continued From Page 1) son Howard, and safety Curley Hallman. Add to these Joe Townsend, Moorman, Harry Ledbetter, Ivan Jones and Gilbert Smith.

Two-Way Throttler-

Moorman Holds All-America Eye

DALLAS (AP) — Four linemen, one who goes both ways, are the leading contenders for All-America from the Southwest Conference with the football season entering its last half.

There just are not any backs to be promoted for spots on the All-America except on defense. There the regional committee settled on Chuck Latourette, a talented safety man who also does the punting for Rice.

Greg Pipes, the Baylor guard; Maurice (Mo) Moorman, Texas A&M's tackle who plays mostly on offense but steps in when the going gets rough to throw his 252 pounds around on defense; John LaGrone, the mighty nose guard of Southern Methodist; and Loyd Phillips, the great defensive tackle of the Arkansas Razorbacks, are the four given almost unanimous approval for All-America from this league.

All are defensive stalwarts and the only one who specializes in offense is Moorman, the big transfer from Kentucky. But he showed what he could do on defense as he throttled Baylor's last bid against Texas A&M.

It will be nothing new for Phillips; he made the All-America last year and is just as good, if not better, than ever. He's the main spring of the Arkansas line.

Pipes, a most consistent fellow who was considered to be the most important factor for Baylor in its 7-0 upset of Arkansas, shone even in the losing effort against Texas A&M.

LaGrone is the heart of Southern Methodist's defense that has it up there fighting for the conference championship.

Burle Pettit of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal seconds the motion on Phil Tucker, Texas Tech offensive tackle, but thinks Edd Hargett, Texas A&M's sophomore quarterback, may be the best bet among the offensive backs.

Bill Van Fleet of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram considers Pipes, Phillips, Moorman and LaGrone the top candidates. He thinks quarterbacks Terry Southall of Baylor, Jon Brittenum of Arkansas and Hargett might make a big splash down the stretch.

Arkansas suffered a blow to its winged T offense Wednesday when tailback Bruce Maxwell, tied for the SWC scoring lead with 30 points, pulled a muscle. Coach Frank Broyles tabbed David Dickey to move into the position.

A&M is not celebrating the absence of Maxwell. The Aggies have a host of Hog backs to cause sleepless nights, among them QB Jon Brittenum, wingback Hary Jones and fullback Eddie Woodlee.

David Cooper, Arkansas' starting middle guard on defense, has a hurt knee but has a good chance to play. Pat May is his replacement in the trenches.

The Aggies have glistened on pass defense and could establish a new school record this year. To date, A&M defenders have pilfered 20 passes thrown by the enemy. Of these 12 have come in the past two games. A&M's school record for interceptions is 30, set in 1941. Texas holds the SWC mark with 34, notched in 1940.

Stallings, who has smiled widely and talked about how proud he is of the Aggies exploits thus far, won't say they have surpassed his expectations. Big plays, he claims, have made the difference between winning and losing. He's hoping the Aggies keep making them.

Aggie Runners Take On Baylor In Waco Match

Texas A&M will match its long-winded distance runners with those from Baylor University in Waco Friday night.

Aggie ace John Heffner will give his undivided attention to Baylorite Walter Reyna. Thus far, Heffner has beaten Reyna's best time of 15:08 by one second.

The Ags and the Bruins last competed Oct. 14, in a tri-team meet with Texas University.

In cross country competition, the team which places first gets the lowest points.

As a result, in the meet with Baylor and Texas University, the Aggies landed second place with 37 points, while Texas won with 35 and Baylor lost with 44.

Oct. 21, the Aggies found themselves in competition with the University of Houston and Lamar Tech of Beaumont. The Aggies were deluged by points—44—but still retained second place. The Cougars escaped with a mere 17, and Lamar Tech figured its team total at 55.

Although Texas A&M was defeated by a large number of points, the Aggies found solace in one factor. An overall average of twenty-two seconds was chopped off the old times of individual team members.

Four More Join A&M Fame List

Tickets are still available for Texas A&M Hall of Fame luncheon at noon Saturday in the Memorial Student Center ballroom, announced Aggie Club President Hershel Maltz.

Four A&M greats will be inducted into the Hall of Fame. They are former football stars Joe M. Boyd and Dick Todd; Coach Dana X. Bible, whose 1917 and 1919 grid teams were never scored on, and Olympic ace Arthur (Art) Harnden.

A special presentation will be made to David A. Johnson, a member of this year's world champion Baltimore Orioles. Johnson attended A&M during 1961-62.

Luncheon guests also will see film highlights of A&M's 1939 national championship football team.

Maltz said the $5 luncheon tickets are on sale at the A&M Athletic Director's office and at the Former Students Association office in the MSC.

Aussies Capture Golf Meet Lead

Hartley, 32-year-old Melbourne engineer, fired a four-under-par 68 Thursday and led Australia to a six-stroke lead over South Africa in the first round of the Eisenhower Trophy Golf Championship.

The Australians wound up with a score of 214 and South Africa's Bobby Cole had to sink a 40-foot-putt on the final green to give his team second place at 220.

Presenting The Drinking Song for Sprite:
"ROAR, SOFT-DRINK, ROAR!"
(To the tune of "Barbara Fritchie")

Traditionally, a lusty, rousing fight song is de rigueur for every worthy cause and institution. But we wrote a song for Sprite anyway. We'd like you to sing it while drinking Sprite, though this may cause some choking and coughing. So what? It's all in good, clean fun. And speaking of good, clean things, what about the taste of Sprite? It's good. It's clean. However, good clean things may not exactly be your idea of jollies. In that case, remember that Sprite is also very refreshing. "Tart and tingling," in fact. And very collegiate. And maybe we'd better quit while we're ahead. So here it is. The Drinking Song For Sprite. And if you can get a group together to sing it—we'd be very surprised.

Roar, soft drink, roar!
You're the loudest soft drink we ever saw!
So tart and tingling, they couldn't keep you quiet:
The perfect drink, guy,
To sit and think by,
Or to bring instant refreshment
To any campus riot! Ooooooh--
Roar, soft drink, roar!
Flip your cap, hiss and bubble,
Fizz and gush!
Oh we can't think
Of any drink
That we would rather sit with!
Or (if we feel like loitering)
to hang out in the strit with!
Or sleep through English lit' with!
Roar! Soft drink! Roar!
Yeahhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh, SPRITE!

SPRITE, SO TART AND TINGLING, WE JUST COULDN'T KEEP IT QUIET.
