

Pinkie Says...

Texas A&M University visitors during October totaled 3,052. Official Greeter P. L. (Pinkie) Downs Jr. announced.

Since June, Downs points out, 18,672 visitors have been on campus to attend short courses, conferences, class reunions and other scheduled meetings.

Football fans and other visitors to athletic events are not included in Downs' visitor reports.

Downs estimates 1,074,254 A&M visitors during the past seventeen years and five months spent $22,769,334 in the community.

Freeway Study Showing Results

Reduced travel time, better lane utilization, and fewer rear end collisions at entrance ramps are resulting from research along a six-mile stretch of the inbound Gulf Freeway in Houston, by Texas A&M researchers.

The research, which involves application of surveillance and control technology for freeways in general, is being conducted by TTI's Department of Highway Design and Traffic Engineering on a project sponsored by the Texas Highway Department in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. A number of accomplishments have resulted under TTI traffic engineers.

TRAVEL TIME OVER the six-mile study area at the height of congestion during the morning peak has been reduced from an average time of 17 minutes to an average of 11 minutes. In addition the smoothness of the trip, as measured by an index called "acceleration noise," has been doubled.

Freeway volumes during the peak period are on the average about 10 percent higher along the entire facility. This represents an increased utilization of the freeway lanes. The hundreds of extra vehicles accommodated on the freeway as a result of this increased efficiency would otherwise be forced to travel on already overloaded parallel streets under conditions of severe congestion. Bottlenecks are sighted through television surveillance and cleared by divergence of traffic in automatic signal control ahead of them.

THE MOST COMMON type of freeway accident — that of the rear end collision at entrance ramps due to false starts during the merging maneuver—has virtually been eliminated through ramp control. Since cars are released by signals one at a time, there is only one ramp vehicle in the merging area at a time.

Further research on the project is expected to provide additional results. These will involve innovations for improvement of freeway operation which will be accomplished automatically. Tension and human error associated with merging from an entrance ramp onto the freeway will be eliminated more or less by automatically fitting ramp traffic into gaps in freeway traffic. Specially designated control plans will go into effect when a freeway stoppage is detected. A computer will analyze the demand requirements at several entrance points and decide, on the basis of optimizing operation according to appropriate criteria, just what patterns should be favored.
