MOMS CLUB ASSISTS AGGIES
Brazos County A&M Mothers Club members mended 32 hospital gowns as one of its service projects. Officers (l. to r.) Mrs. I. O. Linger, historian; Mrs. J. C. Watson, reported; Mrs. Wallace Kimbrough, president; Mrs. Raymond Staten, vice president; and Mrs. Tony Zemanek, secretary, exhibit the work.

Brazos Mothers Assist Students

Texas A&M students have a "mother away from home" in the Brazos County A&M Mothers Club.

The club offers to assist Aggies in many ways, such as furnishing gift shopping hints, selecting a doctor or finding rooms for weekend guests.

It's just the organization's way of helping make A&M the friendliest place in the world.

Projects of the 54-member club include mending A&M Hospital gowns, providing a $150 scholarship, donating a trophy for an A&M debate tourney, sponsoring one of 27 sweaters for the "Fish" Drill Team and hosting a coffee for the Federated Mothers Clubs of A&M each May.

"We have a very cooperative group of mothers," declared Mrs. Wallace Kimbrough, president of the local club. "They joined to serve, not to attend meetings."

Mrs. Kimbrough cites other officers and past presidents for club accomplishments. The slate includes Mmes. Raymond D. Staten, vice president; Tony Zemanek, secretary; Jack Currie, treasurer; L. O. Linger, historian, and J. C. Watson, reporter.

The president said she turns often to two past presidents, Mrs. L. A. Maddox and Mrs. O. A. Ashworth, for assistance.

The club was organized in 1935

University Archives, the master copy of all A&M campusology, will find a new home upon completion of the new library addition.

University Archives was inaugurated in August, 1950, under the joint sponsorship of the university and the Association of Former Students for the purpose of gathering and preserving the history of Texas A&M.

Professor David Brooks Cofer was the first archivist. Under his administration, many items and documents of historical interest and information were collected. Cofer also published five brochures dealing with the early history and administrators of the University.

AMONG THE more important items which were collected under Cofer's supervision are hundreds of letters written during President Thomas Gathright's administration. These are most valuable in that they describe fairly definite the troubles that led to the wholesale dismissal of the first faculty in November of 1879. Other important letters of the same years are in the Pfeuffer collection. All the letters were written by hand and are as legible today as if written yesterday.

The Gathright letters were presented to University Archives by Mrs. Lilla McInnis Graham and Miss Malcolm McInnis, daughters of the late L. L. McInnis, a member of the faculty from 1877 until 1890, and chairman of the faculty from 1888-1890. George Pfeuffer was a member of the board of directors from 1879-1886, and during the last few years of his tenure served as president of the board.

OTHER NOTABLE items have been gathered through the years. Probably the two most important of such documents are "Announcement and Circular of the State Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas" and Texas A&M College. Rules and Regulations 1876."

The first of these documents was published before Texas A&M was opened in 1876, and sets out in detail the responsibility of the faculty, complete courses of study, costs, and so on. These items are priceless, in that so far as is known, they were the first official publications of the first board of directors.

Upon Cofer's retirement in 1957, Ernest Langford, former head of the Division of Architecture, was appointed archivist on a part-time arrangement.

IMPORTANT ITEMS in the contribution of information have been the annual yearbooks of the senior classes. The first was published in 1895 and was called the "Olio". The next yearbooks were the "Long Horn" and then the "Longhorn", until 1949 when the name was changed to the "Aggieland." Much of the history of the school is included in these publications.

A thousand or more photographs have been gathered, many going back to the first years of the college. University Archives is temporarily housed in room Academic Building, and is from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Friday.
