

Soph Gridders Impressive

A&M sophomores show plenty of promise for future Maroon and White teams, pacing the 1966 Aggie grid team to a 4-5-1 season, a 4-3 Southwest Conference mark and leading the squad in every department of statistics.

Quarterback Edd Hargett, who didn't play his final three games in high school or any freshman football, led the way for the sophomores. The 5-11, 185 pound slinger from Linden-Kildare set new A&M records with 285 pass attempts and 132 completions. He had a neat .498 completion average and netted 1,532 yards with his longest toss going 55 yards for a touchdown to leading Aggie receiver Tommy Maxwell, also a sophomore.

Maxwell, who missed A&M's final game with Texas due to a kidney ailment, received 27 passes in his nine games for 445 yards and four touchdowns. Another sophomore, Bob Long, was second in pass receiving with 23 catches for 250 yards and three TD's. Senior Larry Lee topped Long's yardage with 328, but only had 22 passes to his credit.

Wendell Housley, sophomore halfback, was the leading ground-gainer for the Aggies. Standing 6-2 and weighing 200 pounds, Housley netted 548 yards in 155 carries for a 3.5 average. Junior Bill Sallee was next in yards with 231 in 51 carries for a 4.5 norm. Lloyd Curington, a senior from Houston Austin, posted the best average with three carries for 15 yards and a five yard average.

In the scoring department, sophomores held four of the five top berths. Maxwell led the way with four touchdowns and a two-point conversion for 26 points. Kicking specialist Glynn Lindsey, a senior, held the second position with 15 extra points and two field goals for 21 points. Long and Hargett each had three TD's and Housley had two.

A&M's defensive safety, sophomore Curley Hallman, led the Aggies in punt returns. Hallman had seven returns, his longest and A&M's best was for 20 yards. Long had five returns for 23 yards and Sophomore George Walker had four for 22 yards.

Hallman also had the most pass interceptions for the Aggies with five. His 36-yard return against Baylor was the longest for A&M. Two seniors, Tuffy Fletcher and Lawson Howard, trailed Hallman with four steals apiece. Howard had the only pass interception returned for a touchdown.

Housley and Long were number one and two in kickoff returns. Housley returned 11 kickoffs for 255 yards while Long took seven for 89 yards. But Curington gets credit for the best run. In A&M's season ender with Texas, Curington caught a lateral from Long and raced 67 yards before being tackled. Added with Long's seven yards on the front, the run went for 74 yards—A&M's longest.

Promising Fish Footballers Ready For '67 Spring Drills

The Fish football squad finished its 1966 grid season with a 2-2-1 record while producing several top prospects for Aggie varieties of the very near future.

Ross Brubacher is the prime candidate among the freshman ground-gainers. Brubacher led the Frosh with a net 247 yards in 59 carries for a fine 4.2 yard average. Bruce Kempf had 138 yards in 45 tries for a 3.1 yard average and Barney Harris netted 137 yards in 55 carries. Jack Woodward only carried the pigskin seven times, but had the longest Frosh run of 30 yards and 44 total yards to his credit, an average of 6.3 yards.

Harris, a product of San Antonio MacArthur, took the helm of the Aggie Fish most of the season. While quarterbacking the team, Harris completed 36 of 86 passes for 732 yards and seven touchdowns. His longest pass was for 59 yards and a touchdown to Bob Young against the Texas Tech Picadors. Harris had nine interceptions against him and owned a 419 completion record.

Jimmy Adams, a 6-2 end from Houston Waltrip, was the leading pass receiver. Adams caught 14 passes in the five Frosh games for 311 yards and one touchdown. His longest reception was for 55 yards. Larry Stegent was next in pass catching with nine for 183 yards and two TD's. Young had eight for 181 and two TD's.

Shotput King Approaches Final Season

Fabulous Randy Matson, the giant weightman from Pampa High, in the Texas Panhandle, is approaching his final track season at A&M and coach Charlie Thomas looks for it to be his greatest.

"It will be difficult for Randy to improve on his personal best of 70 feet, 7 1/4 inches in the shot but he just might," Thomas says. "Early indications are that he is heading for a great year. Physically and mentally, Randy is already in the best shape ever. His weight is up to 258, exactly where it was when he set the world record."

Thomas said the most encouraging thing is that Randy is stronger than ever now. He already has surpassed his personal best in lifting weights and he has done this in all of his exercises. His bad knee still gives him trouble at times but it has not kept him from developing his lower body.

The Aggie coach said that Matson has been on a more rigorous weight training schedule than ever and that he has been working five days a week, alternating with weights to develop his upper body one day and his lower body the next.

The big Aggie hasn't been throwing the shot and discuss much but will commence working on those techniques shortly.

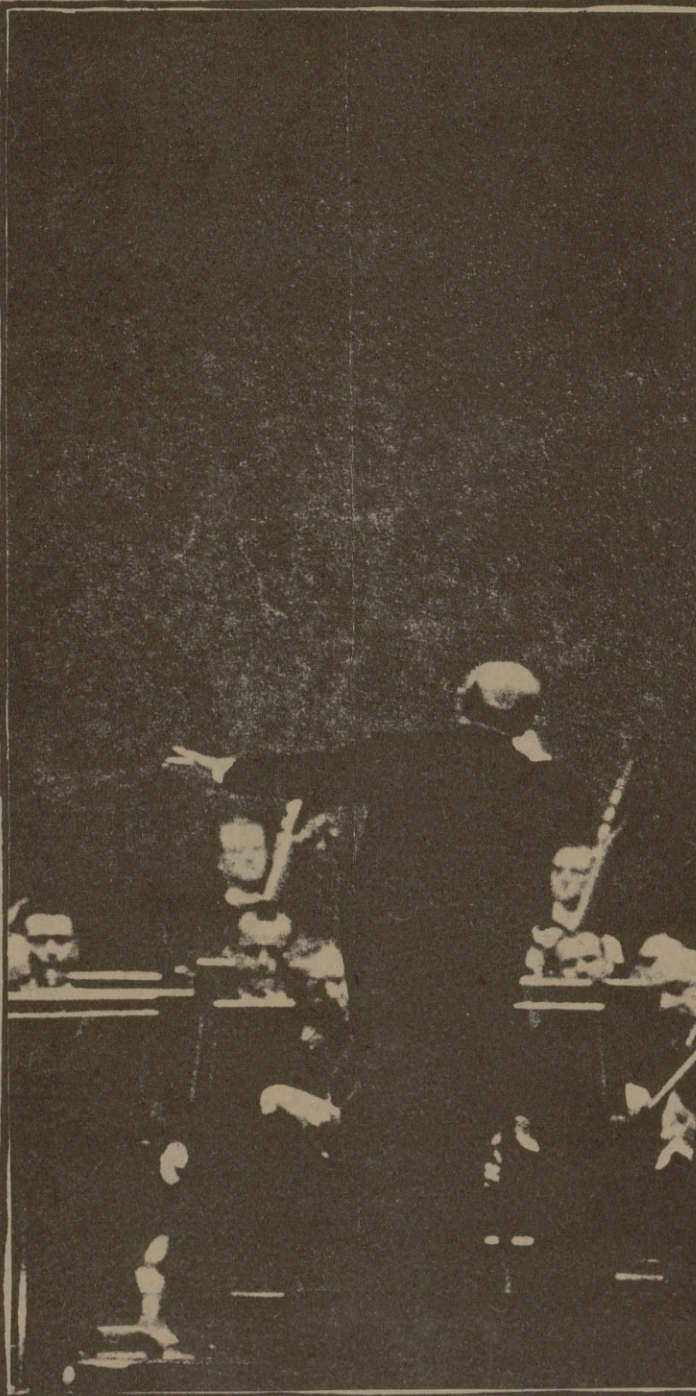

He will compete in a few selected invitational meets before the regular outdoor season begins.

Due to a recent NCAA ruling, Matson will not make definite statements concerning which meets he will enter because if he does, he then must follow through.

But, a tentative list of meets that he might enter are these:

- Jan. 1—Sugar Bowl, New Orleans.
- Jan. 7—San Francisco All-American Indoor.
- Jan. 14—Lubbock Indoor.
- Feb. 4—San Diego Sports Enterprises Indoor.
- Feb. 10—Will Rogers Games, Fort Worth.
- Feb. 11—Dallas Indoor.
- Feb. 18—Either Golden Gate, San Francisco, or Mason-Dixon Games, Louisville, Ky.
- Feb. 24—Maple Leaf Games, Toronto, Canada.
