

Scholarship Winner To Become Officer

The first Army ROTC scholarship program graduate in the Fourth Army area, Edward Allen Carrigo III of San Antonio, will be commissioned Saturday at Texas A&M University.

Carrigo, 23, is one of the first five scholarship program graduates in the U. S. and one of 87 graduates to receive gold bars. The Fourth Army includes a five-star area.

The U. S. Army awarded 400 four-year and 600 two-year scholarships in 1965-66, paying tuition, books, lab expenses, uniforms and equipment required for military courses and $50 a month subsistence. The number of four-year scholarships will be doubled in 1967-68. The pact may be used in any of 257 colleges and universities with senior division ROTC programs.

CARRIGO, son of Col. and Mrs. Edwards A. Carrigo, 434 Graham Road, Fort Sam Houston, received an Army ROTC two-year scholarship under the program begun in September, 1965.

Thirty-four cadets are attending A&M this year under assistance of the Army ROTC scholarship program.

Distinguished Military Student and Graduate, Carrigo will receive a Regular Army commission in the infantry. He reports to Fort Benning, Ga., Feb. 13 for officer basic in the U. S. Infantry School. The nine-week course will be followed by three airborne and the nine-week ranger course for Carrigo, who expects to be assigned to the 101st Airborne at Fort Campbell, Ky., after Benning training.

CARRIGO IS a Distinguished Student at A&M and member of the Town Hall staff, Great Issues committee, Wings and Sabres and shot on the Aggie rifle team.

His wife, Bernadette, is the daughter of an Army officer assigned at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. Carrigo graduated from Columbus, Ga., High School and enrolled at A&M from Panama, Canal Zone, where his father was stationed at Fort Colby.

The new second lieutenant will receive a bachelor degree in economics at commencement exercises Saturday morning.

Staffer To Talk At Hospital Meet

James R. Patterson, project director of a patient care facilities study in A&M's Research and Graduate Center, will address the Texas Hospital Association Institute on Coronary Care Jan. 26 in Dallas.

"Adaptable Building Systems for Hospitals" is the topic of Patterson's presentation at St. Paul's Hospital. More than 150 physicians, hospital administrators, architects and registered persons are expected.

Working prototypes of new hospital rooms developed by Patterson and his staff will be exhibited during the two-day institute. The A&M Research and Graduate Center is in the second year of a three-year study to make patient care buildings more adaptable to rapidly changing demands.

The research is supported by the U. S. Public Health Service. Other A&M representatives attending the institute will be Architecture Chairman Edward J. Romieniec, Research and Graduate Center assistant director George Mann, and graduate assistants Ronald Skaggs of Dallas, Joseph Smyth of Corpus Christi, John Westmoreland of Houston, Raleigh Lawrence and Douglas Ogilvie of San Antonio, and Larry Lammers of Teaneck, N. J.

Carey Enters Thesis Competition

Gary R. Carey, graduate student in industrial engineering, recently entered his master's thesis in the American Institute of Industrial Engineers Graduate Research Award competition for 1967.

The thesis is entitled "Optimization of System Redundancy under Multiple Constraints." A $500 cash award is given annually for the outstanding thesis in industrial engineering. The winning thesis is selected from nationwide graduate research.

Award funds are donated by United Airlines.

Nuclear Facilities Near Completion

Texas A&M University is expanding its nuclear-related facilities at a record pace.

Work is nearing completion on the building which will house the university's new cyclotron—largest in the South. The $6 million cyclotron complex is scheduled to begin test operations this spring and be in full service by mid-year.

A&M recently opened a new $2.2 million space science complex. The structure, built in cooperation with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), includes a new space research facility and a major addition to the university's Data Processing Center.

THE SPACE research center incorporates A&M's world-renowned Activation Analysis Laboratory.

In still another project, A&M's Nuclear Science Center is increasing the power of its reactor tenfold — from 100 kilowatts to 1,000 — by replacing the unit's present plate fuel elements with "Triga" elements. The National Science Foundation has provided $110,000 for the reactor modifications and the Atomic Energy Commission $126,000.

A&M'S NEW cyclotron will be an 88-inch, variable energy unit similar to the one at Lawrence Radiation Laboratory at Berkeley, but incorporating some later technological developments. It will accelerate protons to an excess of 50 million electron volts and alpha particles and heavier nuclei to an energy of 125 MEV.

Financing for the project was made possible by a $3 million AEC grant, $1 million from the Robert A. Welch Foundation and $2 million in university funds.

Another AEC grant, announced this past fall, will provide $400,000 for the cyclotron's first year of operation. These funds will be used primarily in support of low-energy nuclear physics research involving the study of atomic nuclei structure.

CAN YOU HEAR A Child's Heart?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

That poor doctor! All he can hear is a thump-thumping in his stethoscope. But parents can hear more!

They can hear their child's heart in his excited voice . . . in his pounding feet . . . in his noisy play. And the sounds they hear are full of happiness, and hope, and promise.

In his prayers, too, parents can hear their child's heart . . . reaching confidently toward the Love and Power that grown men sometimes forget.

But hearing a child's prayers is only one little gesture in the tremendous responsibility of nurturing the spiritual development of a Christian heart.

Like the doctor's stethoscope it's a kind of routine checkup before we prescribe what the patient needs.

The heart of a child needs religious example in generous doses which only his parents can provide. And the heart of a child needs spiritual truth, of which his family's Church is the convenient, trusted dispensary.
