

Aggies Host Mustangs In Final Home Game Tonight

By GARY SHERER
Battalion Sports Editor

The title-clinching Southern Methodist Mustangs will be at G. Rolie White Coliseum tonight for an 8 o'clock encounter with the Aggies.

SMU CLINCHED its third straight Southwest Conference championship Saturday night with a come-from-behind 85-84 victory over the Rice Owls at Houston.

This was the eighth conference title for SMU Coach E. O. (Doc) Hayes. The win made the Mustangs 10-2 in league play and they will enter the NCAA finals in March.

SMU's well-balanced attack accounts for the team's success this season. The first four starters, plus a sometime starter, are all averaging above 11 points for SWC play.

CHARLES BEASLEY, 6-5 senior forward from Shreveport, La., leads the Mustangs in SWC scoring with a 15.9 mark and is runner-up for the season with a 15.0 norm.

Denny Holman is the Mustangs' leading season scorer with a 15.5 mark and is second in SMU league-scoring with a 15.3 average. The 6-3 senior from Dallas was the hero in the Rice win, as he tossed in two free throws with five seconds remaining.

Bob Begert and Lynn Phillips are two other starters averaging in double figures. Phillips, 6-7 sophomore from Houston, is third in both season and league scoring for the Ponies, with 14.3 and 14.2 averages, respectively. Begert, 6-6 senior from Canyon, has a 13.5 SWC mark and is 13.0 for the season.

Bill Voight, sophomore forward from Dallas, though only a sometime starter, has a 11.5 season mark and is 10.5 for the conference.

WITH FIVE players in double-figures so often, the Mustang attack is hard to stop.

In their first game, played Jan. 7 at Dallas, the Aggies fell to the Ponies, 80-67. The Aggies will be looking for an upset to extend their home record to 7-3 for the season. Their SWC record is now 5-7.

The Aggies did not help their road record over the weekend as they dropped a Saturday afternoon game to the Texas Longhorns at Austin, 72-58.

IN THE GAME, the Aggies led most of the first half. But as has been the case for most of the losses this year, the young team lost its lead with about one minute to play and the halftime score read 32-31 for Texas.

Texas came out after intermission and put an attack together that was better than its first half performance, as they had been very sloppy in their play.

Where Texas improved, the Aggies didn't and halfway into the second stanza, the game was all but decided, as Texas was ahead by 52-42.

EIGHT MINUTES later, it was 64-49 as Noel Stout, the Longhorns' high-point man with 16, led the Texas onslaught.

The Aggies were only 41.9 from the field, as that second-half cold spell was the villain again. The shooting percentage for the Aggies in the second half tells just how much the cold spell gripped the Maroon and White.

Hitting on only 7 of 24, the Aggies had a dismal 29.1 from the field.

BILLY BOB BARNETT was again the outstanding player for the Aggies. The Brenham sophomore hit on six of 11 from the field and eight of 10 from the free throw line to take game honors for both teams with 20 points. John Underwood added 12.

The Texas A&M University System Board of Directors formally accepted more than $2 million in gifts, grants and scholarships Tuesday and took action on construction projects totaling approximately $2.9 million.

A&M's governing body also announced the appointment of a Nobel Prize winner, Sir John Douglas Cockcroft of Cambridge University, as a distinguished visiting professor of engineering.

Prairie View A&M figured prominently in construction projects considered by the board, receiving more than $900,000 for campus improvements, including a major library addition.

THE B-F-W Construction Co., Inc. of Temple was awarded a $444,300 contract for its low bid on the library expansion. The board allotted $554,341 for the project, with additional funds covering such items as furniture and equipment.

B-F-W was the successful bidder for another Prairie View contract, a $46,902 project to repair the school's Industrial Engineering Building. Bryan's B-W Construction Co. was awarded a $38,789 contract on its low base bid for repair of Spence Hall, the Music Building, dairy barn and an addition to the fire station.

The board also authorized $240,000 for continuing the program of upgrading Prairie View's existing dormitories and replacing damaged furniture, and $34,100 for replacing the cooling tower of the utilities plant and air-conditioning the president's home.

Glenda Phillips, a 17-year-old senior at Winnesboro High School was chosen freshman class sweetheart Saturday night at the Fish Ball in Sbis Hall.

Miss Phillips, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Phillips of Winnesboro was escorted by Richard Conley. Freshman class officers and advisors as well as 1967 Aggie Sweetheart, Kathi Austin chose Miss Phillips from seven finalists.

A 5'1" hazel-eyed brunette, Miss Phillips was presented a Texas A&M pin and officially "dropped" to the class.

Owing to a huge sale of tickets at the door, Freshman class president Gerry Geistweidt said the dance was a complete financial success.

Freshman class treasurer Bob Stevenson reported that "though not tallied yet, the total income will be about $1500." He also said that "there should be about a $200 profit which will be used to pay previous expenses."

The decorations, which were designed to highlight the theme of "Underwater in Blue" were handled by a committee of freshmen. Freshman volunteers also served as waiters for the dance.

The music was provided by the Yaks and the Aggieband orchestra. By having two bands, the usual breaks without music were alleviated.

Among the honored guests at the dance were President Earl Rudder, Dean James P. Hannigan and this year's Aggie Sweetheart, Kathi Austin.

The other six finalists for Freshman Sweetheart were Kathy Crews, Karen Cox, Betsy Stark, Deb Spurlock, Janet Feldmann and Cheryl Schneider.

Other survivors include Bullock's mother, Mrs. R. A. Bullock of Farmersville, two brothers and a sister.

Drill Team Wins 4 Firsts In West Texas Tournament

The Fish Drill Team swept all four first place trophies in the West Texas State College tournament, scoring 983 points out of a possible 1,100.

A&M's freshmen won firsts in inspection, basic drill, precision drill and overall to take four of five trophies given. New Mexico Military Institute was second overall in the weekend competition at Canyon.

Calvin Reese, team sponsor, said the performance was indicative of teamwork.

"The boys are learning to perform as a team rather than as individuals," he credited.

A perfect score of 200 in inspection was the sixth straight top award in the category, dating to the Purdue meet last year.

The Fish have been within 10 points or won precision in their last five engagements.

"The team needs to improve only in dress, cover and uniformity to get into good shape," Reese added. "The best thing they have going is their flexibility. They can't be shaken up."

He said the team found out 10 minutes before its precision drill at Canyon one member would be missing, due to a cut wrist.

"They learned of the blank in the formation just before going on the field, made necessary changes and went through the drill without a hitch," Reese said.

NMMI and West Texas will march in the A&M drill team competition March 11, Reese said. Other teams competing at Canyon were from Amarillo AFB and Texas Tech.
