Aggies May Apply For Theater Tour

Dr. John Q. Hays, English professor, will accept applications through April 15 for a July 6-Aug. 12 summer theater tour in France and London.

The World's Crossroads of Learning Inc., college credit course tour will fly from New York City to Paris for three days then journey to London for the rest of the five weeks to observe theater and theatrical training centers.

"The purpose of the tour is to enrich the college student's understanding of other countries and cultures, by supplementing his regular college courses with a well-directed study program abroad," Dr. Hays said.

HE IS THE local director for the summer tour arranged as a five-credit hour course through Rutgers University.

"The tour can be taken as an undergraduate or graduate credit course, with the student registering through Rutgers," Hays explained. "The five hours can then be transferred from Rutgers to his own school."

Though primarily designed as a college program, the tour can be taken by others interested in gaining insights to French and English plays, ballet, British theater, television and movie production, he said.

"The tour doesn't have to be taken as a college credit course," Hays continued.

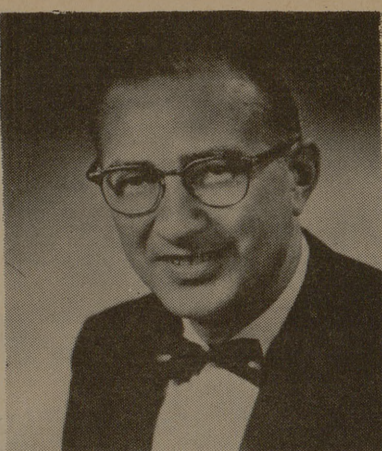

STUDENTS WILL study in 20 lessons a French play at the Comedie Francaise, British plays produced at London and Stratford from pre-Shakespearean through modern drama and playwright-producer techniques, actor's training, stage design and theater related-arts.

"Students will have opportunity to talk with actors and directors of current stage productions, enjoy ballet and see British TV programs and motion pictures being made," the professor added.

Minimum cost of the tour including air transportation, lodging at the University of Surrey, board, tips, excursions and theater tickets will be $950. Registration for the course through Rutgers will cost an additional $80.

Student requirements include good academic standing, character recommendations and "mobility, because moving from place to place will be required," the 1965 Fulbright Professor said.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Dr. Hays at 301-A Academic Building or phoning 846-4210.

Mrs. Roby Plans Houston Speech

"Side-tracking Dilemma With Public Relations" will be discussed by Mrs. Lorene Roby, president of the Lone Star chapter, National School Public Relations Association, at the Small School Administrators meeting in Houston Friday.

"This meeting is designed to help administrators with one very critical problem," Mrs. Roby said, "that of continuing the programs and services that have been added when federal funds are decreased or eliminated."

"The challenge is to move forward with these added services, by selling them to our communities and sidetracking dilemma."

Tulane Expert To Visit A&M

Dr. H. Warner Kloepper, human genetics specialist in Tulane University's School of Medicine, will speak here Tuesday.

The Danforth visiting lecturer will present a University Lecture at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Student Center ballroom. His topic is "Radiation and Human Genetics."

Dr. Kloepper's field of research ranges broadly throughout most phases of human genetics, with emphasis on the role of genes in the transmission of, or susceptibility to, diseases.

A native of Ohio, Dr. Kloepper earned his doctorate from Ohio State University. He has B.S. and M.A. degrees from Ohio University, and the A.B. degree from Muskingum College.

Prior to joining the Tulane faculty in 1952 as associate professor of anatomy, Dr. Kloepper was a zoology assistant at Ohio State, Zoology professor at Dakota Wesleyan, Sciences Division chairman and dean of men at the College of Emporia and academic dean and biology professor at the College of the Ozarks.

In addition to teaching at Tulane Medical School, Dr. Kloepper supervises research of several advanced students and directs the Genetic Counseling Center in New Orleans. He also is a member of genetics research teams seeking specific knowledge about genes associated with disease.

BIRD JUMPER

Balmy spring-like weather brings out the best in most people and in Florida such weather is prevalent. So what better thing is there to do than go jumping over sea gulls at St. Petersburg, Fla., beach. By the way, the bikini bird hopper is Judi Hopkins. (AP Wirephoto)

Bowling, Billiards Teams To Compete

Texas A&M's bowling and billiards teams will compete in an Association of College Unions Region 12 tournament in the Student Union Building on the University of Texas campus this week.
Perry Kinder, Fred White, Jimmie Guy, Jim Becht and Tony Stehling will enter the billiards competition.

All winners in the regional meet will compete with other regional winners in a national Association of College Unions tournament later in the year.
