Three-Man Team To Present Panel

By MIKE PLAKE

The Speakers Program of the 1967 Space Fiesta terminates Friday night with the Air University Aerospace presentation team.

This team was established less than five years ago to take the message of the country's aerospace program to the American people.

The title of tomorrow's presentation will be "The U. S. Space Program." It will outline the cooperative efforts of NASA and the Department of Defense in the national space program.

Film clips will be shown throughout the program depicting extravehicular activities, moon pictures made by Ranger, and animated movies of future space projects.

Those participating in the panel are Lt. Col. James S. Wall, Maj. Dannie R. Hoskins and Capt. David L. Frederick.

Lt. Col. Wall is a native of Eubank, Ky. He graduated from the Aviation Cadet Program as a navigator and was commissioned in 1944.

During World War II, he served as a navigator in combat missions against Japan. His actions in these missions gained a selection as Lead Navigator of the Air Armada that flew over the peace treaty ceremony.

He returned to college after the war and earned a Masters degree in education from the University of Cincinnati.

Lt. Col. Wall was recalled to active duty in 1950, and he flew 54 combat missions in Korea as a navigator.

Returning to the field of education in 1959, he was appointed to the faculty of the University of Cincinnati and in 1963 was assigned to the aerospace presentations team.

Major Hoskins, a native of Oklahoma City, graduated from the University of Oklahoma in 1953, after which he received a commission through the ROTC program.

After duty with the Strategic Air Command, Hoskins completed pilot training and serves at bases all over the world.

In 1962 Hoskins attended the Academic Instructors' School and was appointed AFROTC instructor at Southwest Texas State College.

Capt. Frederick is a native of Peoria, Ill. He earned his bachelor's degrees in 1959 at Bradley University. After completing jet training at Webb AFB, Texas, Capt. Frederick trained student pilots in all aspects of military undergraduate flying.

He has flown over 800 hours in combat duty over Southeast Asia. After completing his Vietnam tour, Capt. Frederick was assigned to the aerospace presentations team.

Movies produced by the Space Administration are being shown in the Memorial Student Center continuously from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Some of the subjects include "Apollo Lunar Mission Profile," "Gemini XI," "ONE For Zero," "Road to the Stars" and "Titan Rocket Power."

Senator Is Guest At Forum Lunch In MSC Friday

Texas A&M's Political Forum will host State Senator W. T. (Bill) Moore of Bryan at an informal noon luncheon Friday.

David Gay, chairman of the Political Forum, announced the popular local figure will discuss "Issues Confronting the State Legislature."

The luncheon will be in Room 2-C of the Memorial Student Center and is open to the public. People interested in having lunch should contact the MSC Student Programs Office before 5 p.m. today.

Moore is a graduate of Texas A&M and taught here for a year and a half. Following military service in World War II, Moore entered law school at the University of Texas.

He was elected to the House of Representatives in 1946, the same year he entered law school, and two years later was elected to the senate, where he has served ever since. He was the youngest member of the Senate in 1948 and took his seat two weeks before he graduated from law school.

Moore is the Fifth District representative to the senate. His district includes three universities, A&M, Sam Houston State and Prairie View.

Monique Play Opens Tonight As Second Major Production

By BOB ROBINSON
Battalion Special Writer

Take one unhappily married couple, Fernand Ravel, a traveling rifle salesman, and his wife, Lucienne, and then add one Dr. Monique Rigaud. The result is one body, quite dead.

The play is "Monique" and it opens at 8 tonight in Guion Hall. A sophisticated murder mystery that even Alfred Hitchcock would be proud of, it is the Aggie Players' second major production of the year. Written by Dorothy and Michael Blankfort, "Monique" was adapted from "Celle Qui N'etait Plus," literally translated as, "She, Who Wasn't" a novel by Pierre Boileau and Thomas Narcejac. Directing the Aggie Players production is C. K. Esten.

WHAT HAPPENS when Lucienne, played by Marie Crook, is very disappointed in her husband, Fernand, played by Dick Gustafson, but won't consider a divorce? And then there is the husband's point of view. Fernand is not much happier with a cold, constantly nagging and belittling wife who won't give him a divorce, no matter how much he begs her.

Then introduce Dr. Monique Rigaud, played by Jan Gannaway, who is a cold, calculating, shrewd, and incidentally, very attractive woman who has fought her way from a coal mining town to a medical degree. Fernand falls in love. The next logical step is someone's death.

THE METHOD by which this death is accomplished is quite intriguing and the audience is in a state of suspense from the time the play opens until the final curtain. Occasionally, this suspense is prolonged somewhat in the characters of Henrietta, the not-quite-honest maid in the Ravel household, played by Cynthia Smith; Gouttez, the interior decorator with an unquenchable thirst, played by David Risinger, and Andre, Lucienne's hypochondriac brother, played by Fred Rich.

PROVIDING THE question mark to a perfect crime is Merlin, the retired detective who knows something isn't quite right but isn't sure what, played by Randy Teipel. Sandra Rose plays Lisette, a teenage girl who believes she is in love with, and the only one to really understand, Fernand.

"Monique" continues Friday and Saturday and April 10-12. Curtain time is at 8 each night. Admission is $1.00.

WASHINGTON

President Johnson asked Congress to boost postage rates, including one cent each on letters, and to raise the pay of federal employees and members of the armed forces.

The administration may have to ask Congress to put a delayed fuse on President Johnson's tax surcharge plan, proposed for July 1, to get around a serious problem in timing.

President Johnson is reported to be planning no fight for Senate approval of a resolution pledging new U. S. aid for Latin American development at next week's hemispheric summit conference.

VIETNAM

Soviet aid shipped from Black Sea port of Odessa to North Vietnam has increased sharply over the past two months.

North Vietnam's civilian centers immune to bombing drew criticism from the U. S. Air Force Officers. Foul weather has limited air raids.

NATIONAL

Fire killed eight students and a professor in Cornell University hall which housed 71 persons. Eleven were injured.

A Philippine nurse who survived the mass murder took the stand in the Richard Speck case and named him as the man who entered her bedroom the night before the killing.

Defense and state attorneys at the Carl Coppolino murder trial exchanged court room barbs over pretrial investigation of the prospective jurors.

INTERNATIONAL

Vice President Humphrey got West Germany to promise to help the United States to stitch unity back into the North Atlantic Alliance.

Band Named Best In Fiesta Review

Results of the graded Space Fiesta '67 Review Monday named the Aggie Band as best marching unit in the review and best outfit in overall marching points for 1966-67.

With the results of this review in, the Aggie Band retains for another year the coveted marching cord as best marching unit on the campus.

Two units tied for second place in Monday's competition. They were companies F-1 and F-2. In over-all competition for the year F-1 captured second place and F-2 came in tenth.

Squadron 9 came in third overall with Company D-2 fourth, and Squadron 4 was fifth.

Fish Is Suspended After Drug Charge

A Texas A&M freshman was suspended Wednesday after he had been charged in Bryan with possession and sale of marijuana.

Texas Ranger O. L. Luther of Bryan arrested Robert R. Burnside, 20, of Torrance, Calif., as he left an early morning class. Burnside has been studying marine engineering at Texas A&M during the 1966-67 session.

Burnside was released on $2,500 bond posted by a Bryan attorney, John L. Sandstedt.
