

MSC Council Slates Dinner

The Texas A&M Memorial Student Center Council and Directorate Banquet is set Thursday night, with an estimated 36 persons to be honored.

Steve Gummer of San Antonio, president of the MSC Council and Directorate, said the banquet is the highlight of the year for the entire program.

To be honored are members of the various committees of the council and directorate as well as their faculty-staff advisors.

Gummer said up to 25 "Appreciation Awards" will be presented. Special recognition also will be given to persons winning the "Distinguished Achievement Awards."

Biggest prize of all is the Thomas H. Rountree Award, which recognizes an outstanding member of the MSC Council or Directorate who has made a significant contribution to the recreational, educational and cultural programs of the organization.

The Rountree Award was established last year in memory of Thomas H. Rountree, who was killed in an automobile accident in 1955. Gummer noted that Rountree earlier served the MSC Directorate and led the way in establishing outstanding student programs at A&M.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. H. Rountree, parents of Thomas H. Rountree, will present the award to a student who has attained prominence through his efforts to develop the MSC Council and Directorate objectives.

Among new council officers to be installed during the banquet are Scott Roberts of Austin, president-elect of the MSC Council and Directorate. Wayne H. Prescott of Houston will be installed as vice president of the organization.

A group representing the Student Senate will provide entertainment with songs, dances and skits.

Another spotlight event of the evening is the state of the union and farewell address by Gummer.

Summer Jobs Are Available At Placement Office, YMCA

Students who plan to go to summer school and want to work part-time may find a job for which they are qualified at the Placement Office.

Part-time jobs are listed and placed on a clipboard in the Placement Office. Some of the jobs are available now—some for summer and some are available now and will carry on through the summer.

After finding a job he is interested in, the student must sign on the form provided and get a reference list from Student Employment Clerk Mrs. Barbara Hudetts. The reference list serves to introduce the student to the firm or individual desiring help.

If the student secures a job on the Texas A&M campus, he must return to the Placement Office and complete a Student Part-Time Employment application. Another prerequisite for on-campus employment is a physical from the University Hospital.

Mrs. Hudetts emphasized that she did not secure the jobs for the students, but merely served as a liaison between employers and prospective employees.

Some of the positions available at the present time are for bricklayers and manual labor, farm workers, workers to assist in various departments of the university, and part-time help for Bryan-College Station businesses.

Mrs. Hudetts expects additional job listings to keep coming in, especially from area businessmen and university departments.

Rodeo Club Members Will Participate In Several Rodeos

Next weekend will be a busy one for Aggie Rodeo Club members who participate in intercollegiate contests.

Two rodeos are scheduled for the weekend. One will be at Lee Junior College at Baytown. The other will be at Stephen F. Austin State College in Nacogdoches.

Both rodeos are sanctioned by the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association and the results of these contests will be used to help compute the regional winners in the NIRA.

At present A&M's team is ranked fourth in the Southwestern region. After this weekend only two rodeos will be left in the season. A&M will host one of these May 4-6, the last one before the national finals.

Those participating in the contests compete as a team or as individuals. Points are given to those who place in either category; these points determine the regional college winner.

The 60-story Gothic tower that F. W. Woolworth built on lower Broadway in New York in 1913 was hailed as a "cathedral of Commerce." Woolworth thought of it as a "sky sign" to advertise his five and 10-cent stores.

Former Students Slates Banquet

The Former Students Association's induction banquet for the class of '67 is scheduled for 6:30 p.m., May 1, in Sbis Hall.

A different feature in this year's banquet will be the election of class representative. Before, the representative has been elected in a general election but this year, he will be selected at the banquet.

"In the past, selecting class representative in the general election has proved unsatisfactory due to the small turnout," Terrell S. Mullins, senior class social secretary, said.

Donald R. Cloud, '58-'59 cadet colonel of the Corps, will speak at the banquet. Cloud, also a graduate of the Harvard University Business School, is now in business in Fort Worth.

Free tickets to the banquet are available in the Former Student Association office in the Memorial Student Center.

Seniors interested in applying for class representative should see Mike Calloway in Dormitory 4, Room 417, or leave their name in the Student Program Office in the MSC, according to Mullins.

Elected for a five year term, the class representative gathers information for the news letter that is sent to members of the class each year and plans the first reunion at the end of five years when another election is held.

Ag Billiards Champ Plays

Mike Brown, pocket billiards champion of Region 12 of the Association of College Unions, will compete in the International Billiards Championships in Corvallis, Ore., this weekend.

Brown will compete with three other players for the collegian championship. He is currently rated second among the college players in the United States. A player from Purdue is rated number one.

Brown flew to Oregon from College Station Wednesday. All his expenses to, from and while at the tournament will be paid for by the Association of College Unions.

The Region 12 championship was won by Brown during the weekend of March 3-4 at an Association of College Unions' tournament at the University of Texas.

Livestock Show Scheduled May 13

The Little Southwestern Livestock Exposition and Livestock Show will be conducted May 13 at Texas A&M, James Brown, animal science graduate assistant, said.

All Aggies interested in participating are asked to contact Brown for full details.

Ballinger To Describe A&M Honors Program

Texas A&M's honors program will be described at a Southern Honors Symposium April 21-22 at Tulane University by Richard H. Ballinger.

The A&M English professor will present a paper, "Establishing an Honors Program at Texas

A&M University" at the symposium's first general session.

Chairman of A&M's honors program for freshmen and sophomores, Dr. Ballinger is one of several speakers, consultants and panel leaders who will discuss Southern colleges and universities programs. He holds a Ph.D. from Harvard and has chaired the A&M honor program since its inception in 1964.

"The program's aim is to offer the superior student special opportunities for academic work of range and depth appropriate to his capabilities and intellectual interests," Ballinger said.

The A&M program includes 65 freshmen and 52 sophomores from all university degree - granting colleges.

Automobile Holds Would You Believe Thirty Passengers

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Thirty people in one station wagon was enough for police officer Russell Leesburg.

He stopped the groaning vehicle in northwest Miami and said besides the driver, Flora Dickinson, it contained four persons on the front seat and 25 children, 1 to 2 years old, in the rear.

The woman was charged with operating an unlicensed nursery school and carrying a concealed pistol. She also was charged on two excessive passenger counts.

The children were taken to a welfare shelter while police sought to learn their parents' identities. They got virtually no help from the children, who were too young to tell.
