

Matson Day Set At Kyle Field

Saturday has been proclaimed "Randy Matson Day" by A&M students and College Station officials in honor of the Aggie world champion shot-putter.

Ceremonies for Randy have been planned for Saturday afternoon at Kyle Field when he makes his final home appearance during the Aggies' triangular track meet with Texas Tech and Baylor.

A proclamation will be read by Brazos County Judge W. C. (Bill) Davis stating that "James Randel Matson has brought numerous honors and world-wide recognition to himself, his university, community, state and nation through his phenomenal achievements in athletics..."

In addition to listing his various records, the proclamation cites Matson's earlier appearance this month at Kyle Field as "the most amazing double weight performance in the history of track." Matson set two new NCAA and American track records here April 8 with a 213 foot 9 1/2 inch discus toss and three shot put throws or more than 70 feet.

President Earl Rudder and Student Senate President Barney Fudge will present Matson with separate plaques representing the university and the student body, respectively.

The "Matson Day" ceremonies will give A&M students a chance to show their appreciation to Randy for the honors and world-wide recognition he has brought to A&M and the state of Texas.

It will also be the last chance for Aggies to see Randy perform at Kyle Field.

We urge all Aggies to include the "Randy Matson Day" ceremonies in their weekend activities and back Randy in his last home attempt to break another record.

Muster Honors Fallen Aggies

One of the oldest and most hallowed traditions of Texas A&M is being observed today as Aggie Muster is held in College Station and around the world.

The 5 p.m. ceremony will be on the lawn in front of the Systems Building and at approximately 300 other locations circling the globe.

Aggie Muster began in 1903 when the A&M Corps of Cadets gathered on campus to pay respect to the Texans who defeated the Mexican Army at San Jacinto in 1836.

This year's Muster will mark the 65th observance with musters being scheduled in more than 33 foreign countries.

In Vietnam, Musters are to be held at Bien Hoa, Nha Trang, Quien Nhon, and Saigon. Six Aggies died in Vietnam during the past year.

Other ceremonies are set in Turkey, North Africa, Australia, Bolivia, Japan, Labrador, Pakistan and Thailand. Traditionally, Muster ceremonies are much the same all over the world. At each location, someone will read the roll-call for the absent, and in each instance someone in the crowd, usually a friend of the fallen comrade answers "here."

Aggies should remember to observe the Muster ceremony today by paying tribute to those fellow Aggies who have died during the past year, those Texans who fought to make Texas free and the Aggies who gave their lives to keep America strong.

Extension Service Sponsors Law Enforcement Course

Texas A&M's Engineering Extension Service will host a 70-hour traffic law enforcement course May 8-19.

Wallace Beasley, coordinator of police training for TEES, said the course is basically for police officers although adjuster personnel from claims services may attend.

Beasley said the primary purpose of the course is to provide training for traffic officers and supervisors having traffic and accident investigation responsibility. He noted adjusters may be interested because of insight gained into existing methods of investigation and traffic supervision.

Among topics are methods of traffic patrol, skid marks, hit and run accidents, public relations, directing traffic, accident investigation and scientific aids for the traffic investigator.

TEES instructors, members of the Texas Department of Public Safety, the Texas Highway Department and a claims service representative will teach the course at the A&M Memorial Student Center.

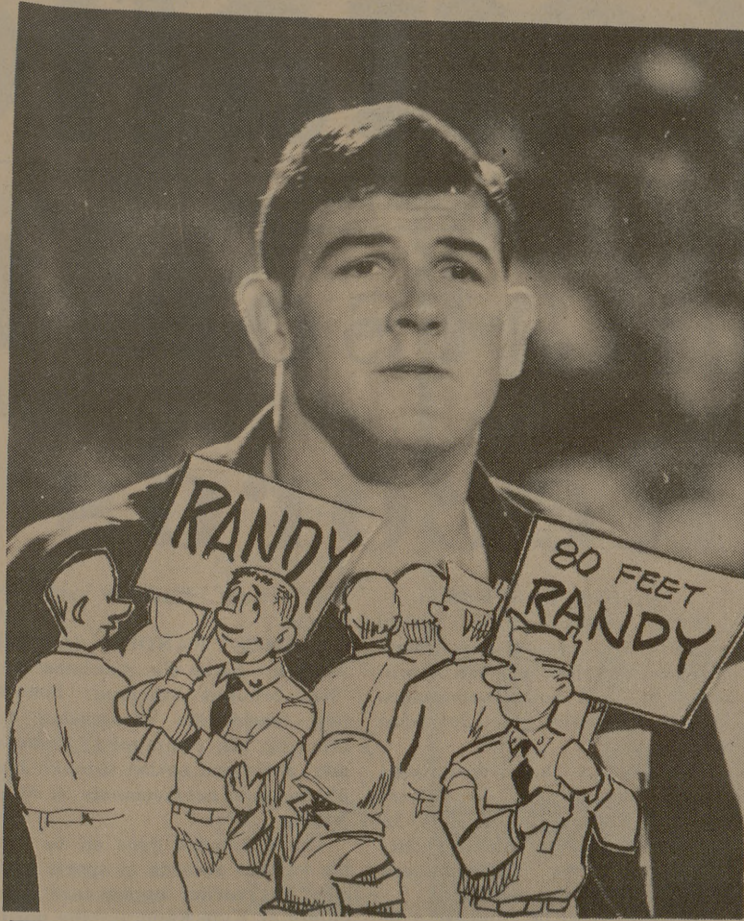

Certificates will be presented to officers who successfully complete the course, Beasley explained.

Air Force ROTC elements of Texas A&M's Corps of Cadets will be reorganized next September, announced Col. Vernon L. Head, professor of aerospace studies.

The 805th Cadet Air Division will be revamped with the air division staff composed of Air Force cadets on the Corps staff, the officer indicated.

More than 800 cadets in AFROTC will be organized into two wings of two groups each, Colonel Head added. Group assignment to wings and squadron assignment to groups will differ slightly.

"Reorganization is being carried out to simplify command line procedures," the ranking A&M Air Force officer explained.

Under the new organization, Squadrons 1, 2, 3 and 14 will be under the First Group; 4, 5 and 6, Second Group; 7, 8 and 9, Third Group, and 10, 11, 12 and 13, Fourth Group.

First and Second Groups will be under the First Wing and Third and Fourth Groups under the Second Wing, the colonel went on. Wings, groups and squadrons correspond to the Army's brigades, battalions and companies. Cadet commanders' rank will remain static. The air division commander—ranking AF cadet on the Corps staff—and wing commanders will be "three-diamond" cadet colonels, he said. Group commanders will wear the two-diamond insignia of cadet lieutenant colonels and squadron commanders will wear cadet majors, with one diamond

Win a free trip home to get money!

(Or enough Sprite to throw a loud party every night for a semester.)

Don't write home to get money. Just write a college newspaper ad for Sprite. You may win a free trip home to ask for the money in person. What should your ad say? How tart and tingling Sprite is. And how it roars! Fizzes! Bubbles! Gushes! And tastes! (And how!) Not too sweet. Not too innocent.

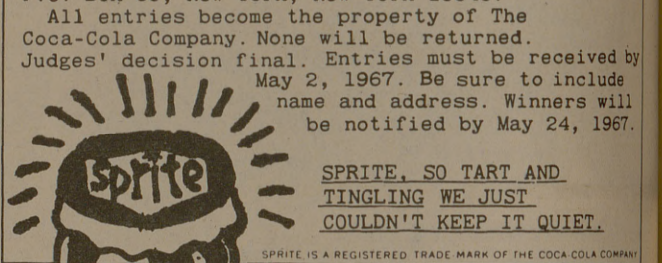

PRIZES

1st PRIZE $500 IN TRAVELERS CHECKS or 5,000 BOTTLES OF SPRITE

100 PRIZES OF $25 IN DIMES ...so if you can't go home in person, you can use the telephone to make your point.

RULES
Write your ad the way you think would interest college newspaper readers. Give it a contemporary, sophisticated flavor. (A few swigs of Sprite will give you the idea --though you don't have to buy anything to enter.) Neatness counts a little. Cleverness counts a lot. Your ad can be any length--if it fits this space. (But remember you're not writing a term paper.)

Send each ad you submit to Ads for Sprite, P.O. Box 55, New York, New York 10046. All entries become the property of The Coca-Cola Company. None will be returned. Judges' decision final. Entries must be received by May 2, 1967. Be sure to include name and address. Winners will be notified by May 24, 1967.

New Lot Set For East Side

Construction of a 500-car parking lot began recently east of the campus along the closed section of Farm-to-Market Road 2154.

The parking lot will extend from the baseball field to the U. S. Department of Agriculture building.

"All vehicles must be moved from this section," C. E. Bolton, assistant campus security chief, reminded. "Some were pushed by hand to make room for the new work Tuesday. Any vehicles not moved this week will be towed away and owners will be fined."

On March 24, 1944, in the Ardeatine caves near Rome, the Germans murdered 335 civilians—to teach the Italians a lesson.

DEATH IN ROME by Robert Katz

For the millions of readers of Barbara W. Tuchman's The Guns of August and Cornelius Ryan's The Longest Day, here is history in the same exciting manner: the tense, minute-by-minute true story of the 24 hours that led to the Nazi massacre of 335 civilians in the Via Ardeatine caves.

It begins in the last days of the German occupation of Rome. A Wehrmacht "police" column is ambushed in a narrow street by a group of Italian partisans. Half the Germans in the column are wounded, 33 are killed. The story builds to excruciating suspense as Himmler and Hitler, notified by telephone, hysterically demand the execution of ten Italians for every German—and the Gestapo grimly selects its "death candidates." Pope Pius XII remained silent, although he knew about the massacre in advance. Only one man, miraculously, escaped.

A masterpiece of reporting reveals the whole story for the first time. Price $6.95
