

Offense Stopped

The defense remained top dog in the latest first team match at Saturday's Kyle Field football scrimmage.

As the spring training progressed to the halfway mark, the "maroon" defense continued to show great promise, led by the heads-up play of Robert Cortez, Grady Allen and Gary Kitchens.

The defense stopped the offense on two series of downs and threw them for losses each time. As a reward, the "maroon" defenders went to the showers early.

In the offense's match against the second team defense, the running of Wendell Housley led to five scores for the maroons.

Housley scored three times and Edd Hargett and Charlie Riggs tallied once each in the five series of downs.

Housley scored the first time on a 10-yard strike through center, culminating a 70-yard drive. Riggs and Hargett took turns piloting the club in the successful drives.

The second team offense also was stymied by the first defense but did manage to make three first downs.

This week's schedule calls for workouts tonight and Wednesday, Thursday or Friday and a scrimmage Saturday.

Matson Continues Record Setting Ways In Relays

By JERRY GRISHAM

Randy Matson continued his record-breaking ways last weekend at the Drake Relays in Des Moines, Iowa as he won the shot put and the discus with tosses of 68-3½ and 189-7½.

Matson's shot mark was a new Drake Relays record and, with the dual win, he became the first athlete to win two events over three straight years in the 58-year-old track meet.

In all, nine meet records were broken and one was tied.

Jim Ryun, the world record holder in the mile, shared equal billing with Matson in the event as he anchored the Kansas relay team to a world distance medley relay record with a 3:55.6 mile.

Ryan ran the fifth best mile of his career as his team was clocked in at 9:33.8, two seconds off the world, American and national collegiate record of 9:34.0 set by UCLA in 1965.

TENNIS

The Aggie tennis team closed out the 1967 season with a victory, as they defeated the Texas Christian netters, 5-1, on the A&M courts.

The Aggies have come through with three victories in their last four outings.

"They started out the year playing like sophomores, which they were," Coach Omar Smith said. "But they ended up playing pretty well. They just need to get some experience."

The Aggies finished the season with a 12-24 record in Southwest Conference play. The freshmen closed out with a 10-3 season.

In Friday's action Pete Faust of A&M defeated Tommy Hill 6-3, 4-6, 6-2; Marcus Beleck of A&M beat Charles Williams 6-2, 7-5; A&M's Joe Tillerson beat Johnny

White 6-2, 7-5 and Terry Smith defeated TCU's Jeff Moore 6-4, 6-1.

In doubles Hill and Williams beat Faust and Tillerson 6-4, 7-5 and Beleck and Smith defeated White and Moore 6-4, 6-4.

GOLF

The Texas Aggie golfers, the 1967 Southwest Conference champions, finished up the 1967 season in match play Saturday with a 3½-2½ loss to the Baylor Bears on the A&M course.

The Aggies won the title earlier in the week when second-place Baylor lost its only hope for a shot at the championship by losing to TCU.

Number one player Lee McDowell had only been tied once in match play until Saturday when the Bears' Rick Rogers set him down, 3-2. McDowell fired a 73 for the afternoon, his first above-par round in SWC play.

Terry Archer of A&M suffered his only defeat in match play this season as Sam Boyd defeated him 3-1.

Bill Wade of A&M won the medalist honors with a 66 over Rick Rogers who turned in a 68. John Buffin of A&M downed Ben Haigans 4-3. Wade and Buffin were the only Aggies to win their individual matches.

FISH BASEBALL

The first three innings proved to be the undoing of the Aggie Fish Saturday as the Baylor Cubs got to starter Dave Larson for six runs and finally downed the Aggies, 7-0.

Boyd Hadaway replaced Larson in the third and allowed only one run the remainder of the game.

The Fish close out the season with a double-header against the Texas freshmen in Austin Saturday.

Aggie Nine Splits Pair With Baylor

By GARY SHERER

The Aggie baseballers were eliminated from any chance at the Southwest Conference title over the weekend in a two-game split with Baylor at Waco.

A&M WAS shutout, 5-0, Friday, but came back Saturday to top the Bears, 10-3, with nine runs in the last two innings.

The split makes the Aggies 6-7 in the SWC and 16-10 overall. Baylor is now 4-9 in the SWC.

In Friday's game, the Aggies could do nothing against the servings of John Bevil. Bevil ran his conference record to 3-3 and was in control all the way.

Rocky Thompson suffered his fourth conference defeat Friday. The Bears got to the Kilgore JC transfer for two runs each in the third and sixth innings, plus a solo tally in the fourth (a home run by the Bears' Rusty Black). Tommy Chiles came to Thompson's aid in the sixth and stopped Baylor for the rest of the game.

IN SATURDAY'S game the Aggie bats were again dormant for seven innings. Behind 3-1 going into the eighth inning, the Aggies got rid of Bear starter Rob Robinson with three unearned runs. Then in the ninth the Maroon and White got revenge on Bevil who had relieved Robinson.

It was fitting that the big blow of the inning was home run by Thompson who came on to relieve Walter Varvel in the eighth. Varvel had led out starter Bob Sanders in the sixth.

The biggest hit in the inning, however, came off the Bears' pitcher, Rick Butler. Butler walked Lou Camilli and Pat Rozykal to load the bases. As catcher Joe Staples teed off a Butler pitch and three runs scored ahead of Staples and backstop had four RBIs.

VARVEL PICKED up a third win of the year in the Sunday victory. He and Thompson each pitched two perfect innings in relief.

The Aggies' next action is Friday and Saturday at Travis Park. The opposition will be provided by Texas, which about wrapped up its 40th championship over the weekend in a two-game split with Southern Methodist. The Longhorns clinched at least a tie as a result of the weekend action.

Texas Christian remains second and SMU is still in the place, with the Aggies fourth. Rice and Baylor bring up the rear as this weekend will mark the end of the '67 season.

Aggie Golf Greats Rained Out Monday

The elements are the temporary winner of the second annual "Beat Our Pros" contest. A&M grads Bobby Nichols and Billy Martindale, both professional golfers, were rained out of their match Monday in the pro half of the contest.

The contest pits the handicapped scores of A&M entrants against the scores of Nichols and Martindale. The weatherman refused to be cooperative and the rain and hail came after the pro twosome had just completed the third hole.

At the end of three holes of play, the class of '63 was beating the class of '60 by two strokes as Martindale was one under par and Nichols was one over.

All of the entrants will still have a chance to beat the scores of the pros. The pair are entered in the Houston Champions Golf Tournament that begins Thursday in the "Space City." The scores that Nichols and Martindale card for the first 18 holes of that tournament (Thursday's round) will count in the "Beat Our Pros" contest.

This means that all the entrants who beat the scores made by the pros will win the contest.

Deadline for submitting entries July 1 and all rounds must be completed by June 3. When the round is completed, send in score card, handicap and entry fee of $5 to the Former Students Association, Box 7368, Texas A&M College Station, 77843. Payment not including a handicap will be their score adjusted by the lowly system.

Wildlife Profs Go To State Meeting

Three members of Texas A&M Wildlife Science Department will participate in a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department meeting Monday through Thursday at Austin.

Dr. Richard J. Balducci, Dr. James Teer and Dr. Jack Inglis will join approximately 50 members of the wildlife biology staff for the sessions.

Teer will discuss "Needs of Wildlife Research in Texas" and Inglis will review "Research Radio Tracking of Deer."

Inglis also will direct a tour of the Welder Wildlife Refuge near Sinton.
