Future Thailand Officer Trains in Corps of Cadets

THAI CADET REPORTS
 A Thailand Army general's son, Veerapun (Tom) Putamanonda, reports to Texas A&M's commandant, Col. D. L. Baker. Putamanonda, a sophomore in the Cadet Corps, was accompanied to the colonel's office by his roommate, Walter Dabney of Dallas.

A future Thailand Army officer is training at Texas A&M as a member of the Corps of Cadets. Veerapun Putamanonda, nicknamed Tom by his associates in Company D-1, is majoring in mechanical engineering and studying A&M's ROTC program. He is one of six Thailand students at A&M.

Tom's father is General Thanom Putamanonda, Chief of Staff chairman of the Thailand military establishment. Tom was born and raised in Bangkok and grew up in the regimented surroundings of the military.

General Putamanonda is a former professor of military science at the Thailand Army Academy.

THE A&M SOPHOMORE is a graduate of the Bangkok Armed Forces Academy, a prep school for the U.S.-sympathetic Southeast Asian nation's Army, Air Force and Navy Academies.

Putamanonda is under Thai Army contract and scholarship at A&M. On graduation, he will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the Thailand Army which he plans to make his career.

Tom transferred to A&M from Norwich University because of the salesmanship of his general father, a cousin and Walter Dabney of Dallas, his roommate.

"My father told me about A&M," the quiet-spoken cadet remarked. "I also have a cousin who attended A&M."

"I met Walter in Washington, D. C. He told me more about the university, its engineering and military programs. I became convinced I wanted to study here," the dark-haired young man added.

TOM, 22, WAS "adopted" by Dabney's family. Walter's father, John W. Smylie, 2712 Lovers Lane, Dallas, is a 1944 A&M graduate in electrical engineering. Walter, a recreation and parks major, also has a younger brother, Reynolds Dabney, attending A&M. He's a freshman in Company D-1.

"I spend my free weekends and holidays in Dallas with Walter's family," Tom said. It makes a big, happy group. The Smylies have nine children.

Tom's older brother, Teerawat, is studying for a masters degree in electrical engineering at the University of Maryland. The VMI graduate will also return to Thailand upon completion of his studies.

PUTAMANONDA has made a slow scholastic start at A&M after his year at Northfield, Vt., but he spends most of his time studying and has 57 semester hours toward his degree. His English is exemplary, learned in the last three years.

"Tom's a real sharp cadet," a Company D-1 junior noted.

Wildlife Science Major Finds Rare Snake

A rare Devil's River black-headed snake is getting a round-trip flight to Philadelphia because of the sharp eye of a freshman wildlife science student at Texas A&M.

Terry Hibbitts of Arlington snared the snake on a collecting trip near Del Rio. Dr. Richard J. Baldauf, acting head of A&M's Wildlife Science Department, said the find of the 20-inch snake is only the third known specimen.

Joe Torre is the player representative for the Atlanta Braves.
