Teaching Inst. Begins At A&M

Elementary teachers of educationally-deprived children will study advanced methods and the psychology of human development with lab work in the Bryan schools Headstart summer session in a Title I institute at Texas A&M.

The July 18-Aug 23 institute is offered for area elementary teachers through the Education and Psychology Department.

Director Dr. Walter A. Varvel stressed the limited enrollment institute centers on reading and provides special training in the use of audio-visual materials for teaching reading.

"In cooperating with the Bryan school system, the institute will favor laboratory work, through the Headstart program and remedial reading programs," he added.

Participants receive six semester hours graduate credit in the institute. Varvel will instruct one of two courses included, principles of human growth and development.

Hines To Retire After 25 Years As Accountant

Mrs. Louise Hines, accountant 25 years with Texas A&M's food service department, will retire July 31.

At an office party President Earl Rudder, Auxiliary Services Director Howard Vestal, Fred W. Dollar, food service director, and Mrs. Hines' co-workers recognized her 25-year service.

A Teague High School graduate who studied bookkeeping at East Texas Baptist College in Marshall, she joined the department April 1, 1942. She was a bookkeeper for Lone Star Gas at Teague and Bryan and worked in the Brazos County Tax Collector's office under Guy Harris and J. E. Tatum four years.

"Your zeal for accuracy and timeliness have been the subject of numerous compliments by personnel in other university departments," Dollar commended.

Mrs. Hines, office manager until three years ago, supervises a five-person statistical accounting operation and has handled total food accounts for Sbis and Duncan dining halls, the Memorial Student Center, Research Annex and A&M Adjunct at Junction.

Wife of Harold Hines, 2704 Texas Avenue, she plans to "keep house" after retirement.

"We have a house trailer and plan to do a little fishing," she remarked.
