

Beat The Pros Golf Tourney Won By Willis

Bill Willis of Beaumont, a Ph.D. candidate in education at Texas A&M University, won A&M's "Beat Our Pros" golf tournament with a sizzling 65.

The former Lamar Tech golf team member ripped the A&M course with a five-under-par round to edge second place winner Gary Sorensen of Bryan and third finisher Dewey Hoke of Navasota.

All three scratch golfers bettered the first round score of former Aggie golfer Bobby Nichols in this year's Houston Champions Tournament. Nichols carded a 71, several strokes better than another Aggie golfer of yesteryear, Billy Martindale.

Sorensen, a summer school student in civil engineering at A&M, toured the Bryan municipal course in 66 strokes. Hoke, last year's top performer in the tourney, posted a 67 at the Bryan links. He is a spring accounting graduate of A&M.

Travis Bryan Jr. of Bryan, tournament chairman, presented prizes to the winner in behalf of the sponsoring Association of Former Students. Willis won a set of irons. Sorensen earned a set of woods and Hoke received a pair of golf shoes.

Richard Weirus, executive secretary of the Association of Former Students, said $308 netted by the tournament will be contributed to the A&M Golf Team.

Aggie Swimming Coach Named To Swimming Pool Of Fame

Texas A&M's swimming coach of 34 years, Arthur D. (Art) Adamson, has been named to Texas Age Group Swimming's Pool of Fame.

TAGS President Wally Pryor presented Adamson among the first four honorees at a swim meet in Austin last weekend.

Inaugural Pool of Famers include Adolph Kiefer, Texas All-America backstroke; Jane Dillard, national champion in the 20s, and Skippy Browning, Texas diving great.

Adamson's accomplishments in swimming are numerous and include a citation from the King of England. But his most worthy achievements, according to parents of children in the program, have been the teaching of thousands of boys and girls to swim through College Station Recreation Council and other programs.

The A&M coach was a New Zealand national champion in the 100-yard freestyle three straight years as a young man. After his family moved to Chicago, he became the Illinois state 100 and 200 freestyle champ.

Matson Sets New Pan-Am Record

Two world record holders, shot putter Randy Matson and long jumper Ralph Boston, headed an impressive show of American track and field power in last Saturday's opening trials for the Pan-American Games.

Existing Pan-Am records were bettered in five of the seven men's finals and in five of the six women's finals contested before 7,726 at the University of Minnesota's Memorial Stadium.

Matson, Texas A&M's strong man, hurled the shot 68 feet, 7 1/2 inches, some six feet better than the Pan-Am record of 62-5 1/2 set by Parry O'Brien in the Chicago Pan-Am games of 1959.

Boston, who holds the world long jump mark of 27-4 1/4 and Pan-Am record of 26-7 1/4, won a berth in the impending Pan-Am Games at Winnipeg with a good leap of 26-2 1/2.

Closest to an outstanding record on the hard, crushed clay Gopher Track came in the 400-meter hurdles, won by National AAU champion Ron Whitney in 49.6 seconds. The world and American record is 49.1, held by Rex Crawley, while the Pan-Am mark is 50.2 owned by Argentina's Juan Pablo Dryska.

Other Pan-Am records surpassed in the men's competition were for the hammer throw, javelin and 3,000 meter steeplechase.

Terrell Sets Up Camp In Houston

Ernie Terrell returned to Houston Tuesday and set up camp for the first doubleheader world heavyweight boxing elimination series scheduled in the Astrodome Saturday afternoon, August 10.

This is the same Ernie Terrell who lost a 15-round decision in the controversial "undisputed" heavyweight championship fight with the deposed Cassius Clay last February 6 in the Dome—except for some minor changes.

Terrell, who will fight Thad Spencer in one of the 12-round elimination bouts, felt his camp "lacked something" when he was preparing for the Clay bout.

So, Big Ern (he's 6-foot-6, too tall for Army induction) cast aside trainer Sam Solomon and handed the duties to Wade Bolton, a Chicagoan who has been with Ern since 1962.

Adamson was swim coach and instructor at the Houston YMCA before moving to A&M in 1934. Aggie swimmers John Harrington and Tetsuo Okamoto became All-Americans under his tutorage.

The A&M mentor is past president of the College Swimming Coaches Association and serves on the TAGS advisory board.

It's Football Time In Texas Again

By JERRY GRISHAM

The 1967 "Texas Football" magazine hit the newsstands Tuesday and like the first Robin of Spring it heralded the beginning of the football season in Texas.

Now for a glorious two months before the first kickoff in September, proponents of each and every school throughout the state can either crow or rant and rave about the treatment given their team in this "bible" of Texas football. These pre-season dramatics are as much a part of the football season as the pre-game coin flip.

Southwest Conference teams rate the most attention in the magazine and since this year is considered by some bumper sticker buffs and the majority of sportswriters (Batt writer excepted) in the state to be the "year of the horns" (ho ho ho) a large number of pages and a lot of words are devoted to explaining why t.u. should win the SWC this year.

But this year, Aggies who want to read about A&M's chances on the gridiron don't have to thumb through half the magazine to find something near the back like "Aggies Just Might Come On Strong If . . ." Instead, the first thing you notice about the publication is the rather grim cover photo of the Aggies' Mighty Mo Moorman glaring defiantly at the lettering in the upper right hand corner, "A Longhorn Stampede, or a Towering Upset?" It's not too hard to figure what the big Aggie's answer would be.

The sportswriters voting in this issue have picked the Aggies as third place finishers behind Texas and Arkansas, but as the magazine freely admits the Aggies are quite capable of playing an upset hand. For the first time in the history of "Texas Football" the Aggies received a vote for a first place showing. It was only one vote out of 28 with the other 27 going to Texas but it was a beginning. And like the magazine says, in 1964 the Arkansas Razorbacks got only one first place vote and then went on to win the national championship. In the next two months Aggies across the state will point this fact out to others and then with a shrug of the shoulders and a gleam in the eye say, "Who knows?"

On page 43 "The Aggies Are Back," the rallying cry of the third Gene Stallings crew leaps off the page and provides a perfect backdrop to the article on the Aggies by Houston Post writer Mickey Herskowitz. And two additional features on Edd Hargett and Ross Brupbacher and his fellow sophomores provide plenty of pleasurable reading for Aggie fans.

Like we said, there's a lot of orange between the covers of the '67 "Texas Football" but there is just enough maroon and white to keep it from looking all pumpkin-colored.

REWARD FOR ARGENTINE GOLFER
