

Ags Have Fun Raising Funds

RECEIVES NEW ROLE

A quintet of Texas Aggies mixed business with pleasure to secure contributions for A&M's 13th Student Conference on National Affairs.

Three of the youths went to Mexico City while two others stopped off in Monterrey. In 10 days, the fund raisers subscribed $700 in donations toward SCONA's $18,078 budget.

"It's one of the most successful drives we have ever had in Mexico," commented SCONA Finance Chairman Henry Cisneros of San Antonio. "And the finance committee delegates gained a great deal of international experience."

Among the contributors was the Mexico City Aggie Club, which chipped in a $100 check. Other donations came from industrial and business leaders.

"We expect Mexico contributions to total $1,300 for a new record in Mexico," Cisneros added. "Altogether, we have pledges for $13,388 of the $14,000 that is to be raised through donations. The rest will come from delegate registration fees and the Memorial Student Center Great Issues Committee."

Paul Lockey, chairman of the Mexico finance drive, was joined for the Mexico City jaunt by Ralph Rayburn of Ingleside and Derrick Bonowitz of Houston. They dropped off Lawrence Stelly of College Station and Roger Engelke of Seguin to campaign in Monterrey.

"We visited with some of the top people in Mexico, attended an embassy party and a university party, saw the Ballet Folklorico in the Palace of Fine Arts, and toured the Museum of Archeology," Lockey recalled. "We also toured the pyramids, the floating gardens and the cathedral."

For the first time, Aggie fund raisers participated in the Experiment in International Living while on the campaign. They stayed with Mexican families and participated in family outings.

In Monterrey, Stelly and Engelke spent a lot of time visiting with the Mexicans and seeing the scenery.

"We went mountain climbing, to the bullfights, soccer matches and Horse Tail Falls," Stelly commented. "Our family took us to a fiesta in Saltillo where the Indian dancers put on a wonderful show."

"It was wonderful to visit with people who had fresh ideas and proposals for solutions to the war in Viet Nam," he added.
