P.S. "The girls are still playing here!"

Now take the newest multi-sensory trip: Walk to any soft-drink machine and have some Sprite.

THE EYE

It happens as soon as you pay your money and take your bottle. Suddenly, Sprite takes you, the hedonist, on your way to a sensually satisfying tactile-aural-palatable-optical-oral experience.

First, you observe the refreshing green bottle. A tempting sight. Then you reach forth and touch it. Very cool. Finally, you uncup the cap. Now you're ready to drink in that delicious tartness --but wait! Before regressing to the delightful infantile pleasure of taking your bottle, stop. And listen.

Because Sprite is so utterly noisy. Cascading in crescendos of effervescent flavor. Billowing with billions of ebullient bubbles. And then sip. Gulp. Guzzle. Aaaaaaah! Sprite. So tart and tingling o'er the taste buds. And voila! You have your multi-sensory experience.

But what about the olfactory factor, you ask? Well, what do you want for a dime--a five-sense soft drink?

THE MOUTH

SPRITE, SO TART AND TINGLING, WE JUST COULDN'T KEEP IT QUIET.

It's Not The Same Now

By GARY SHERER

Last year Coach Gene Stallings' Texas Aggie football team readied for their trip to Baton Rouge with an 0-2 record and some bruised football players.

This season, on the surface, it looks about the same. The Aggies have lost their first two games and are suffering from some bruises after their battle with Purdue last week.

Also, the team the Aggies will be playing, the LSU Tigers, are about the same as last year—a cecruising ball club!

This year LSU Coach Charley McClendon hopes he has quarterback Nelson Stokley healthy enough for a complete season. Stokley is the key to the Bayou Bengals' attack and last week he proved this fact to the Rice Owls.

Along with Stokley, LSU boasts a tough, heavy defense. In end John Garlington and linebacker George Bevan, the Tigers have two efficient defensive performers. Coach Stallings also brought out at his press conference this week that LSU has their usual tough ball club.

However, things aren't the same as last year. This is the same team as last season but with a year's experience under their belts. Last year's club only had 16 points scored at this point in the season, this year's edition has 37. Once more, the defense has given up less than 15 last year.

Things definitely are different and Saturday night's match with the Tigers and next week's meeting with the Florida State Seminoles will go towards showing how different.

With the present abundance of injuries, both offensive and defensive lineups have plenty of either/or situations facing them just prior to Saturday night's kickoff. The only players that probably won't play are senior defensive end Grady Allen and sophomore lineman Bill Kubecka. Both have shoulder problems.

Last week, Aggie quarterback Edd Hargett went to the air 34 times, while the week before running had been the offense. Stallings hopes that LSU won't know what to expect from his Aggie offense Saturday night.

The running attack may be hampered somewhat with Wendell Housley and Larry Stegent hampered with injuries. Both will be ready to play, however, by game-time. Sophomore Ross Brupbacher should see more action and fullback Bill Sallee is also ready to go. The receiving corps is in good shape with Bob Long, Tommy Maxwell and Tom Buckman all sound and ready.

Last year, the Aggies battled the Tigers to a 7-7 tie. The second half of that game, the Aggies pushed LSU all over the field but couldn't get the winning score. What was significant about that game was that the Aggies got their offense in gear. After that game, the Maroon and White rolled up three straight Southwest Conference victories to take the early conference lead.

Another tough game for the Aggies, but that road back is starting to take shape. So hold on to your bumper stickers and watch out, LSU!

HANDOFF!

The Aggie offense goes through a running play as they prepare for Saturday night's crucial battle with LSU.

Soccer Team Plays LSU

Texas A&M's soccer team tests its offensive strength Saturday in a 2 p.m. match with Louisiana State at Baton Rouge.

The team, 10-1 victor over Allen Academy last week, will attempt to promote defensive efforts to go with the scoring punch provided by Abdelhamid Zid of Zaghouan, Tunisia, and Ramiro Rubio of Lima, Peru. Defensively, the Aggies can count on goalkeeper Carlos Guerra of Maracaibo, Venezuela; Armando Velarde, Lima, and Geoffrey Matthews, Washington, D. C.

Six players scored in the first win, with Zid contributing three goals from his forward position.

The team plays in the Texas Collegiate Soccer League with Trinity, TCU, Texas, St. Mary's, Schreiner, Rice and the University of Houston.

Ag Ping Pongers Prepare For Year

The Texas A&M table tennis club selected the official university team and elected club officers at their initial meeting Wednesday night at the MSC.

Officers are: chairman and captain, Kuman Mitra; secretary, Peter Yau; treasurer, Steve Siple.

The team will meet for practice sessions every Wednesday night from 6-9 p.m. in the MSC basement.
