

United Chest Campaigners Named By Drive Leader

Dr. Jack Coleman and Herb Shaffer have been named associate directors for College Station's $22,500 United Chest drive Oct. 16-31, announced Joe Sawyer, campaign director.

Sawyer said Coleman will head the Texas A&M fund-raising activities and Shaffer will be in charge of the off-campus campaign.

Dr. Coleman is head of the Accounting Department in A&M's School of Business Administration. Shaffer is owner of Shaffer's University Book Store.

Sawyer, vice president of University National Bank, also announced the appointments of Jack Bradshaw and W. Taylor Riedel to key positions in the United Chest Drive.

Bradshaw, an official of the state's Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Committee, will serve as chairman for federal agencies.

Riedel, superintendent of the A & M Consolidated Independent School District, is chairman for the drive in the school system.

A chairman to head the program for retired persons will be named soon, Sawyer noted.

"With the caliber of the men we have selected for these important positions," the campaign director remarked, "we are looking forward to an excellent campaign—one that will quickly raise the necessary funds to allow the United Chest to meet its goal and serve the community."

Sawyer said 13 charitable and civic organizations will share in the funds raised this year.

Listed below are the sharing agencies and the amounts approved by the United Chest board of directors:

College Station Local Chest Charity Fund, $1,900; College Station Community House, Inc., $1,800; College Station Recreational Council, $2,500; Boys' Club of America, $3,000; Brazos Committee on Alcoholism, Inc., $150; Brazos Valley Rehabilitation Center, $2,500; Brazos County Counseling Service, $2,500; Salvation Army, $1,000; Girl Scouts Area Council, $2,000; Boy Scouts of America, $2,000; American Red Cross, $2,000; Texas United Fund, $100, and USO, $300.

Graduate Students To Sub For Brazos Math Teachers

Graduate students in civil, mechanical and aerospace engineering at Texas A&M are volunteering special services to area high schools as members of the Brazos Chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers.

Their action is part of a program to cooperate with high school mathematics and science teachers by serving as substitute teachers when needed.

Take this coming Friday, for instance. Eleven graduate students will substitute in four Bryan schools to allow regular teachers to attend the 14th annual conference for Advancement of Science and Mathematics Teaching.

Dr. C. H. Samson Jr., president of the Brazos Chapter of Professional Engineers, said the substitute teacher program was devised by the Education Committee of the chapter to serve the public, students and teachers.

Bryan is the first school to accept the chapter's offer of community service, but the program is open to schools in Brazos, Washington, Burleson, Milam, Leon, Grimes, Robertson and Walker counties.

Civil engineering majors who will teach Friday include Patrick McCoy of Atlantic, Iowa, Richard Smith of Houston, Jacob Nicholson of Amarillo, Patrick Torrans of Tyler, Alvin Meyer of Weatherford, and Kenneth Koch and Ronald Hallenberger of San Antonio.

Participants from mechanical engineering will be Edward Bailey of Medina and Tom Asbill of Dumas, with aerospace engineering represented by Norris Cano and Bob Stiles of San Antonio.

A&M Officials To Participate In Nov. Houston Symposium

Three Texas A&M officials will have key roles in a nation-wide education symposium, "Manpower for Oceanography," in Houston Nov. 20-21.

The symposium, listing speakers from all major oceanographic institutions, Congress, government agencies and industry, is sponsored by the American Society for Oceanography and the Gulf Universities Research Corp.

Dr. John C. Calhoun, A&M vice president for programs, is president of GURC. ASO president for 1967-68 is Dr. Dale F. Leipper, oceanography professor at A&M.

Leipper and Oceanography Department Head Dr. Richard A. Geyer will speak in the first program session. Chairman of the Tuesday morning, Nov. 21, session will be Dr. Horace R. Byers, Geosciences College dean.

The program also includes Congressman Paul Rogers of Florida; Robert Abel, head, Office of Sea Grant Programs, National Science Foundation; Navy Capt. T. K. Treadwell, deputy commander, Naval Oceanographic Office; Cecil H. Green, Texas Instruments and M.I.T. benefactor, and Andreas B. Reznitz, North American Aviation.

Leipper said representatives from government, industry and some 800 universities across the U. S. are expected to attend the symposium.

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Don Walsh, oceanography doctoral student at A&M, is a member of the society board of directors, along with Geyer.

A&M To Receive Air Force Base For $5.25 Million

WACO—One of the largest state-federal real estate transactions in the history of Texas will be performed here Saturday when Gov. John Connally formally executes the $5.25 million purchase of James Connally Air Force Base.

The 2,100-acre base, currently in the process of deactivation, is being converted into James Connally Technical Institute, a vocational training center operated by Texas A&M University.

Gov. Connally will present the documents to purchase the facility during 11 a.m. ceremonies officially dedicating Connally Tech.

The day's activities, which also mark the institution's first annual Parents Day, begin with an open house at 9 a.m. and a supersonic-aerospace display at 10 a.m. The display will include a variety of aircraft, ranging from an old Ford tri-motor to a B-58.

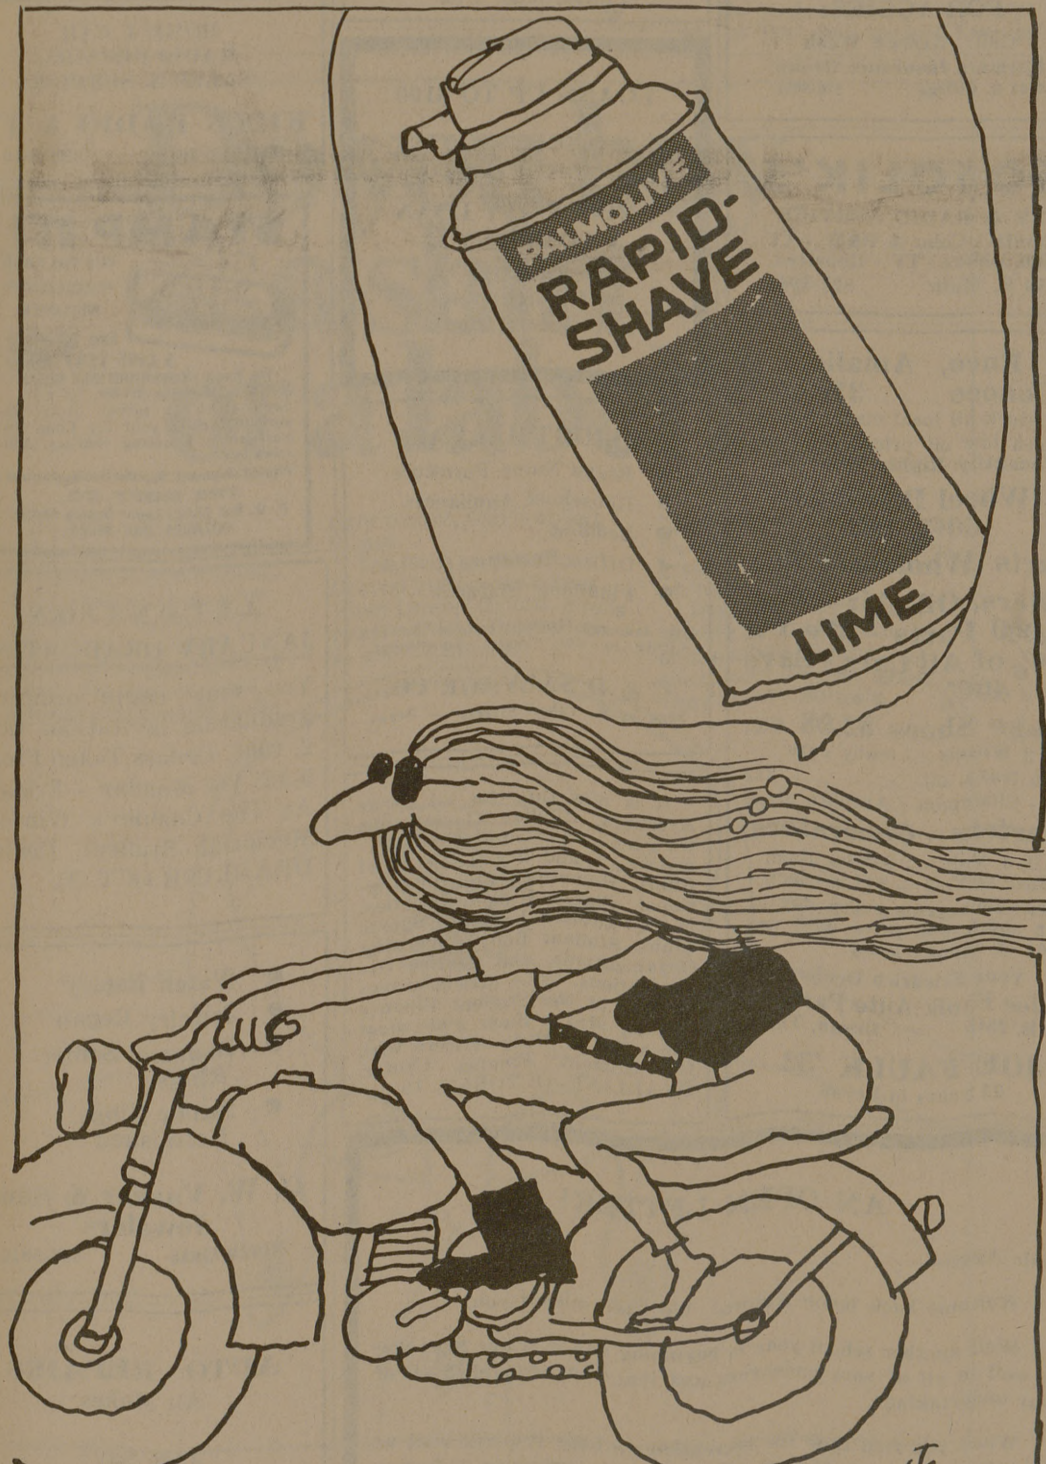

Dr. Roy Dugger, Connally Tech director, said more than 10,000 persons are expected to attend the open house and dedication.

Lawson Knott of Washington, D. C., head of the General Services Administration, will accept the purchase documents for the federal government and make brief remarks following Connally's keynote address. The Department of Defense will be represented by Don Bradford, also of Washington.

Daringly new! Chevrolet's new line of Super Sports for '68.

Computer-tuned suspension systems. Improved shock absorbers. New double-cushioned rubber body mounts. They all team up to bring you the smoothest, most silent Chevrolet ride ever. A fresh new idea in ventilation comes standard on every 1968 Camaro and Corvette. It's Astro Ventilation, a system that lets air in, but keeps noise and wind out. You'll appreciate all the proved safety features on the '68 Chevrolets, including the GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column and many new ones. More style. More performance. More all-around value. One look tells you these are for the man who loves driving. One demonstration drive shows why!
