

Economics Department Increases Staff Size By Ten

Ten new faculty members have been added to the Economics Department.

Nine of the newcomers hold Ph.D. degrees and the tenth newcomer will receive his Ph.D. this summer.

In addition, each member of the staff is involved in research in his major field of interest. DR. JOHN ALLEN received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Illinois in 1967. His dissertation was on "Illinois Interregional Trade." He is especially interested in Regional Economics, International Economics, and Regional and Urban Analysis. Interested in Regional Science and Development, Industrial Economics, and Plant Location, Dr. Bert Bowden has written several articles. In addition, he was co-author of the book, "Economics," published in 1960 by Alexander Hamilton Institute. He received his Ph.D. degree in 1958 from Duke University.

DR. BOB EKELUND received his Ph.D. degree from Louisiana State University in 1966 with honors. In that same year he published articles in the "Southwestern Social Science Quarterly." His main interests include: History of Economic Analysis, Macroeconomics, Regulated enterprise to a lesser degree, and International Trade and Finance.

Dr. Eirik Furubton has had several recent publications in the "Southern Economic Journal" ('62, '63) and "American Economics Review" ('64, '65, '66). His major fields of study are Microeconomic Theory and Growth Economics. He received his Ph.D. degree at Columbia University in 1959.

Dr. Charles Maurice is especially interested in Mathematical Analysis, and Econometrics. His dissertation was entitled "Change, Uncertainty, and Industrial Concentration." He received his Ph.D. degree at the University of Georgia in 1967.

DR. PHILIP GRAMM recently published a book entitled "Readings in Economics from the Masters with an Introduction to the Language of Logic of Economics" under the sponsorship of the Educational Research Council. He received his Ph.D. degree in 1967 from the University of Georgia.

Author of "The Market-Planned Economy of Yugoslavia," published in 1966 by the University of Minnesota Press, Dr. Svetozar Pejovich received his Ph.D. degree at Georgetown University in 1963. He also has articles published in the "National Tax Journal" and "Western Economic Review." His major interests are in Monetary and Fiscal Theory and Regional Economic planning.

DR. HORST SIEBERT received his Ph.D. degree in Germany at the University of Munster in 1965, with honors. His major interests include: Economic Theory, Regional Science, Regional Income Accounting, Regional Resource Management, International Economics Policies, and Economic Development Theory. His book "On The Theory of Regional Growth" was published in 1967 by J. C. B. Mohr (P. C. Siebeck), Tubingen.

ALAN WATERS expects to receive his Ph.D. degree from Rice University in June 1968. His main interests are Economic Theory and the History of International Trade and Finance. He is co-author of the book, "Planning for Profit and Prosperity" published by the East African Publishers, Nairobi, Kenya in 1967.

Deposits Mirror Student Growth

Texas A&M University-related growth is reflected in the response of College Station and Bryan banks to the latest "bank call."

Total deposits in the five banks at the close of business October 4 hit $67,438,539, an increase of $14,423,621 over the year-ago figure of slightly more than $53 million.

First Bank & Trust of Bryan again recorded the largest single deposits increase. Deposits at the close of business October 4 totalled $25,990,061 at First Bank & Trust, a gain of $5,018,900 over last year's $20,971,161.

First National Bank of Bryan reported an increase of $3,596,384. Deposits totalled $12,886,099 compared to $9,289,715 last October.

City National Bank ranked second in total deposits and third in increase. Deposits on the "bank call" date aggregated $15,97,081, a rise of $2,341,087 over the $13,645,087 a year ago.

The Bank of A&M in College Station added $1,786,575 to last year's deposits of $1,959,875 for an October 4 total of $3,746,450.

The bank almost doubled its deposits in 12 months for a record growth of the bank headed by President D. H. Goehring, former Texas Aggie football great. University National Bank deposits climbed to $8,828,848 for an increase of $1,679,768 over last October's $7,149,080.
