

TCU Player - Scout Impressed With Aggie Attack

FORT WORTH (AP) — Leslie "Cubby" Hudler took a busman's holiday last weekend, sitting in on Texas A&M's storybook victory over Texas Tech at Lubbock.

The tough little Texas Christian University senior came away convinced that he and other members of the TCU defensive secondary face a heavy bombardment Saturday night when they play A&M in Fort Worth.

The Aggies bring Edd Hargett, the Southwest Conference's leading passer, with them. Hargett hit 15 of 34 passes for 233 yards and three touchdowns against Tech, bringing his total yardage to 849 and six touchdowns.

"He hurt Tech with the same pass that killed us last year, to the fullback in the flat," said Hudler. "That is to the fullback Bill Sallee, who is the third man out. He was open all evening."

Hudler added, "Hargett overthrew him a lot when the pressure was on."

Watching Hargett from the stands for the first time, Hudler was amazed at the Aggie quarterback's accuracy.

"When Tech dropped back instead of pressuring him, he would lay the ball right in there. He throws a real soft pass. It doesn't look as if he could throw more than 20 yards with it," he said.

"But I remember one time he let go with a pass that traveled over 60 yards in the air."

Hudler says Hargett is like the pro quarterbacks. He likes to throw the bomb right after a fumble recovery or an interception by the Aggies.

Hargett completed 15 of 30 passes for an A&M record of 309 yards against TCU a year ago.

However, the thing that Hudler remembers most is the faked fourth down punt the Aggies pulled that set up the second touchdown.

"We were in the game until then," he said. "I thought it was a quarterback sneak. But it went to the fullback Sallee who ran about 25 yards for a first down."

One criticism of TCU's play against the Cadets in 1966 was the poor pass rush. Hargett, at times, stood behind his wall and counted the house before throwing.

"A&M never did hurt Tech running," Hudler noted. The Aggies made 59 yards rushing.

Hudler also was amused at Tech's play selection each time the Aggies' All-American candidate Mo Moorman would come in on defense on a third-and-two or third-and-one situation.

"Tech made a point of running at Moorman every time," he said. "They would make it, too."

Hudler is convinced of one thing. The Aggies don't roll over when things go wrong.

"They kept coming back," he said. "They didn't give up."

Frog critics this year contend that something TCU should learn.

AP Picks The Aggies

NEW YORK (AP) — If you escape a plane accident, the advice is to take another flight quickly. If you're flattened by a punch, come up swinging.

Don't let yourself get punchy. So after being bloodied by last week's ill-fated jabs at No. 1 Southern California and No. 2 Purdue, we take off on another flip—Washington to upset the top-ranked Trojans.

Last week: 39-16, .709 season: 229-75, .753.

Texas A&M 23, Texas Christian 20: Quarterback Edd Hargett has a flair for pulling off last-gasp victories.

Purdue 27, Oregon State 7: The Boilermakers continue to prove they are candidates for the national championship.

Washington 20, Southern California 14: The Huskies are at home and eager and have a good defensive club. The Trojans left a lot at South Bend.

Alabama 22, Tennessee 14: The tough Vols might have won this if quarterbacks Dewey Warren and Charley Fulton had stayed healthy.

Colorado 20, Nebraska 18: The Buffaloes want to get even for that 21-19 loss last year that knocked them out of the conference title.

UCLA 17, Stanford 7: Coach Tommy Prothro and proteges have their sights fixed on the No. 1 national ranking, and may get it.

Texas 15, Arkansas 10: The Longhorns have some recent scores to settle and have the defensive might to do it.

Notre Dame 26, Illinois 0: It's a good thing the groggy Irish don't face a more potent foe after their battering by Southern Cal.

Clemson 18, Duke 10: Frank Howard's Tigers find pickings a bit softer in their own Atlantic Coast Conference.

Syracuse 14, California 7: The big Orange team should snap back smartly from its loss to Navy; should have size and speed edge.

Auburn 20, Georgia Tech 13: The Plainsmen are proving one of the most underrated teams in Dixie.

Meredith Is Out For Steeler Game

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dallas for the second straight week will have to go without ace quarterback Don Meredith but Coach Tom Landry said he thought his Cowboys would do well against Pittsburgh Sunday.

Meredith spent last week in a hospital with a fractured rib and pneumonia.

Landry said Meredith would work out for the first time since the injury on Thursday but that he couldn't imagine using him unless he had several days of good practice.

"I don't plan to use him Sunday at Pittsburgh and probably will start Craig Morton with Jerry Rhone backing him up," said the coach.

Morton was the quarterback last Sunday when Dallas beat New Orleans 14-10 in the mud.

Safety Mel Renfro also probably will miss another game, Landry said, but otherwise his squad is in good shape with defensive tackle Jethro Pugh, who was hurt in the New Orleans game last Sunday, coming around faster than expected and able to start against the Steelers.

TOUCHY FELLOW

RYE, N. Y. (AP) — The pros tell this one following one of the pro-amateur rounds on the PGA tour:

"You can pick it up," the pro told the 25-handicap golfer who was on the green in seven strokes.

"We have a couple of guys who will get par for the team."

The duffer shot back:

"You play your game and I'll play mine."
