ggie Football Team Has Mighty Mo No Mo'

Che Battalion

Saturday-Clear, partly cloudy, winds easterly 10-15 m.p.h. High 73, low 43. Sunday — Partly cloudy to cloudy, winds southerly 10-15 m.p.h. High 76, low 52.

VOLUME 61

m 9:00

$1.50

$3.00

$2.50

$2.00

holder

COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1967

Number 493

To Review Corps

ourth U. S. Army commander, of North and South Koreo. will be reviewing officer for the to the 1:30 p. m. Texas A&M-Baylor football game Saturday. The Texas Aggie Band will be-Kyle Field track at 12:20 p. m., nounced Col. Jim H. McCoy, A&M commandant.

On the reviewing stand with eneral Lincoln will be President Earl Rudder, Col. McCoy and Col. ernon L. Head, professor of erospace studies.

Corps Staff, headed by Cadet olonel of the Corps Lonnie C. linze of Houston, the band, 14 quadrons and 16 companies will participate in the march-in.

A 1933 U. S. Military Academy raduate, General Lincoln was ppointed 4th Army commanding eneral last July, from deputy hief of staff, logistics, at Deartment of the Army headwarters in Washington, D. C. He was commissioned in the orps of Engineers and received is degree in civil engineering rom Princeton University. The general, 58, served in the outheast Asia Command and siatic Theater in World War II. le also served in Korea, Moroc-, Italy, Ryukyu Islands and kinawa. Following WW II he ras one of five U. S. commissionrs on the Joint U. S.-Soviet. mmission in Korea, seeking graded Corps of Cadets march-in ing general and commandant of the Army Engineer Center at Fort Belvoir, Va., and was also director of plans and materiel in playing Corps units onto the and assistant deputy chief of staff, logistics, for programs and budget at Washington, D. C.

His last Pentagon assignment carried general staff responsibility for world-wide management of Army logistics.

AF Test Deadline Set Wednesday

Students wanting to take the Air Force Officer Qualifying Test (AFOQT) must contact Capt. Samuel J. Boles in the Aerospace Studies Department by Wednesday.

The test will be administered Nov. 4 to freshmen who failed to qualify on the pre-enrollment test for AFROTC, applicants for the Air Force two-year program, applicants for an Air Force contract who previously failed the test, students desiring to upgrade to pilot or navigator status and applicants for Officer Training School (OTS).

Students retaking the test must have allowed a full calendar year to elapse before being eligible, and those pilot and navigator candidates must retake the whole test.

4th Army Chief Football, Johnny Rivers Gen. Lawrence J. Lincoln, marth U. S. Army commander, In be reviewing officer for the In be reviewing officer for the

TEXAS ASSEMBLY LEADERS

Five panel members for "Texas Assembly—'67" being held here this week look over the conference schedule. From left, they are C. A. Tatum Jr., president of Texas Utilities; Peterson, president of the Texas A&M University System Board of Directors; H. C Heldenfels of Heldenfels Brothers Construction Co. and also a member of the A&M Board; H. G. Austin, senior vice president and director of Brown and Root, Inc., and Ab-ner McCall, president of Baylor University.

Lieutenant Governor Warns Against Federal Authority

A general warning against continued delegation of authority to state level was sounded here to- executive," Smith asserted. day by Lt. Gov. Preston Smith.

"I do think, however, that some the federal government and loss of our members must become less study the legislative history of of legislative independence on the timid in their dealings with the the past session where 41 Consti-

"I know of no greater trend of them have been under "great while the House was introducing and weaving through the campus, certain to involve Lt. Gov. Preswhich we must reverse than that pressures" from the executive to some 63 amendments and 1,367 ending at Kyle Field. vote certain ways on various bills.

"THE EXTENT of these burdens becomes obvious when you tutional amendments and 628 bills He said he realized that many were introduced in the Senate, p.m. Friday in the Duncan area

Sellout Expected For Baylor Game

By BOB PALMER Battalion Staff Writer Football, Johnny Rivers, Neal Ford, Midnight Yell Practice and Hall. many dances will highlight the last big football weekend for 1967.

The Aggies will open their annual battle for the Brazos Valley Championship against the Baylor Bears in Kyle Field at 1:30 p.m. bfeore an expected capacity crowd.

The weatherman has given his blessing to the Aggie-Baylor clash, predicting "mild, sunny weather with 10 to 15 miles per hour winds. A weak cool front is expected to move through the area Friday, however.

The Student Senate decided number of Baylor students coming to Saturday's football game has necessitated a rearrangement of student seating.

moved into the senior section, time. giving the Baylor fans more seats south of the 50-yard line. The senior section has been widened from the 50 the end of the end Big Problems zone. The sections included are 128 through 132.

through 127, sophomores will sit in sections 121 through 124 and freshmen will be in sections 116 through 120.

GEN. LAWRENCE J. LIN-COLN, Fourth Army commander, ing Texas," commented State will be reviewing officer for the Rep. David Crews of Conroe, "you Corps march-in prior to the game. Aggies will get ready for Saturday's clash with a Midnight Yell Practice starting at 11:30

One of the featured p

sity Dance, sponsored by the Civilian Student Council in Sbisa Dining Hall, following Town

Other dances, including the architects' "Tomb Boom" and several hometown club events, are planned for after the game.

BAYLOR STUDENT body representatives will be the guests of the Texas A&M Senate Executive Committee Saturday for the football game.

Bubba Moffitt, president of the Baylor student body, Vice-president Martha Smiley and other leaders will join the A&M representatives for coffee and a social session Saturday morning in the Memorial Student Center.

The two groups will have a Thursday night that the large luncheon in Sbisa Dining Hall and the Baylor students will sit with the A&M committee members during the game. The guests will be introduced to the crowd over GRADUATE students will be the public address system at half-

28 through 132. Juniors will sit in sections 125 Plague State, Legislator Says

"Considering the problems facwould think they would have to run an advertisement to get a governor."

Crews was referring to the upcoming governor's race which is ton Smith, but less certain to in-GOV. The youthful Crews, chairman of the House Committee on Insurance, was a Political Forum speaker at noon Thursday in the Memorial Student Center. "There is a definite possibility that Gov. Connally will run for a fourth term," Crews remarked, "but I don't think he's planning to at this time." Crews told about 25 persons at the luncheon that the trend for a two-party system in Texas is not as strong as it was 10 years ago. "The two-party system is similar to church," he joked. "People are going more and enjoying it less.' Crews said many Republicans in Texas are largely independents. "You analyze their political thinking and learn they are independents, he remarked. "No matter what the political party, the name of the game is winning.' Despite Crew's feelings about the two-party system, he favors friction in legislative bodies. "Disagreement is good in government," he emphasized. "Don't get mad at legislators when they are filibustering or fighting. The result may be a better Texas." The Conroe attorney touched briefly on automobile insurance laws and predicted further changes in Texas. "In Texas," Crews grinned, "We think the freedom to drive follows closely the freedom of speech. If a person is 40 or over, chances are that he has never had a driver's test." "And there are some nice old ladies who think the yellow stripe on their side of the road is some sort of color scheme," he continued.

NAVY BRONZE STAR AWARD S. Navy Lt. Cmdr. David J. Wright, a Texas A&M ceanography graduate student, receives the Bronze Star ith "V" for combat duty in Vietnam. The Naval award as presented by Col. Jim H. McCoy, A&M commandant.

Wright Receives Bronze Star From Texas A&M Commandant

avid J. Wright of Albany, Ore., Medal for valor by an Army offier in the presence of an Air orce colonel.

Col. Jim H. McCoy, Texas A&M mmandant, made the presentaon to Commander Wright, an eanography graduate student at &M, for the U. S. Pacific Fleet mmander in chief.

Those attending the Thursday eremony included Air Force Col. ernon L. Head, professor of cospace studies.

Wright was cited for service operations officer for a delta er patrol group in Vietnam. e citation stated that "outanding success of U.S. Navy iver Patrol Force units in the Kong Delta can be largely atouted to his exemplary efforts d his perceptive grasp of comex tactical situations. Comander Wright was instrumental conceiving and testing many the riverine warfare tactics d concepts which are standard

THE 30-YEAR-OLD Navy ofer participated in 12 combat

Bryan Building & Loan Association, Your Sav-Bal, ings Center, since 1919. -Adv.

A Navy lieutenant commander. river patrols, six joint U. S. and Vietnamese operations and over as presented the Bronze Star 70 armed helicopter missions, often under heavy enemy fire.

Wright is working on his master's degree thesis in chemical oceanography at A&M and will be assigned to the U.S.S. Worden, a cruiser-size guided missile frigate as chief engineer in January.

He has been at A&M since 1964, was a Student Conference on National Affairs delegate, advisor to the Great Issues committee for the 1966 Hydro-Space Fiesta, cubmaster for a Cub Scout Pack at Crockett Elementary School in Bryan and instructed an A&M SCUBA course.

WRIGHT IS member of the American Society for Oceanography, American Polar Society and the U.S. Naval Institute.

The 1958 Oregon State graduate has been in the Navy nine years and has served on three vessels as chief engineer, executive officer and navigator in addition to his Vietnam post.

He wears the Secretary of the Navy Commendation for Achievement ribbon, the Navy Commendation Medal with combat "V" and the Republic of Vietnam Medal of Honor.

of delegating to the federal government those decisions and obligations which have inherently belonged to the states." Smith told more than 80 state leaders participating in "Texas Assembly-1967" at Texas A&M. HOUSE SPEAKER Ben Barnes addresses the group tonight.

While noting that the federal government appears all too ready to assume authority of the states, the lieutenant governor observed it is also a fact that the states. have been far too willing to part with certain responsibilities, especially in recent years.

"In order to insure the continuance of state governmental authority," Smith remarked, "we must accept the fact that changes are taking place in our state at a fantastic pace, and we must quickly adapt to these changes." "If we are not willing to pay the price, if we cannot change where change is required." he continued. "then we have only one recourse, and that is to prepare for an orderly transfer of our remaining responsibilities to the federal government." SMITH hastened to point out he was not "one of those disenchanted with the legislative process.'

"I think that in most areas our Texas Legislature has done an excellent job," he empahsized. Turning to the relationship between the legislative and executive branches of state government, the lieutenant governor cited a National Legislative Conference recommendation that legislatures should re-establish greater independence from the executive branch.

He said he was recently asked if he thought legislation was needed to provide the Texas Legislature greater independence from the executive branch. He replied, "No."

"I THINK the Texas Legislature has all the checks and balances need to maintain its independence from the executive,"

"And I would be less than candid if I didn't point out that these pressures on the membership have greatly increased in the past few years." he continued. "The fact remains, however, that these attempts by the executive to further its power can be successfully frustrated by members voting their own and their constituents' convictions.'

ANOTHER NATIONAL Legislative Conference recommendation cited by Smith concerned the size of committees. The conference report states that, in many states, the size of committees should be reduced in number . and should be organized with due regard to related subject matter, equalization of work load and reduction of undue burdens on individual members.

Smith said he is in complete accord with this recommendation. He noted the Texas Senate has 24 standing committees and the House 44. There also are 55 interim committees which require the year-round attention of the Legislature.

"It is not uncommon for a standing committee to involve as many as 13 members," he said, "nor is it a rarity for one senator to serve on 15 to 17 committees."

Fall Vet Magazine Available At 'Y'

The fall issue of The Southwestern Veterinarian, magazine of the College of Veterinary Medicine, is now off the press.

Copies are available to prevet and vet medicine students and have been paid for by student activity fees. They may be picked up at the Office of Student Publications in the basement of the YMCA.

University National Bank "On the side of Texas A&M" -Adv.

Smith expressed amazement that 181 members can study such a large volume of legislation and, in the final action, pass such a relatively few number of bills. "I wonder how long we can continue in these fortuitous ways," he remarked.

"I suppose the Legislature is about like the old women and the shoe," he jested. "It's got so many committees it doesn't know what to do."

"But it does deliberate," he concluded. "This is its function. This is the best guarantee I know of for wise legislation."

The trend in state legislatures is toward annual sessions and increased emphasis on committee work, a Council of State Governments official noted at the group's Thursday night dinner meeting.

Joseph Moylan of Atlanta, Ga., assistant director of the Southern office of CSG, said only four state legislatures met annually at the close of World War II, but 21 now meet on this basis and several others are considering it. The biennial session of the Texas Legislature is one of the topics on the "Texas Assembly" agenda.

Reason for the switch to annual sessions, Moylan said, is that the broad range of problems requiring legislative solutions can no longer be neatly compacted into the forepart of the add-number years.

Turning to the subject of legislative committees, Moylan said they will become more and more the center of decisional action, as has long since been the case in Congress.

"Their work will go far beyond the traditional work of studying only those bills referred to them. he added. "They will be expected to identify present and future problem areas, undertake needed research concerning them, call in expert witnesses and assemble testimony and hold hearings at appropriate stages of the process.'

the game will be the induction of former Aggie sporting greats into the A&M Athletic Hall of Fame.

The four inductees will be Dutch Hohn, '12; the late Siki Sikes, '28; Uncle Bill James, and Wally Moon, '51.

SATURDAY night following the game, a host of activities await the Aggies and their dates. Town Hall will present Johnny Rivers, singing hits such as 'Secret Agent Man," "Memphis," 'Mountain of Love" and "Baby, I Need Your Lovin'."

Rivers will be double-billed with Neal Ford and the Fanatics, who will also play for the All-Univer-

Adams To Lead 168th Halftime

Six and three-quarters actioncrammed minutes will feature the Texas Aggie Band Saturday on Kyle Field.

The band's halftime performance at the 1:30 p.m. A&M-Baylor football game will be the 168th performance under the direction of Lt. Col. E. V. Adams, dean of Southwest Conference band directors.

Prominent features of the drill will be four field-wide interlocking V's, a five-way continuous countermarch and orientation of the band's signature block "T" reading to the sidelines.

Guiding the band's third home appearance of 1967 will be drum majors Richard C. Westbrook of Beaumont, Marc A. Sheiness of Alice and James W. Criswell of Brady. Band commander is Henry G. Cisneros of San Antonio.

Colonel Adams said formations to be employed will be effective for high angle viewing.

The drill is being installed in one week of practice.

Adams said the organization will install the Rice Corps Trip and Texas game drills during two off-weeks following Baylor.

In a more serious vain, Crews predicted the day is coming in Texas when it will be compulsory for people 65 and over to take driver's tests.

First Bank & Trust now pays 5% per annum on savings certificates. -Adv.