

Season, Weather Cause Good Deeds

The recent nippy weather has sent students scurrying for classes at a pace resembling old Keystone Cop movies. And the first cool weather, which has snapped us out of our summer lethargy, is also a good time to take a fresh look around us. What we may find is that many people are countering the war, death, and crime in our newspaper headlines by doing something or adding a little pleasure for others.

This then, is a miscellaneous look to see how the season and the weather must combine to affect events in several areas.

Last night's Halloween was not all candy for some youngsters who were willing to give their treats to treat others. Some collected pennies and nickles for the United Nation's UNICEF while other Bryan-College Station children participated in the Methodist Church's Meals for Millions drive.

Or how about some enterprising high school youths who advertised Halloween night "protection" for a dollar in their school newspaper. The price included cleaning up any damage to "insured" property — caring for a hundred homes can be a lot of work.

For a great many cold customers a good cup of coffee can save the morning and thaw out a chilled body and mind. And we note that three restaurants in College Station earned membership in the restaurant industry's most exclusive club for serving an outstanding cup of coffee.

The Country Kitchen, Godfrey's and Lew-Ann's have all received the golden cup award, mounted on a wall plaque and presented by the Coffee Brewing Center of New York.

It seems some sneaky fieldmen sipped the coffee, and with microfilm in their buttons, coded the news back to headquarters that Aggies would be caffein comfortable this winter.

And the weather, it seems, may have affected, to the surprise of ultra-right-wing conservatives, the John Birch Society. Its head, Robert Welch, announced Saturday that they have decided to abandon their campaign to impeach Earl Warren, at least temporarily.

Apparently, few people are willing to take their hands out of their warm gloves to sign a petition against the Chief Justice.

And so the cool weather, which kills car batteries, paints noses a rosey red and makes the household heater a cherished addition to any room, also brings with it new vigor and an attempt by some to do a little extra for others.

Reagan Calls Columnist 'Liar' For 'Homosexual Ring' Charge

By BILL STALL

Associated Press Writer SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)— Gov. Ronald Reagan angrily said today there is "no truth" to a Washington columnist's report that "a homosexual ring has been operating in his office."

"He's lying," Reagan said of Drew Pearson's column delivered this week to newspapers throughout the country. It said eight men were involved, including two former members of Reagan's staff.

In Washington Pearson's office released a statement it said had been dictated by the columnist, insisting his facts "are incontrovertible and he (Reagan) knows it."

Pearson was reported out of town and not personally reachable.

"Drew Pearson has been sort of riding my back for years," said Reagan. He denounced the report as "scurrilous."

"Gov. Reagan has the happy faculty of twisting the facts to suit his own end," the Pearson statement said.

"A little over a year ago he was pleased as punch when I developed certain facts regarding his Republican opponent in the California primary which probably gave Reagan the nomination. The governor however, is a novice at politics. He doesn't realize that he can't always have it his way.

"The facts in this case are incontrovertible and he knows it. He has been posing as Mr. Clean and yet tolerated two homosexuals on his staff for approximately six months and did not act regarding them until he was pressured.

"I am not interested in the men concerned. They are unfortunate victims of a disease and should be given psychiatric care, but the public is entitled to know the facts about a man who has ambitions to become president of the United States."

"This is about the lowest," Reagan said. "This is stooping to destroy human beings."

"The governor said he could not explain how the report and rumors originated, although he had heard of them while attending the National Governors' Conference aboard the ocean liner Independence.

Reagan said he even heard reports that he had leaked the information himself.

"This is just absolutely not true," Reagan added.

Editor,

The Battalion:

There is a valid reason for this letter and I feel that something should be done about the pest problem in the Duncan area and especially in Dorm 12. Even though there is a low quality food shortage in Duncan I don't feel that this problem should be ignored. It is impossible to keep food of any kind in the room. Food with wrappers such as candy from the machines has drawn ants into the closets and desks. ANTS! ANTS!! ANTS!!! There are ants everywhere, in the clothes in the dresser and in the closets, on the walls, and in the halls. It has been aggression on their part and commercial insecticides has failed to turn them back. What is the answer? HELP!

Civilians, Dollar To Discuss Menus

The Civilian Student Menu Committee will meet with university food service officials at noon Monday for its regular monthly discussion of Sbsia dining operations, announced Edwin H. Cooper, director of civilian student activities.

Cooper said the group will meet in the Sbsia office of Col. Fred Dollar, food service director, and then have lunch together.

Any civilian student desiring to offer suggestions about the dining operation is invited to contact one of the committee members and attend the luncheon meeting as his guest, Cooper said.

Permanent members of the committee are: Civilian Student Council President Griff Venator, Room 47, Milner Hall; Graduate Student Council President Charles E. Knowles, 302 Live Oak, College Station; Civilian Student Council members George N. Walne, Room 47, Milner Hall, and Stephen Bancroft, Room 424, Dorm 15.
