

Issues Committee Sets Talk With River Patrol Commander

The Great Issues Committee of Texas A&M's Memorial Student Center will call on a chemical oceanography graduate student Dec. 11 for a special presentation concerning the war in Vietnam.

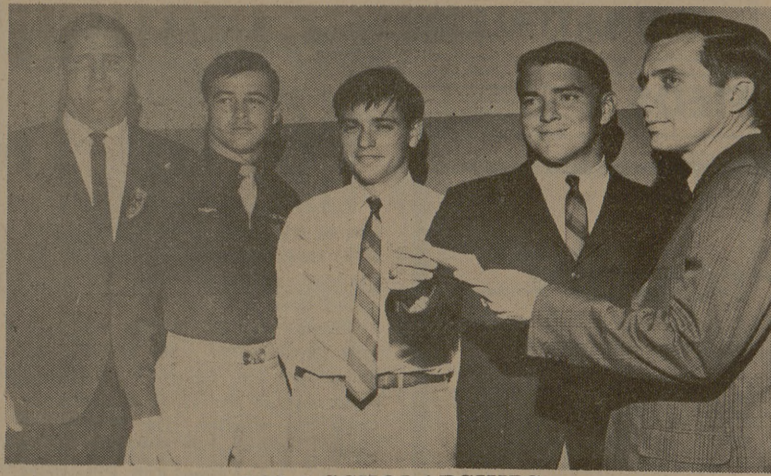

Navy Lt. Cmdr. David J. Wright, who currently lives in Waco but calls Albany, Ore., home, will be featured. He is back from a year of active duty as operations officer for a delta river patrol group.

Commander Wright, who earned the Bronze Star for valor, will discuss, "River Patrol in the Mekong Delta," using color slides to illustrate his 8 p.m. lecture in the MSC Ballroom.

Great Issues Chairman Gerald Moore said Commander Wright offers information which will be helpful to A&M students who are likely to serve in Vietnam as well as to people interested in the welfare of relatives or friends serving in the Mekong Delta.

"I'm sure the people will see or hear something which will give them a better perspective as to what their husband, brother or cousin is doing in Vietnam," Wright remarked.

The commander is experienced in briefings on the river patrol operations. With other members of his group, he briefed Defense Secretary Robert McNamara during two visits to the area.

GOLF SCHOLARSHIPS

$200 Golf Scholarships Awarded To Texas A&M Agronomy Students

Dr. George McBee, of the Texas A&M Soil and Crop Sciences Department, announced that the Trans-Mississippi Golf Association has awarded scholarships of $200 each to four A&M agronomy students. The awards, based on academic standing and interest in turf management, were presented to Thomas Lee, Sr. of DeLeon, Ronnie Coleman of Huntsville, Mike Ingram of Corpus Christi, and Gary McElvaney of Channelview.

St. Louis's newly opened Gateway Arch commemorates the city as the gateway to the West. The monument towers 630 feet, 75 feet higher than the Washington Monument. Some 900 tons of polished stainless steel were used — the largest amount ever employed in a single project.
