

Interior Design Photos On Exhibit

A School of Architecture exhibit featuring photographs of contemporary interiors opened Monday for a five-day display.

Residential, commercial and industrial interiors are spotlighted in the exhibit area of the School of Architecture, announced assistant professor Norman Ufer.

Two Houston firms, Pierce and Pierce, Architects, and Evans-Monical, Interior Consultants, are providing the photographs.

Adding to the exhibit Thursday are contemporary furniture by Evans-Monical. Rusty Bernard of the firm will discuss furniture in an 8 a.m. Thursday presentation in room 208.

Exhibit hours are 9 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. daily.

A&M CARDS OF CHEER

YMCA Cabinet members at Texas A&M ready Christmas cards for air-mailing to 648 former A&M students in military service in Southeast Asia. The card, designed by Jim Earle, says "We Care! Merry Christmas From All 12,000 of Us." It depicts a uniformed Aggie holding a Christmas package in front of the Academic Building.

OSC Recruiters To Be On Campus

The U. S. Army Officer Selection Team will be on the A&M campus Monday and Tuesday to talk with all interested seniors who wish to learn more about the Officer Candidate School College Option Program.

The team will be stationed in the Memorial Student Center and will administer qualification tests. The tests are not obligatory, but will determine if a senior qualifies for OCS.

Viet Cong Raid, Burn Villages To Draw U.S. To New Grounds

By EDWIN Q. WHITE
SAIGON (AP) — A Viet Cong battalion ravaged a South Vietnamese village in the central highlands near the Cambodian frontier Tuesday with grenades and flame throwers. About 50 casualties were listed in varied reports from the scene, none confirmed.

Whether for sheer terrorism or an effort to lure allied troops to some nearby battleground of the Communists' choosing, about 400 guerrillas knifed in early morning darkness into Dak Song, a "New Life" hamlet on Highway 14 about 130 miles northeast of Saigon.

The U. S. mission said its latest reports were that the Viet Cong killed about 20 persons, wounded 30 and burned 30 or 40 homes.

Another account said four militiamen and a civilian had been killed, 15 persons were wounded and 29 were missing.

COMMUNICATIONS with the area were difficult.

The U. S. mission's first word was that the Viet Cong had killed 300 villagers. This would have been the worst terrorist attack of the war.

Later, however, Wilbur Wilson, an American official, relayed the 20-30 figures to Saigon, remarking that the casualty toll "is much reduced." Wilson is assistant director of the U. S. Civil Operations and Revolutionary Development Support office for the area in which Dak Song is located.

THE "NEW LIFE" hamlets are government-sponsored settlements ordinarily considered formidable targets for any Communist forays. The people of Dak Song, like most of those in South Vietnam's mountain villages, apparently are Montagnards, tribal groups which sometimes fight the Viet Cong as irregulars under the direction of U. S. Green Beret advisors.

Wilson said information he had received so far gave no indication why the hamlet had been attacked, with the resulting casualties to civilians and destruction of homes.

There has been some feeling in official quarters that an intensified series of Communist attacks—chiefly mortar barrages—in recent weeks have been designed to demonstrate that the Saigon government cannot provide security for people in outlying areas.

DAK SONG LIES between Loc Ninh and Dak To, where American and government troops crushed two heavy Communist offensive thrusts last month. It is 55 miles northeast of Bu Dop, where American and Vietnamese troops turned back a Red assault last week.

U. S. officers viewed the string of fights as an indication that the enemy was seeking to build up his forces along the mountainous frontier and perhaps draw in American battalions to fight on fields selected by the Red high command.

THIS SCHOOL of thought holds that the Communist strategy is to bring about engagements, even at the cost of heavy casualties, in some isolated areas and force allied troops to move from regions in which they have been conducting intensive pacification efforts.

The border areas along Cambodia and Laos provide the most likely ground for such endeavors because of the sanctuary they offer for enemy forces.

ELSEWHERE in the war, the U. S. Command disclosed that a new Navy jet, the A7 Corsair II, has made its debut in combat. A flight of these light attack bombers, taking off from the carrier Ranger, made their first strikes Monday over North Vietnam.

Spokesmen said the Corsairs, which can carry 15,000 pounds of explosives at nearly 600 miles an hour, heavily damaged a bridge near Vinh, 150 miles south of Hanoi, with five-inch rockets. A squadron of the planes, which cost $1.4 million each, is aboard the Ranger.

OFFICERS CHECKING over the scene of a battle Monday in the Mekong Delta 66 miles southwest of Saigon said it was the burial ground of the Viet Cong's 502nd Local Force Battalion.

They counted 235 dead from the battalion, estimated to have had only 300 effectives at the outset of an 11-hour fight against 1,500 of the allies of the Mobile Riverine Force—Vietnamese marines, American infantrymen and U. S. Navy men. At least four of the dead guerrillas were women.

Campus Briefs

in Cleveland, Ohio.

They are Dr. Earl H. Knebel, department head; John Holcomb, director of the Instructional Materials Development Center; and Foy Page, subject matter specialist in agricultural education.

Knebel will serve as chairman of the Professional Relations Committee of the AVA's Agricultural Division.

Holcomb is on the Advisory Committee to the National Center for Vocational and Technical Education at Ohio State University.

Page will attend sectional meetings on research in agricultural education.

Knebel, president-elect of the AATEA, said the three organizations will hold their 1968 sessions in Dallas.

After returning from Cleveland, Knebel will attend the annual Teacher Education Professional Standards meeting Dec. 8-9 in Houston. The session is sponsored by the Texas State Teachers Association.

Debaters Place In SWTSC Meet

Texas A&M's Debate Team fared well in an invitational debate tournament over the weekend at Southwest Texas State College although no team winners were declared.

A&M Debate Coach Michael Haigrove said debaters and contestants in individual events were rated according to their performances rather than being ranked by teams.

A&M's Ron Hinds of Midland and James Byrd of Houston posted two wins and two losses in debate. They downed Baylor and Texas A&I teams, but bowed to McMurry and Lamar State College.

Bob Peek of Jacksboro received perfect scores in extemporaneous speaking to attain a "superior" rating. Hinds garnered an "excellent" rating.

Peek and Hinds achieved "good" ratings in prose interpretation.

The A&M debaters, 12-12 for the season, next will compete in the Mardi-Gras Speech Tournament at New Orleans at the end of the fall semester.

Computer Helps Award Grants

Texas A&M students seeking financial aid may find help in a new educational computer service in Princeton, N. J.

Robert M. Logan, Student Aid director at A&M, said each student is required to pay a one-time computer-processing fee of $15 for the service.

Logan said the student employing the service fills out a detailed confidential questionnaire about himself, his background and his objectives. The questionnaire is returned to ECS, where the computer, in seconds, matches the student's qualifications against the requirements of over 700,000 items of scholarships and grants worth $500 million.

After the student's qualifications are matched, the computer types a personalized letter to the student, telling him what scholarships he is eligible for, and when and where to apply.

"I LAUGHED WHEN MY ROOMMATE TOOK NoDoz"

—writes Private J. B., now of Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

"No pill can stop you from flunking out," I scoffed. "Well, he's there. And I'm here. Take warning from my sad case. And take NoDoz to help you stay with it."

Actually, our young warrior is right: NoDoz can't work miracles. But it can help, any time you're drowsy or tired. For example: A couple of NoDoz can sharpen your mind and help you remember facts at exam time, or NoDoz can wake you up when you have to cram late at night.

When driving makes you drowsy, NoDoz can bring you back to life. If a long lecture makes your attention wander, NoDoz to the rescue.

Get the point? NoDoz can help you anywhere, any time, and it's non-habit-forming.

NoDoz. The scholar's friend.

THE ONE TO TAKE WHEN YOU HAVE TO STAY ALERT.
