

Transportation Meet Set

More than 150 city, county and state officials are expected to attend the 1968 Urban Transportation Planning Seminar at Texas A&M Jan. 30-31.

The meeting, sponsored by the Texas Highway Department in cooperation with A&M's Texas Transportation Institute, is the third in a series of seminars designed to help local governments comply with provisions of the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1962.

THE ACT STATED that all cities of 50,000 or more population must institute a "cooperative, comprehensive and continuing planning process" for transportation requirements.

State and federal status reports on urban transportation planning will be presented during the opening session by N. M. Goodwin, supervising planning engineer for THD, and Henry Bremer, division planning and research engineer for the Bureau of Public Roads, both of Austin.

OTHER FIRST-DAY activities include addresses by A. C. Taylor of Fort Worth, regional federal highway administrator, and G. E. Marple, chief of the Bureau of Public Roads' Urban Planning Division in Washington, D. C.

Completing the two-day agenda are four panel discussions moderated by Steve Matthews of Austin, executive director of the Texas Municipal League; Arlington Mayor Tom J. Vandergriff; T. S. Huff, THD's chief highway design engineer, and TTI Director Jack Keese.

General chairman for the meeting this year is W. F. Frey of Austin, THD urban engineer.

Smoke Popularity Drops During Test

Smoking hit the skids during administration of "The National Smoking Test" at Texas A&M University.

About 300 persons — smokers and non-smokers — took the test for special research purposes of Health and Physical Education professors.

Ash trays were available in the ballroom, site of the test.

Traces of only nine smokes were found after the hour and a half session.

Twelve Perish In AF Crash

By AL DEN BESTE
MINOT, N. D. (AP) — An Air Force tanker plane crashed shortly after takeoff Wednesday, killing 12 of the 13 airmen aboard, including Maj. Gen. Charles M. Eisenhart.

Eisenhart, 53, was vice commander of the 15th Air Force and a much-decorated commander in the Pacific theater during World War II.

THE CRASH of the KC135 at the Minot Air Force Base also claimed a heavy toll of other high officers from March Air Force Base in California. Among them were three colonels, three lieutenant colonels, a major and a captain. Three enlisted men also perished.

The lone survivor was T. Sgt. William G. Wright whom Air Force officials speculated was thrown free of the wreck as it scattered over a 1,500-foot path of snow-covered prairie about a quarter mile from the takeoff area.

WRIGHT WAS listed in critical condition at John Moses Hospital in Minot, 14 miles south of the Strategic Air Command base in north-central North Dakota.

The tanker, a four-engine jet craft usually used to refuel other giant planes in flight, was on a routine staff visit to Minot, a spokesman said.

Officials at the base said the plane apparently was airborne just before the crash.
