

Olympic Shorts

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — The International Olympic Committee has decided that skiers do not need to obliterate the trade marks on their skis, but IOC President Avery Brundage indicated Wednesday he still was not satisfied that all professionalism and commercialism had been eliminated from the Alpine ski events.

Reminded that the men's downhill race was scheduled for Thursday Brundage said, "I won't be there to watch them. And I won't present any medals to them either."

The medals are presented by Brundage or any member of the IOC that he designates as his replacement.

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — The French hockey team will not win a gold medal at the Winter Olympics here, but it is one of the looses groups around. The Frenchmen spend about one-half hour a day doing Yoga exercises as part of their training.

VILLARD DE LANS, France (AP) — A Miss Villard contest was scheduled for Wednesday night in connection with ceremonies upon the arrival of the Olympic flame here earlier in the day. There was only one problem: No one submitted entry forms.

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — The 450 Olympic hostesses will appear even more beautiful in the next few days. A leading cosmetic firm has presented them with a huge beauty kit which includes cream, powder, rouge, make-up and several different types of lipstick.

Basketball Scoreboard

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — Greg Howard's free throw gave sixth-ranked New Mexico a 72-71 basketball victory over 10th-ranked New Mexico State Wednesday night before a crowd of 15,237 at the Arena.

CATE Instruction Evaluation Slated

A mid-year evaluation of the Creative Application of Technology to Education (CATE) Center's blackboard-by-wire will bring officials of 15 area schools to Texas A&M University Feb. 10.

Dr. Thomas J. Moffett, CATE director, said 90 school superintendents, principals and teachers and the center staff will meet at the Ramada Inn.

Dr. Edward Maltzman, Sylvania research director from the corporate headquarters at Bedford, Mass., and David Barbee, research assistant, Center for Educational Technology, Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C., will serve as consultants.

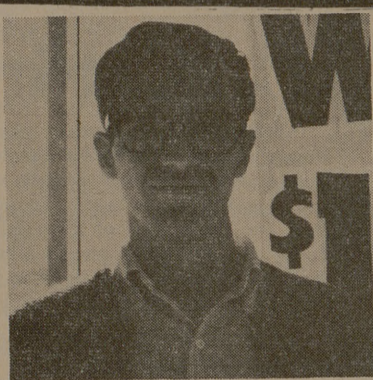

Schools on the blackboard-by-wire network receiving physics, mathematics and English classes are located in Brenham, Bryan, Caldwell, Cameron, Crockett, Franklin, Hearne, Huntsville, Madisonville, Rockdale, Snook, Somerville and College Station.

An adult basic education course is also transmitted on the leased telephone line network.

The Catholic University center director, Dr. Gabriel Ofiesh, recently conferred with CATE officials. Bob Montgomery, Abilene Service Center director, will make a personal tour of the facility Friday (Feb. 9) to survey electronic apparatus.
