

High Scoring Twosome In NIT Opener

NEW YORK (AP)—The 31st National Invitation Tournament gets off to a running start Thursday night and might not slow down until the basketball tourney ends 10 days later.

Marshall, W. Va., 17-7, which averages 87 points a game, and St. Peter's, N. J., which hits better than 95, will sprint onto the new Madison Square Garden floor in the first of four first-round doubleheaders.

The pace may slow only slightly in the second game when 10th-ranked Duke, one of the tourney favorites, takes on hotshot Oklahoma City with its 93 points a game.

Villanova, the fourth best defensive team in the country allowing only 60.6 points per contest, will attempt to halt Wyoming, No. 14 offensively at 86.4, in Friday's nightcap after Kansas, eighth defensively, tries the same tactic against Temple in the first game.

But the pace speeds again Saturday when Army and Notre Dame tangle and then Bradley and Long Island meet in an afternoon twinbill followed by Duquesne opposing Fordham and Dayton running with West Virginia at night.

The winners advance to the quarter-finals Monday and Tuesday. The semifinals are next Thursday with the final March 23.

Along with Duke, 21-5, Bradley, 19-8, of the Missouri Valley Conference; Kansas, 18-7, of the Big Eight; and independent Dayton, 17-9, rule as the favorites.
