Virginia Parker, playing the part of Sandra Markowitz, a social worker, listens to the dreams of Murray Burns, played by Jim Weyhenmeyer, in the Aggie Players' production of "A Thousand Clowns." The play will run until Saturday.

Sen. McCarthy Predicts Need For Price, Wage Control

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, dropping into Chicago to raise some money for his campaign, told business men Wednesday that if the Vietnam war continues to escalate the nation will have to plan for credit, price and wage controls.

The Minnesota Democrat took part of the day off from campaigning in Wisconsin for his April 2 primary challenge of President Johnson. He made a fund-raising appearance and a speech in Chicago—and talked by telephone with Mayor Richard J. Daley, a supporter of Johnson.

At a news conference McCarthy fielded questions about a mini-revolt in his "children's crusade."

Asked about the resignation of his campaign press secretary, Seymour Hersh, 30, and Hersh's assistant, Mary Lou Oates, 23, McCarthy said: "I don't look upon this as a serious loss to my campaign . . . We'll survive."

Hersh is a free lance writer and a former reporter for The Associated Press in Chicago and Washington. Miss Oates was a newswoman.

Their duties were taken over Wednesday by Paul Gorman, 38, who had been a speech writer for the campaign.

McCarthy spoke before businessmen at the Paper Board Packaging Council.

McCarthy, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, said if the cost of war rises to $50 billion a year the nation would have to be prepared to move toward some kinds of wartime controls—and not the surtax now proposed by the Johnson administration.

He said some action would have to be considered on credit controls and on wage and price controls.

ADS To Sponsor Advertising Week

"Advertising Recognition Week" for the Bryan-College Station area, sponsored by the A&M Chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, professional advertising fraternity, will be April 8-12, Winston Green, president said Monday.

During the week the club will present an advertising education award to Miss Mary Stewart of Smith and Douglas Advertising Agency, Dallas, in recognition of her efforts in the area of advertising education, Green said.

Activities will also include an open house of the new advertising lab facilities in the Services Building.

"Each ADS chapter in the United States sets aside one week during the year as a week to bring the advertisers, the local media and the community together and show that each one depends on the other two for growth and prosperity," Jack Boggan, club sponsor, said.

Blood Transfers Keep Girl Alive

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)—Five-year-old Sally Harrington, suffering from an often-fatal blood disease, has been kept alive for six months with 800 pints of blood. If the transfusions—up to 50 pints a week—can be kept up, her doctors think she may be cured.

The dark-haired, blue-eyed Sally lives in danger around the clock and has been confined to a padded bed since last September at St. Joseph's Hospital in this Detroit suburb.

Her mother, Mrs. Emmanuel Harrington, says it takes 50 pints of blood a week to keep Sally "full of pep and looking like nothing was wrong with her."

Her need for blood has prompted several hundred people in the Detroit and Pontiac area to donate for her.

She has aplastic anemia, a leukemia-like disease, in which the bone marrow fails to produce necessary blood components. Her mother says few ever has survived it long as Sally.

But there is hope now. "If she can just stay in there long enough, they know for sure they can cure her," said the mother, wife of a General Motors foreman.

Recent bone marrow tests, Mrs. Harrington says, indicate Sally's marrow is beginning once again to produce both red and white corpuscles, and equally important, that the marrow's platelets-making mechanism may start working again.

Platelets cause the blood to clot. Without them a minor cut could cause a hemorrhage and death. The goal is to keep Sally alive until she once again makes her own platelets.

Although doctors say Sally isn't yet producing enough red or white blood cells, her mother says the chance of bleeding is, to her, the big threat.

Only a nosebleed caused a scare last week.

Biology Dept. Expects 170 For Meeting

Some 170 participants will register at the Holiday Inn Friday for a regional meeting of the American Society for Microbiology.

Texas A&M faculty members will host the two-day spring scientific meeting of the Texas branch.

Dr. Walter J. Nickerson, foundation lecturer of the national society, will be featured speaker, according to Dr. Willard A. Taber of A&M's Biology Department.

Nickerson's presentation, "Synthesis and Degradation of Biological Polymers," will highlight 35 papers to be given on subjects ranging from soil to medical microbiology.

Taber, arrangements committee chairman, said scientists from Texas and Louisiana will attend the regional meeting. The Texas branch is one of A&M's largest, with more than 600 members. The national society numbers in excess of 10,000.

USS NEW JERSEY SAILS AGAIN

The battleship USS New Jersey, after 10 years in the mothball fleet, sails down the Delaware River headed for the Atlantic Ocean for three days of sea trials prior to being recommissioned. The ship is scheduled to sail to the Gulf of Tonkin, probably in early fall, where she will be used to hurl 2,700-pound projectiles on North Vietnam's coastal targets. (AP Wirephoto)

Harvard-A&M Debate Match To Argue Role Of Women

A Harvard-Texas A&M debate match Monday will argue the question "Resolved, that the higher education of women is a fruitless pursuit."

The All-Fools Day A&M Debate Club presentation will begin at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Student Center Assembly Room, announced Robert Archer, debate director.

The English Department faculty member said Ron Hinds, a junior finance major from Midland, and Bob Peek of Jacksboro, sophomore in journalism, will represent A&M and argue the affirmative.

Harvard University debaters Ronald Luke of Dallas and Edward Jones of Fredericksburg, Va., will take the negative side of the question. Luke is an interdisciplinary social studies major. Jones studies government. Both are sophomores and Harvard University Debate Council officers.

"Harvard is one of very few schools in the U. S. that offers credit courses in debate," Archer noted.

The Cambridge institution students are on a 10-day tour of the Southwest. Jones and Luke will debate at seven other Texas schools, including the University of Texas at Austin and Arlington, Houston and Rice.

Archer said the audience-participation debate will last about an hour and a half. Admission for A&M students, faculty and Aggie wives will be 50 cents per person. Tickets for the general public are $1 each.

Phi Zeta To Hold Banquet On Saturday

The A&M Chapter of Phi Zeta, the national honor society of veterinary medicine, will hold its annual initiation beginning at 7 p.m. this Saturday.

The ceremonies will be followed by a banquet at Briarcrest Country Club. Benjamin J. Mahaffey of the Recreation and Parks Department will be the speaker.

Famed European waxworks tend to feature gruesome horror chambers. Wax museums in the United States generally recreate the important events and people of American history.
