

Post Office Curbs Smut Mail

Mail patrons offended by offensive advertisements can now take steps to curb such mail, Postmaster Ernest Gregg said Tuesday...

Curb Pandering Advertisements — which is now available at the College Station Post Office. In addition to explaining how the law works...

fended by advertisements they believe to be morally harmful, particularly to their children. "Last year the Post Office Department received some 140,000 complaints from those offended...

While the patron's complaint will only be directed to the sender, Postmaster Gregg believes that one or two complaints will provide substantial protection because "the great bulk of this advertisement comes from fewer than 20 so-called 'smut dealers' who are frequently swapping mailing lists."

A Man Of Many Interests Was A Former Pro Boxer

By TOM CURL Battalion Special Writer Russell K. Wieder, assistant professor of physical education, is a man of many interests, ranging from fencing to painting. Wieder came to A&M from Western Reserve College in 1956. He specializes in teaching fencing and wrestling and was coach of the Aggies for 10 years in these sports. The stocky man has been a professional boxer, fencer and diver. In addition, he has competed as an amateur in wrestling and swimming. Although Wieder has competed in many sports, his favorite is fencing. He studied under the fencing masters Generoso Pavese and Leonardo Terrone. At the age of 19, Wieder defeated Terrone, who at that time was European fencing champion. Wieder coached the Aggie fencing team from 1956-66. "We (the fencing team) never lost a dual meet in those 10 years," he said. "We were 12th in the nation in 1958," he continued. This is the best showing that any southern team has ever made. In 1965, Wieder received a Master's Certificate from the National Professional Fencing Coaches Association. Wrestling is another strong interest of the multi-talented teacher. He coached the A&M wrestling team for 10 years at the same time he coached the fencing team. "We won it by more points than all the other schools combined," the soft-spoken man said. "We could have gone home at noon and still won the meet," he said with pride. This semester Wieder is teaching fencing 16 hours and wrestling six hours per week. Sports are not Wieder's only interests. He also is a professional artist. "I've painted and sold several portraits," he remarked. A painting in his office at G. Rollie White Coliseum shows a death mask reflected in three mirrors. The educator graduated from Kenyon College in 1942 with majors in physical education, history and foreign languages. He has done graduate work at West Missouri University. Wieder and his family live at 1106 Foster Ave. in College Station. His daughter is nine years old. An older daughter recently received a Ph.D. in German. When asked about his age, the man smiled and said, "That is pretty much of a secret as far as I'm concerned." Future plans are quite definite. "I will continue to teach fencing as long as I can stand up," he said.

23 Students Initiated In Honor Society

Twenty-three A&M meteorology students were initiated into Chi Epsilon Pi, an honor society for meteorology students on Tuesday. The group consists of an Army major, a Weather Bureau employee, USAF officers and Aggie undergraduate and graduate students in meteorology. All have exhibited both a high level of academic proficiency and great interest in the atmospheric sciences. The purposes of the society are to serve as a means of awarding distinction to students having scholastic ability and who show promise of achievement in meteorology and related atmospheric sciences. The initial chapter of Chi Epsilon Pi was organized at UCLA in 1950 and the Texas A&M chapter was formed in 1963. Other chapters are now in existence at Oklahoma University, Florida State University and the Uni-
