

Chauviere Named AIA Medal Winner

James Robert Foster, a fifth-year architecture student from Bryan, is the 1968 American Institute of Architects' runner-up medal winner in Texas A&M's College of Architecture.

Foster, son of Mrs. H. M. Foster, Rt. 3, Bryan, is a Stephen F. Austin High School graduate.

Architecture Chairman Edward Romenic said AIA medals go to graduating design students in recognition of scholastic achievement, character and promise of professional ability. Strong emphasis, he said, is placed on a student's consistent professional development throughout his academic career.

WINNER OF THE AIA Medal is Edward D. Chauviere, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Chauviere, 1624 Hilltop Dr., Waco. Chauviere has been a Distinguished Student nine semesters and was named both outstanding sophomore and freshman in design.

Roger D. Manny of Fort Worth, a junior architecture major, received the AIA-AIAF $300 Scholarship. The national foundation chose Manny for scholastic achievement. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Manny, 2536 Timberline, Fort Worth. Alternate John E. Short, junior architecture major and son of John V. Short, Rt. 6, Lufkin, earned a certificate.

Awards were made in convocation ceremonies Thursday at the School of Architecture.

J. RODNEY TABOR awards of $200 went to Andrew D. Hemphill, senior architecture student from Brownsville, and James G. Lewis, junior landscape major from El Paso. Honoring Tabor, one of A&M's first architecture graduates, awards are for excellence in work performance.

Houston Chemical Service $250 scholarships were won by Paul H. Sanders of Houston and Joseph W. Peace of Matthews, both senior architects. Sanders is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Sanders, 6862 Richwood, Houston. Peace's mother is Mrs. R. F. Stroud, Rt. 3, Matthews.

Sanders also won trip expenses to Europe this summer. He will be an architectural ambassador, representing A&M and the firm of Pitts, Phelps, White and Saxe of Houston.

DAVIDSON $250 Fellowships were garnered by Dennis E. Walo of San Antonio and Haskell E. Wright of Texarkana. The M. N. Davidson Foundation of Houston makes annual grants to graduating students in architecture and architectural construction.

Richard D. Cherry, senior architecture major from Larkspur, Colo., won the $200 Neuner Scholarship, established by A. A. Neuner, A&M Class of '36 and practicing architect in Albuquerque, N. M. Cherry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cherry, Rt. 1, Larkspur.

Featherlite Corporation Awards of $100 each went to seniors Joe R. Gibbons of Dallas, Thomas C. Gruber of San Antonio, James C. Patton of Commerce, and John E. O'Brien of Madison, N. J. The awards are for design excellence.

GIBBONS is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gibbons, 4225 Woodcliff, Dallas. Gruber's father is W. W. Gruber, 2810 Hitching Post, San Antonio. O'Brien's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John V. O'Brien, 1 Rosedale Ave., Madison, N. J., and Patton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Patton, 1301 Aldridge, Commerce.

Gerald L. Wall, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wall, Jr., 1824 Kimwood Lane, Tyler, earned the Kenneth D. Williams Memorial Award. (book)

Langford Awards in architecture and architectural construction were captured by Romeo C. Garcia, fifth-year student from Corpus Christi, and Michael R. Morgan, fourth-year student from Houston. Langford is professor emeritus of architecture at A&M.

Donald G. Rapp, fifth-year architecture major from Galveston, won the Alpha Rho Chi Medal for leadership and service to his school. Rapp is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Rapp Jr., 1009 Harbor View, Galveston.

Jesse H. Levy Jr., son of Mrs. Mary R. Levy, 3531 Chestnut St., New Orleans, La., received the Houston Association of General Contractors' plaque for leadership. He's a senior architectural construction student.

GEN. LUEDECKE

Gen. Luedecke Named To Fill Dean Position

Maj. Gen. Alvin R. Luedecke, deputy director of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at California Institute of Technology, Friday was named associate dean of engineering and engineering research coordinator.

Engineering Dean Fred J. Benson noted General Luedecke was management director for Ranger, Mariner, Surveyor and Voyager space projects.

A 1932 chemical engineering graduate of A&M, Luedecke was honored with a Distinguished Alumni Award in 1967. He also received an honorary doctor of laws degree from A&M in 1946.

Among the highly-decorated officer's awards are the Legion of Merit with two Oak Leaf Clusters, Distinguished Service Medal, Cruz de Boyaca from Columbia, Order of the British Empire.

The Eldorado native entered the Army as a field artillery second lieutenant in 1932 and transferred to the Air Force a year later. In 1943 he was named assistant chief of air staff for the China-Burma-India Theater. At the age of 33, in 1944, he was promoted to brigadier general.

He and his wife have three children.

ASK THE ASSOCIATION ABOUT MIKE

Why The SHURE UNISPHERE® Is The Official Microphone Of The Association On Tour

They know their microphones are their link with their audience. They want you to hear their voices and the lyrics, naturally, without howling feedback, without annoying close-up breath "pop", without audience sounds. Pretty tough test for a microphone... routine for the incomparable Shure Unisphere. Just ask the better groups.
