

DEAN HALL HONORED
Dr. Wayne C. Hall (second from left), Texas A&M academic vice president and graduate dean who has been granted a leave of absence, was honored at a Monday afternoon coffee in the Memorial Student Center. Dr. C. M. Watkins of A&M's International Programs Office, representing some 380 contributing faculty and staff members, presented Dean and Mrs. Hall a silver punch bowl with tray and other accessories and a vacation check. Looking on is Dr. H. O. Hartley, director of the Graduate Institute of Statistics and one of the Wayne Hall Appreciation Committee organizers. Dean Hall has accepted an appointment by the National Research Council in Washington, D.C., effective Sept. 1.

Right Of Way Seminar Began Wednesday

A workshop-oriented sixth Right-of-Way Educational Seminar convened Wednesday at Texas A&M.

Principal efforts of the three-day seminar sponsored by the Texas Transportation Institute will be centered in highway, utility, land evaluation and pipeline workshops.

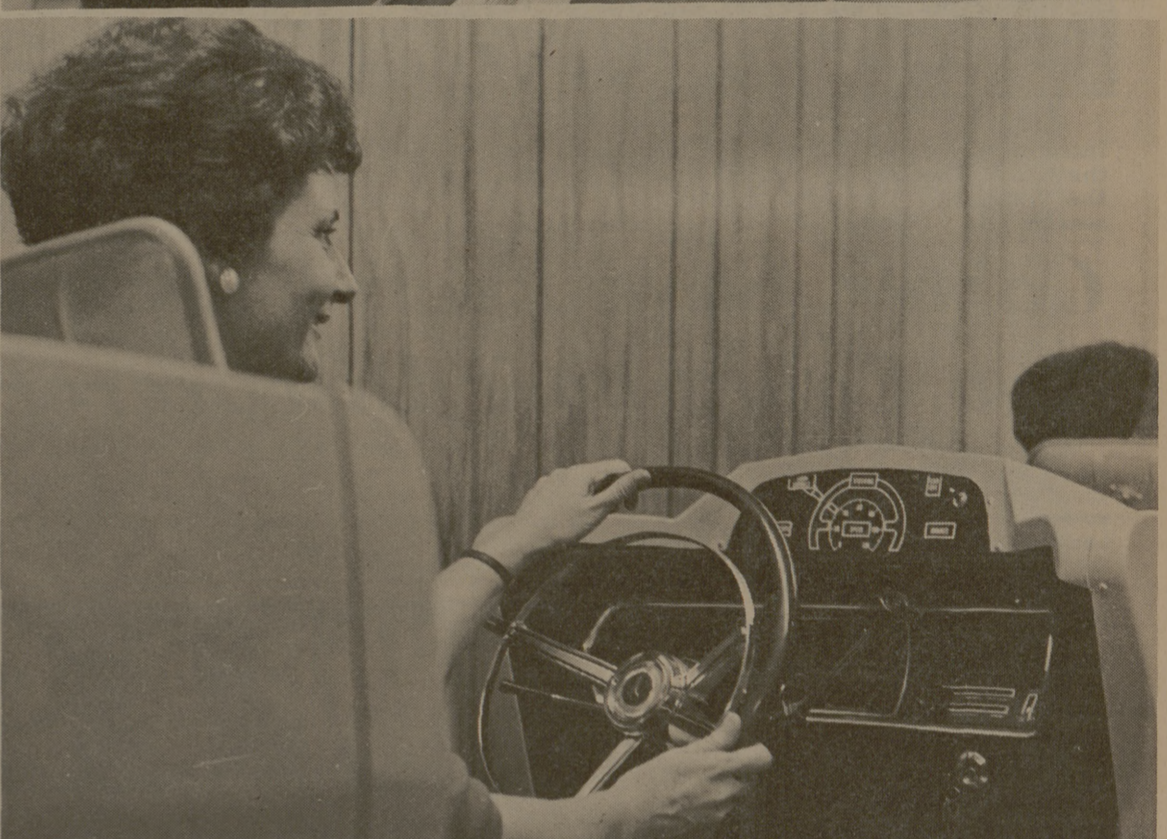

About 250 participants are expected, noted Dr. C. V. Wootan, seminar director and TTI official.

Garth Linky, president of the American Right of Way Association, will be among officials present.

Presentations by Richard R. Darner of Wichita Falls, manager of Hammond Properties, and John H. McIlhenny of San Antonio will highlight the sixth seminar presented by Region 2 of the American ROW Association.

McIlhenny, Urban Renewal Agency project administrator, will discuss how facilities for HemisFair were completed in a relatively short amount of time.

Wayman B. Flynn of Fort Worth, Region 2 chairman, will preside at the opening session in the MSC ballroom.

Automobile Simulators Used In Driver Training Program

Sophisticated automobile simulators are being used at Texas A&M this summer to teach teachers how to teach high school students to drive.

The two $40,000 state-owned simulators are similar to some of the more advanced devices used to train jet pilots, in that they require the person at the controls to react to driving situations which appear on a movie screen.

Dr. Leslie Hawkins, Texas A&M industrial education professor and director of the five-week training program, noted that each of the simulators can be used to check reactions and skills of 16 students at one time.

Each "driver," Hawkins explained, is seated in a mock-up of the front seat of an automobile and steers, speeds up, slows down, stops, starts and carries out other instructions as demanded by the movie situation.

If a student fails to react properly to a situation, indicators light up on both his and the instructor's control panel.

Dr. Hawkins noted the state has 10 of the simulators mounted in large house trailers which can be moved to various schools as required.

He pointed out use of the simulators enables the instructor to shorten the length of actual in-car driving time for students.

"However, before the students can use the simulator, the instructor must be thoroughly familiar with it," Dr. Hawkins emphasized.

He said 97 persons from throughout the state are currently receiving instruction in the use of the simulator as part of the 1968 Driver Education and Traffic Safety Study Program which A&M is co-sponsoring with the Texas Education Agency.

A unique feature of this year's session, he added, is a special course for teaching assistants.

The program is designed to qualify non-degree personnel to teach in the laboratory phases of approved driver education courses.

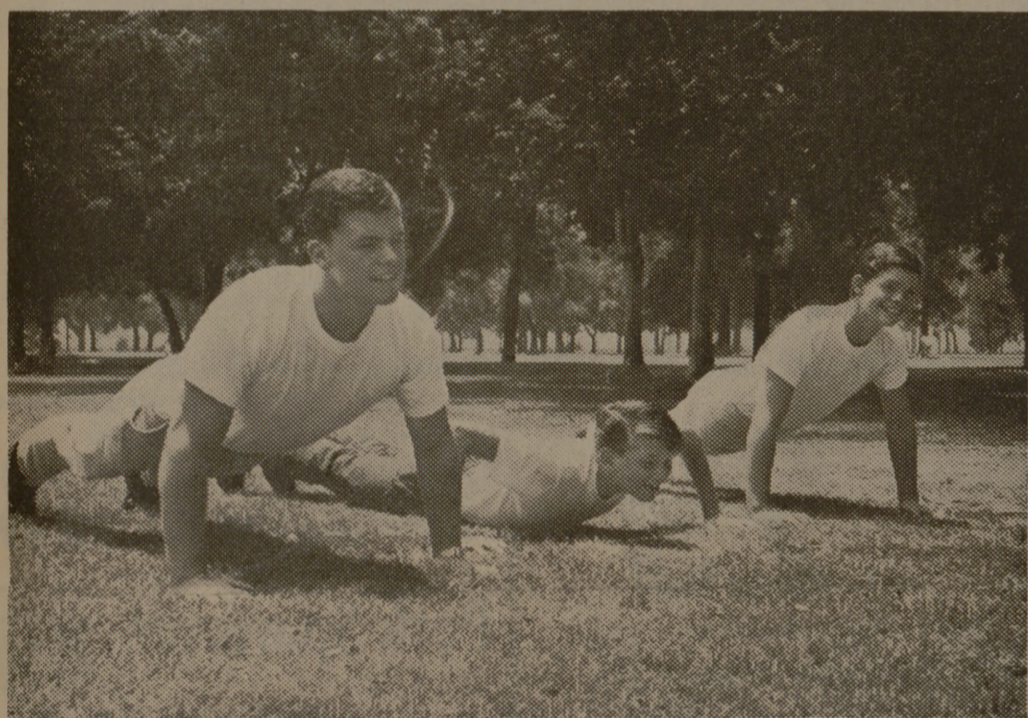

"This training of driver education teaching assistants," Hawkins pointed out, "is an effort to make driver education available to all eligible students and meet the anticipated increased demand for instructors."

Teaching assistants must be at least 21 years old, high school graduates, have a three-year driving record free of Department of Public Safety corrective action and be recommended by a school superintendent or other administrative officer.

In addition to using the auto simulators, the course for assistants includes an introduction to teaching, multi-car driving range training, practice teaching and observation in on-street driving.

Hawkins said 55 of the 97 participants are candidates for teaching assistant permits. The remaining 45 are certificated supervising teachers.

The Church..For a Fuller Life..For You..

of heroes

It's pretty exhausting to have two big brothers that excel in everything!

Of course, there are advantages. Like the time a bully beat me up—my brothers followed me to school for two weeks. They wouldn't have fought him, but he didn't know that. Every night they worked out with me. Finally, I took him on and won.

My brothers are first-rate in everything—studies and athletics. There's nothing wishy-washy about them—if they don't think something's right, they say so. When there was a "walk-out" at school, they squashed it, practically single-handed.

Because our parents have always taken us to church and taught us God's way, my brothers are strong-principled and good. I aim to be like them.

Your church is a training ground for integrity!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
