San Francisco State College Closes As Violence Flares

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Classes have been suspended for an indefinite period for San Francisco State College's 18,000 students after a week of sporadic vandalism and violence stemming from a black student union strike.

President Robert R. Smith ordered the suspension Wednesday night "until we can open and operate in a more rational manner."

SMITH ACTED after about 30 members of the police Tactical Squad were summoned to the campus twice within half an hour. They were met with rocks and cans and surrounded by groups of shouting demonstrators, both Negro and white.

In the resulting melee, eight persons were arrested—seven of them charged with felonious assault on an officer and one with assault and battery. There were no reports of serious injuries.

Smith said he felt the Wednesday disturbances showed "we are moving further and further toward physical confrontation between people and this has demonstrated that a minority can close a campus and that we can't keep it open with the assistance of police."

A small group of faculty members supporting the strike interceded between police and the demonstrators Wednesday to restore relative calm.

Contribution Deadline Nears In Campus Chest Competition

By DAVID MIDDLEBROOKE
Battalion Staff Writer

The Campus Chest Sweetheart contest is drawing to a close, announced David Howard, Student Senate Welfare Committee chairman. Friday will mark the end of the competition.

"Money that outfits or dorms wish to credit towards their contest totals must be turned in by 4 p.m. Friday," Howard said. "Money will be accepted for another week, until Nov. 22, but it will not be used to determine the Campus Chest Sweetheart."

"THE GIRL WHOSE sponsoring corps unit or dorm has the highest percentage of returns this Friday will become Campus Chest Sweetheart. She and her escort will have reserved seats on the front row of the middle section for the Sam and Dave show at Town Hall," Howard noted.

Money collected is put into a fund controlled by the Student Senate Welfare Committee. They use it to help Aggies who, through some accident or other circumstance, are faced with burdening expenses. It also helps some to stay in school when they might not be able to otherwise.

THIS FUND, Howard noted, also supports the orphan, Carla Remer, adopted by the student body.

Company F-1 is currently in first place, with 113% of their goal reached. Company G-1 is second with 100%, and squadron 9 is third with 95%.

Money for the drive may be turned in at either the Student

Finance office or the Alpha Phi Omega office, both in the Memorial Student Center. The last football game collection will be made this Saturday at the Rice game.

"TO ME, THIS is one of the most worthwhile projects that can be undertaken on this campus," said Carter. "I think David Howard has really put in a lot of work on this project, and really deserves a great deal of credit. I can't thank him enough for all he has done."

"The Campus Chest can benefit everyone here at A&M," said Wilks, "and I strongly urge everyone to help make this project a success."

ELAINE HANOVER

Bryan Girl Named '68 Football Queen

Elaine Hanover, a sophomore English major from Bryan, was crowned the first Texas A&M Campus Football Queen in ceremonies Wednesday night in the Assembly Room of the Memorial Student Center.

The blonde—blue-eyed miss was selected for her beauty, personality, school spirit and knowledge of football by a team of judges headed by Bill Carter, Student Senate president.

Miss Hanover was one of seven finalists selected from a field of 29 entrants. Other finalists were Sissy Shamel, Candy Yager, Nancy Rowe, Phyllis Dittfurth, Cathy Alford and Jeannie Mah.

She will represent the school at the A&M-University of Texas game Nov. 28 in Austin where the Southwestern Conference Queen will be selected from nominees from all the SWC schools. The conference division winners will then compete on the national level for the NCAA "College Football Centennial Queen."

The purpose of the Centennial Queen contest is to draw attention to the Centennial year of football, according to Carter.

Chosen from the 11 conference winners, the national queen will win a $1000 scholarship to the college of her choice and the runner-up will receive a $500 scholarship.

Miss Hanover is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Hanover, 305 Willow St.

Judges for the contest were Carter, David Wilks, President of the Civilian Student Council; Hector Gutierrez, Corps Commander; Bennie Sims, president of the MSC Council and Director; and Bill Youngkin, senior head yell leader.

Stallings Dispels 'Shakeup' Rumors

Four reserve football players have been moved from Henderson Hall to Dorm 15 for housekeeping violations.

The players were identified as freshman Mark Fulton, junior Wayne King, sophomore Lenard Millsap and sophomore Mike Tighe.

Head Football Coach Gene Stallings dismissed the episode as simply a disciplinary matter resulting from a violation of rules.

"When I checked some of the rooms, I found them not as clean, neat and well-kept as we expect them to be," Stallings explained. "It's not a matter of being mad," he added. "They (the four players) just violated some of the rules."

"Henderson Hall and Dorm 15 are both athletic dormitories and we move the boys between the two places quite frequently," the coach continued.

Concerning the departure of Bill Gilliam from the team, Stallings said Gilliam, a sophomore, made the decision to quit.

"This all has nothing whatsoever to do with our won-lost record or the fact that we've been beat a few times," Stallings emphasized.

Teague, AF Reserve Chief To Review Corps March-In

Cong. Olin E. Teague of College Station and Air Force Maj. Gen. Tom E. Marchbanks, both Texas Aggies, will be honored guests Saturday at the Cadet Corps march-in to the A&M-Rice football game.

The Kyle Field Corps parade begins at 12:20 p.m., announced Army Col. Jim H. McCoy, commandant. Kickoff of the Aggies' final home game of 1968 will be at 1:30 p.m.

With Teague and Gen. Marchbanks, chief of Air Force Reserve, on the reviewing stand will be President Earl Rudder, McCoy and Air Force Col. Vernon L. Head, professor of aerospace studies.

Cong. Teague is scheduled to be at A&M for an Association of Former Students meeting.

The 1932 graduate commanded Company "G" Infantry in the Corps and was a Ross Volunteer. An infantry battalion commander in World War II, he was elected to the 79th Congress after discharge as a colonel.

Cong. Teague chairs the U. S. House of Representatives Subcommittee on Manned Space Flight and is ranking majority member of the Committee on Science and Astronautics. He also chairs the Committee on Veterans Affairs and the Subcommittee on Legislative Oversight.

Gen. Marchbanks received his second star last February after presidential nomination as the first chief of Air Force Reserve. The San Benito native attended A&M from 1939 to 1942, leaving at the outbreak of World War II to enter pilot training at Lackland AFB.

He was commissioned in 1943 and subsequently had commands in the U. S., England and Korea. In the early 1960s, he commanded the 433rd Troop Carrier Wing at Kelly AFB.

While with the Eighth Air Force's 601st Bomb Squadron in England during WW II, Marchbanks compiled 252 combat hours on 35 B-17 missions. During the Korean conflict, the general flew 100 combat missions as an RF-80 and RF-51 pilot.

As operations officer at the Randolph AFB instructor's school in the mid-1940s, the 46-year-old officer developed and published a landing planning system currently in use by the Air Force.

Among the Arlington, Va., resident's numerous decorations are the Legion of Merit and Distinguished Flying Cross.

Computerized Registration Begins:

What's Your Opinion?

DONALD BRADDOCK
Tulia senior

I think automated registration will prove a workable system if the working students can get the schedules they want without any conflict.

CRAIG BRADLEY
Baytown freshman

I'm for the old way, but that is based only on what I've heard and the way the new system has treated me.

DAVID H. SPARKMAN
Beeville senior

Registration in Sbis was satisfactory as for getting courses was concerned. I had very little trouble there.

JAMES A. BROWN
La Grange junior

The new method is 100 per cent better. I can at least get the courses I wish to take even though not at the desired period.

T. H. MORRIS
LaVernia junior

I feel that if the majority benefit, the new system will be a good thing. I believe I will benefit.

EDWARD L. ZWEIFEL
Bryan junior

The computerized system is different from the old way and we can only hope for the best. It takes much less time.

KENNETH FORSWALL
Georgetown sophomore

I think that the administration should improve the auto-registration system to enable the student to pick the time and professor desired.
