Curl Gets Award In News Contest

Tom Curl of San Juan, junior agricultural journalism student here won honorable mention in the first monthly contest of the William Randolph Hearst Foundation's ninth annual national journalism awards program.

Curl, staff writer for The Battalion, won the contest judges' praise for coverage of an Oct. 24 Student Senate meeting in which university officials explained the proposed automated registration system.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Curl attended Pan American College at Edinburg before transferring to Texas A&M.

BONFIRE

after 11 p.m., Segner said, pickup trucks were sent out to bring in second, third, and fourth stack logs. The pickups will be used in addition to the trucks already in use.

"If the pickups and large trucks can keep the loading crews busy all night," Segner noted, "they'll be out there."

The final total for the fund to purchase the hunters' lease on the cutting area is $1,098.67, according to Jo Scanlin, assistant building cashier at the Memorial Student Center. She noted that some of the surplus money, that amount over $800, would be used for extra Bonfire expenses. Any left over will be given to Campus Chest.

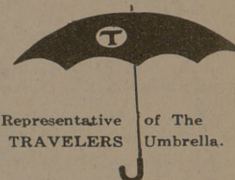

Segner explained that some of the extra money was required for maintenance costs.

"Already on one truck," he said, "we've had to install a new clutch and alternator, and we've had to weld the frame back together."

The communications end of Bonfire has been handled this year by the Memorial Student Center Radio Committee, as usual. Members have manned radios in the cutting and stacking areas, in addition to station W5AC, located in the MSC. Citizens' Band operators have also been helping with communications within the cutting area.

"All in all," he concluded, "we're real pleased with the way things are shaping up. We are especially pleased with the low injury rate this year. Everyone is really putting out and everyone is being careful. This should be a great Bonfire."

2-Way Stop Sign Added To Ross-Ireland Corner

Aggies did a double-take Monday morning at the corner of Ross and Ireland "during peak traffic periods" at 8 a.m., noon, 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. to help ease traffic congestion.

He noted, too, the erection of the stop sign will help ease a "little speed problem" which has prevailed along Ross since the street had been "wide open from Spence to North Gate."

Riflemen Beat TU

Texas A&M defeated Texas twice last weekend, the Aggie rifle team adding a victory to the fish football team's 14-13 Friday win.

Aggie riflemen maintained second place in the Southwest Rifle Association by outshooting the University of Texas at Austin 1,310 to 1,258.

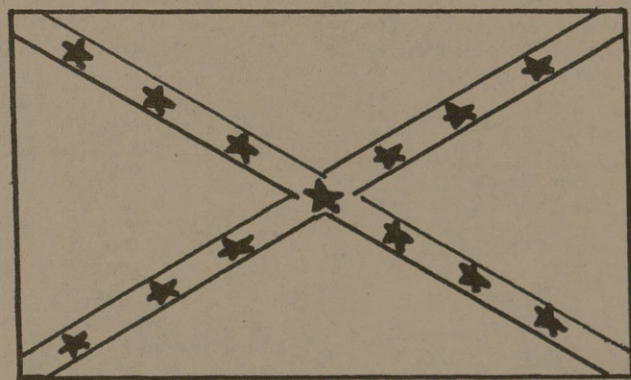

Team captain Chris West of San Antonio fired 278 and Bill Hundley of San Antonio scored 269 out of 300 possible. Pat Bailey of Trona, Calif., and Wayne Jordan of New Boston each shot 257 and Tom Mayes of Fort Worth scored 249.

Maddox observed "more and more people" are using Ireland because it permits faster exit from the campus, and create more pressure on the Ross and Ireland intersection.

"It's going to take time for people to get use to it," added Maddox.
