

SFA Advances Two Notches In AP Small-College Poll

By The Associated Press
Fairmont of West Virginia, with an assist from Evansville's Purple Aces, closed to within 11 points of leading Kentucky Wesleyan in the Associated Press' small-college basketball poll Wednesday.

The Panthers from Owensboro, Ky., lost their first game of the season, 71-70, to Evansville, last week while Fairmont maintained its perfect slate by edging Morris Harvey 100-99.

As a result, Kentucky Wesleyan's margin was cut to 234-223 in points in the balloting by a national panel of 16 sports writers and broadcasters based on games through last Saturday. A week ago, the Panthers led Turnerup Fairmont by 66 points.

In other changes, Stephen F. Austin and Trinity, Tex., switched positions. Stephen F. Austin climbed to third and Trinity dropped to fifth. Ashland of Ohio remained in fourth place.

Southwestern Louisiana moved up one position to sixth. Central State of Ohio slipped one notch to seventh. Evansville is the only new team in the Top Ten. The Aces soared from 15th to eighth, taking over a position shared last week by Youngstown State and Gannon. Youngstown tumbled to 14th after losing to Kenyon. Gannon slipped two notches to 10th while Long Beach State advanced from 10th to ninth.

Illinois State, which shared No. 19 spot with Cheyenne State, is the only new team in the Second Ten. Howard which was tied for 16th last week dropped out of the ranking.
