

Maynard To Be Full Speed For East-West Tilt Sunday

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The pulled leg muscle which made Don Maynard more of a decoy than a pass receiver in the Super Bowl game curtailed his practice Wednesday for the American Football League All-Star Game. Maynard expects to be at full speed, or nearly so, by Sunday.

But to avoid the danger of injury he ran only a few patterns when he and 10 other members of the world champion New York Jets joined the East squad for practice. It was a somewhat ragged practice session as the stars from five teams worked to become accustomed to each other.

Quarterback Joe Namath and his pass receivers couldn't connect with regularity. Handoffs, and even center snaps, were muffed.

But Coach Wally Lemm of the Houston Oilers wasn't worried. "We will put it together by Friday," he predicted. Both Lemm and West Coach

Hank Stram of Kansas City taking the game seriously. continued to work his squad a day.
