

Dominican Ags Set Events For Anniversary

Dominican Republic students here will celebrate their country's 125th independence anniversary this week with dances, movies, displays and receptions.

Dominican Club President Domingo Martes said the displays will include typical music instruments, art work, coins and pictorial scenes of that Caribbean island. Exhibits will be displayed in the glass cases in the Memorial Student Center lobby.

Movies of Dominican landscapes and talks on the history and culture of this country will be held during a reception Feb. 27 in the MSC, he said.

A&M Dominican & Mexican Clubs will hold a dance at 8 p.m., Feb. 28 in the Ramada Inn. Latin American music will be played and tickets are $5 per couple, the president said.

A&M Department To Host National Vet Medicine Meet

Texas A&M will host the fourth Symposium on Veterinary Medical Education next month, a time when educators will present their views on graduate veterinary education in the U. S.

With veterinary medicine no longer restricted to "doctoring" farm animals, but rather a profession which has grown into many facets to meet man's needs, the symposium will be strictly academic.

The first symposium in 1964 was held at Michigan State University where curriculums and teaching techniques were discussed. Clinical education was debated in the second symposium at the University of Georgia a year later.

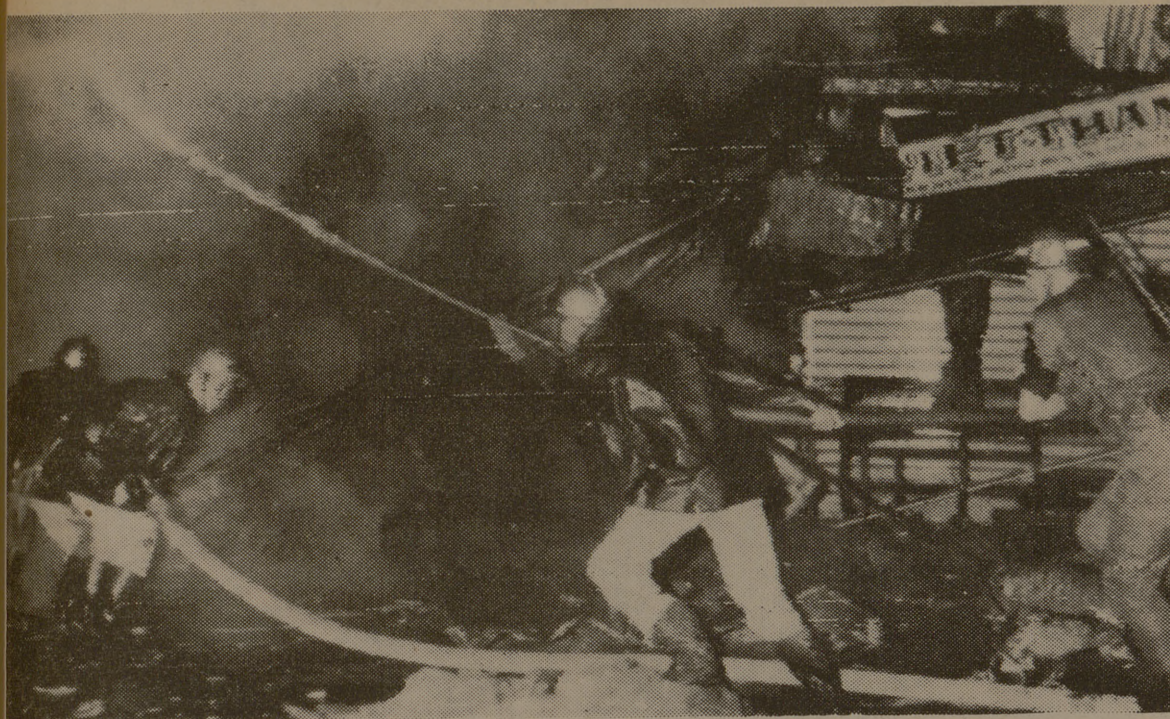

In 1966, the meeting returned to Michigan State where educators looked at pre-professional veterinary education.

GAINING IN stature, this year's symposium is cooperatively sponsored by nine veterinary organizations. They include the Association of American Veterinary Medical Colleges, AVMA Council on Education, AVMA Council on Research, the American Board of Veterinary Public Health, the American Board of Veterinary Radiology, the American Board of Veterinary Toxicology, The American College of Laboratory Animal Medicine, the American College of Veterinary Microbiologists, and the American College of Veterinary Surgeons.

Sessions are set in the Memorial Student Center March 24-25. Registration opens at 8:30 a.m., said coordinator Dr. William W. Bay.

KEYNOTER for the two-day meeting is Dr. Hilliard Jason, director, Office of Medical Education, Research and Development, College of Human Medicine, Michigan State University. Other major speakers and their topics are Dr. Vincent E. Price, National Institute of Health, Bethesda, Md., "Extrapolations from Medical Education to Veterinary Medical Education;" Dr. Ivan L. Bennett, Science and Technology, Executive Office of the President, Washington, D. C., "Postdoctoral Medical Education in the Future," and Dr. George Christensen, Vice President for Academic Affairs, Iowa State University, "The Future of Postdoctoral Education in Veterinary Medical Education."
